There really appears to be a considerable probability of an extra session in March "to revise the tariff," so it is given out, but in all human probability it will, if ever called, end in splitting the G. Babcock of Wislenging him in the most public manner consin gives it out that there will be -i. e., by sending his challenge to the an extra session, and it is hinted that newspapers for publication? Kansas Election Laws.

I have been out in Kansas recently on a lecture tour, and the state of things political out there positively beggars description. The Republicans are always yawping a great yawp-to borrow an expression from Walt Whitman-about the great villainy and incurable inhumanity of Democrats down south disfranchising the negroes. Nevertheless right in Bleeding Kansas, where old John Brown's soul still goes marching on, they have a ballot law that is a greater outrage and swindle than any perpetrated by Democrats, southern or northern, eastern or western, since the world began, Without that law the Kansas delegation in the next house would have been entirely Verily, verily, very much depends on whose ox is gored!

The Prize Ass.

It can be said with absolute cer-Ky., still lives-Peter Arlund, whose own story, is "a soldier lieutenant mawhen it comes to idiocy Mr. "Soldier Lieutenant Marine Officer In the Danish Army of Denmark" Arlund's leads all the rest, as did that of Abou Ben Adhem's on a certain celebrated occasion.

Mr. Arlund assaulted the ex-tobacco magnate, Moses C. Wetmore, Esq., sometimes called "colonel" and familiarly addressed by ex-Governor Stone as "Mose," which familiarity has probably been worth a quarter million dollars to Stone. The fell deed was done in the lobby of the Planters' House, St. Louis, where Mose stops permanently and where Arlund was stopping temporarily. Mr. Wetmore, Stone's beloved and profitable Mose, was not much hurt by the impact with Arlund's first, just a few abrasions of the skin of his face about the size of the Star plug which Mose for years sold to the public and then sold to the trust at a large profit. Wetmore's buge bulk saved him. Like the unfortunate Front de Bœff, of whom good Sir Walter tells us in "Ivanhoe," and like the fortunate boiler maker, James J. Jeffries, of whom all current penny a liners like to write. Mose is a man of vast proportions, a tremendous tabernacle of flesh and blood and bones.

The reason why the Louisville prize idiot swatted Mose was the alleged fact that Mose had insulted an alleged Mrs. Arlund, the alleged wife of the said Peter, "the soldier marine officer of the Danish army of Denmark." By the way, where the deuce is there a Danish army except in Denmark? And there is not much of a one even there, where Hamlet once cut such fantastic capers before high heaven and sundry other witnesses. And Mose, the well beloved of Stone and who is supposed to be Stone's "angel" in the senatorial fight, would not apologize for the "alleged insult" to "the mleged wife" of Peter Arlund, "a soldier marine officer in the Danish army of Denmark."

Now, it appears that the real Mrs. Arlund, the genuine article, was in Louisville, Ky., sleeping the sleep of the just, about the hour-or, to be more exact, the minute-when her beloved spouse, Peter, was disfiguring Governor Stone's Mose.

But all the foregoing, as gleaned from the public prints, does not ex- cash. plain why Arlund is the prize ass of Glorious Missouri. this age. Here is the explanation: Wetmore rushed into print and with his pen skinned Arlund as badly as Arlund had skinned Mose in the flesh, whereupon Arlund, "a soldier marine in the Danish army of Denmark," sent | racy and of good government. Now, the mystery of the whole performance is this: Why does this Arlund, who lives in a city where he can kill a man every morning before breakfast without any great danger of doing time in the hemp mills at Frankfort, sometimes called the Kentucky penitentiary, deliberately choose a striped suit by challenging Moses C. Wetmore in his own habitat, by bearding the lion in his den, the Douglas in his hall, and by chal-

or stab somebody, why doesn't he sally forth from his castle or flat-whichever he inhabits and remark that he is out for gore? He would not have to remark it more than once or above his breath. He would not have to waste half as many words as did Marmion in the celebrated adios to the owner of Tantalon's towers. He wouldn't have to shake his gauntlet at Colonel Henri Watterson more than once before the colonel would send a bullet whistling about his capacious ears, and if he said "dare" to General John B. Castleman he could not live, breathe, move and have his being more than ten seconds in the county of Jefferson and state of Kentucky. Suppose this vainglorious ldiot of an Arlund should signify to General Basil Duke that he would like to do a little bloody business with him, General John H. Morgan's old lieutenant would accommodate him "in the twinkling of an eye," as St. Paul fusion instead of entirely Republican. tail, as the average Kentuckian would say. It may be safely asserted that He is a brother of "Big Zay," who served with Sue Monday and died with Quantrell at Shelbyville. Then there's Wick Petly and hundreds of others who would respond to Arlund's call for gore instanter et sans ceremonie. There is no necessity for Arlund, who is thirsting for blood, to spend time and money by going to St. Louis to chase down Moses C. Wetmore. Oh, no! He can't stand on a street corner in Louisville and "whistle for a grizzly" without seeing a grizzly waddling down the street, and the chances are 100 to 1 that if Wetmore should get out his "Yanger" and bld defiance to Arlund the latter would begin running and never stop till he had crossed the

If you fool with me, I will cowhide you within an inch of your life or cut your throat!" That would settle Arlund. The strangest thing about this whole mysterious and preposterous business is that, as be alleges, Moses C. Wetmore is an American army officer and colonel of a certain regiment. Will Mr. Arlund inform an expectant world as to what regiment Mose is colonel of? He probably would pay $50,000 to be colonel of any old regiment in a time of peace, stationed not too far from the Planters' House, and wouldn't have it at any price in a time of war. No, no, Arlund; Mose is only a paper colonel such as abound in Missouri, Whether Governor W. J. S. promoted Mose to that rank I do not know. If he did, it cost the governor nothing and was a great boon to Mose.

The career of Colonel Moses in politics has largely increased his stock of experience and diminished his stock of

Out in Colorado candidates for the United States senate are springing up as multitudinously as toadstools in a damp cellar, and they are about as valuable citizens. Of course most of them are rich. One of the peculiarities of Colorado polítics is that generally the Centennial State sends rich men to the senate and poor men to the house. It goes without saying that if the Democrats carry the legislature Henry M. Teller ought to be returned to the senate, and if the Republicans control it they ought to send Wolcott back. He has brains and eloquence at least.

In Kansas Governor Stanley is contesting the senatorship with Congressmen Long and Curtis, while several "dark hosses," including Governor Elect Balley, are champing on their bits and pawing up the ground. Colonel Marsh Murdock says editorially in the Wichita Post that Governor Bailey is too good and pure to violate his con- cash. tract with the dear people to serve as governor two years. Evidently Colonel Marsh's memory is playing him procuring their election during their terms in the gubernatorial mansion. There may be others whose cases will occur to Colonel Murdock. It is dollars to doughnuts that Governor Balley will turn up in the legislature with as much real strength as Stanley. Curtis or Long, perhaps with more, and may be the beneficiary of a bitter three cornered fight.

To Divide New York

While sizzling hot over the result of the recent election in New York Hugh McLaughlin, Democratic boss of Kings county, proposed to divide New York. It won't work, Hugh. It won't work. McLaughlin insists that he is in thorough earnest in suggesting that New York be divided into two states. 'Why not?" says he. "There's money enough and land enough for four, but two will do. The farmers of New York demand the right to govern the state, while the people of New York city pay the taxes. If we split the state in two every one would be satisfied. Let one of them be established above Albany, and the other below it. Ench commonwealth could then govern thself according to its own ideas."

It won't do, Hugh. It will not do. The fathers may have done wrong to compromise on the theory of representation in house and senate; but they did compromise, and their compromise will stand, never fear. Without it there would have been no constitution and no Union.
