LOUISBURG, N. C., FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 1903.

T the end of the year the prudent man of business "takes stock" in order to ascertain "where he is at," to borrow a phrase nade famous on a memorable occasion by a statesman now out of a job. Let us follow the example.

The results of the Nove prove that the trend is toward De racy. That we did not win the house is true, but we cut down the Republic an majority by one-third.

Except for the action of one man-President Roosevelt in the matter of the anthracite coal strike - we would have captured the house and carried New York. Even as it is, a great many persons believe that we did carry New York, for the party which stole the presidency from Tilden is not above stealing the governorship from Coler. The revolution in Rhode Island and the reduced Republican majorities generally in the eastern states show that Republicanism is on the down grade.
Since the confusion of tongues on the plain of Suinar, at the foot of the unfinished tower of Babel, there never fell from human lips a more preposterous

Grosvenor in the house on Dec. 17 in these words: "When the election was over, there was nothing left of the Demceratic party."

After winning a great fight in which his losses were frightful, reviewing the field of slaughter, Pyrrhus, sing of Epirus, mountully exclaimed, "If we have such another victory, we are undone?" I commend those words of wisdom to my venerable, vitriolic and statement than that made by General jubilant friend from Ohio. publicans are more pronounced than those among Democrats. The Republican factions are getting wider apart, while the Democratic sections are draw-

The war between the whole hog tariff Republicans and the tariff reform Republicans is an irrepressible conflict. The hope of securing eligible places at the pie counter may postpone the inevitable struggle from this session to the next, but then it will break out with redoubled fury.

If tariff revision downward prevails the tariff barons will be disgruntled and will refuse to contribute the sines publicans never did win-can never hope to win. On the other hand, if tariff revision downward is refused Republican tariff reformers will desert the G. O. P. in shouls, join hands with the Democrats and overthrow thos who believe in "standing pat" and in "letting well enough alone," theories which every unconvicted criminal in

On the tariff with Republicans it is a case of Scylla and Charybdis-the devil and the deep sea-"damned Republicans have grave cause for ap rehension, Democrats good reason for

The Democrats will reaffirm all the essential features of the Chicago and Kansas City platforms, plant them-selves firmly on the time honored and neficent Democratic principle of 'equal rights to all; special privileges to none," more necessary now than ever before, and wage the battle main ly on the triple propositions to destroy the trusts, to reduce the tariff rates to a reasonable basis and to curtail public expenses to the needs of the govern-ment economically administered. Upon that platform all Democrats platforms of 1886 and 1896 on the money question, but who loyally supported the party's candidate for president. Such a man is Senator Corman of Maryland or fudge Parker of New York. The platform should make revision of the tariff and the suppression of trusts its paramount issues. I do not mean that it should declare war indiscriminately on all combinations of capital, but it should advocate the correction of evils that have would do well to take to heart.

when the short session of congress began to all appearances President Hoosevelt had clear salling for the Republican presidential nomination. But things have changed somewhat, and not to his advantage. Nevertheless, he is many lang cheed of all competitions. many laps sheed of all competitors. But the way in which the name of Senator Marcus A. Hanna bobs up continuafly in that connection must be un-pleasant reading in White Hodse cir-cles. The latest contributor to the Hanna literature is Hon. James J. Hill,

Hanna literature is Hon. James J. Hill, the puissant railroad magnate. The Washington Times is responsible for the following goscip:

When James J. Hill was in the city recently, he hunted up Senator Hanna and asked him to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency. The railway magnate said that the Ohio senator could rest assured that he would have the hearty support of the airong business interests of the country and that it would be powerful enough to make him win. The senator gave the reply to Mr. Hill which he has given dozens of othersthat is, that he did not want the job and would not have it if he could get it.

That is most certainly important. If it would be powerful enough to make him win. The senator gave the reply to Mr. Hill which he has given dozens of otheratinatis, that he did not want the job and would not have it if he could get it.

That is most certainly important, if true, for Mr. Hill is a man of vast in fluence himself, and he trains with a coterie of men who are powerful in deed, and if he had the foregoing conversation he was most probably not speaking for himself alone, but also for aking for himself alone, but also for all those who have interests in common with him. If he did speak for them, there is more importunes to be stated. there is more importance to be attached and act upon it is one of the myster to what he said than to any other po-litical action this year except what the

They had sounded every shoal and depth of honor and increasive position to with he aspersal increasive position to be approximately position to be approxi ed every shoal and depth of houor and were weary of the world, and it will be noted that neither Diocletian nor Charles declined crowns in the first inday, perhaps in the ages yet to be, some president will immortalize himself by

Upon that platform we will place a genuinc Democrat of high character and approved capacity as our candidate with an equal chance of success.

Leading Democrate and protesting their leading democrate and success. Unless all signs fail, our Reand approved capacity as our candidate with an equal chance of success.

Leading Democrats are already beginning to express opinions as to what manner of man shall be the candidate and some go so far as to specify the man.

In an elaborate interview Congressman Charles Fremont Cochran of Missouri, one of the best informed men in Ala., proposing to take them at their and means, expresses us ideas dacy the latter would never be complaint of the house of representatives. Mr.

Democratic party in 1904 should late for president a man who was a harmony with the Democratic rms of 1896 and 1900 on the manay and arrows to preside the situation. The Republican theory is that the colored man and brother is that the colored man and brother is that the colored man and brother is the situation.

souri or Tennessee-und they haven't much of a show as it is. Consequently the negro holds the whip hand in the Republican perty, if he chooses to use Republican perty, if he chooses to use it. United and aggressive, they can compel the Republicans to make a fair division of the loaves and flahes, both north and south. Indeed, if they are courageous and persistent they can gobble the floats share, for without them the Republicans would soon be compelled to go out of business. A thorough organization among the negroes would force one of their rare on the next Republican presidential ticket as the vice presidential candidate, and in the event of specess would lared at strike.

If Senator Hanna said that he did not want the job and wouldn't have it if he could get it, he spoke perhaps candidly, but unadvisedly. He had not carefully examined his own mind and heart, for it may be asserted without the fear of successful contradiction that there is not a citizen of the republic who would not accept that particular job if he could get it.
