A Potpourri o. Political and Personal Pointers

[Special Washington Letter.] dit that great pressure is being brought to bear on Republican Indiana congressmen to take the stump in behalf of the Republican nominee for mayor of Indianapolis and that they are showing great resistance to the pressure, not one of them being willing to follow the lead of a political corpse.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat and the Washington Post are engaged in a queer gabfest. The G.-D. vociferates that the Republicans did it, while the Post solemnly asseverates that Grover Cleveland did it and adds that the G.-D. and all other Republicans are a lot of ingrates in not ascribing the glory to G. C., in which contest a Democrat takes about as much interest as did the impartial old woman in the fight betwixt her husband and the bear.

Judge William H. Taft resigns the governor generalship of the Philippines on physicians' orders, yet we have been repeatedly assured that the archipelago is a veritable paradise-really a splendid health resort.

Governor Beckham of Kentucky talks like a man who has no skeletons in his political closet. He hurls defiance at the Republicans. In his initial speech

We have nothing to conceal; we invite a full and fair investigation of our record, and we gladly go before the people upon that record, believing implicitly in the sincerity of our purpose and in the right-sousness of our cause. The Pennsylvania Democrats in their state platform eschew national politics altogether and devote their utterances entirely to local issues. The piece de resistance is the outrageous and idiotic Pennypacker libel law. Eastern papers are predicting that the Democrats will sweep the state.

It is given out that Senator Matthew Stanley Quay will close his public career at the end of his present senatorial term and voluntarily retire to private life. That is a good story to tell for the edification of the marines. Matthew Stanley will retire when the coffin lid is screwed down good and tight over his mortal part, and not till then. The political boss may die or be bounced. but he never voluntarily retires. It is given out flat that hereafter

President Roosevelt will insist on fitness in consuls. As nearly all the consuls now in office were appointed by President McKipley or himself, the new pronunciamento is rather tough on Republican consuls. The best way to Improve the service is to turn them out and appoint Democrats in their place. The San Francisco Chronicle advocates a high protective tariff because it brings a large revenue into the treasury! A large customs revenue means a large importation of foreign articles, which is the very thing which we have been told for a century that a high protective tariff is intended to prevent.

Evidently the Chronicle, as a stand patter, has got its lines mixed. Another Republican vice presidential Richmond in the field! This time it is William H. Hunt of Montana, now governor of Porto Rico. Perhaps "Cheap Wheat John" L. Webster of Omaha will consider Hunt's candidacy as a trespass on his preserves. Hon. "Gas" Addicks could bully the men of Delaware successfully and with impunity, but when his understudy. Senator Allee, had a female postmistress fired she set the state ablaze with indignation.

The latest political roorback is to the effect that Secretary of the Navy Moody is to resign and Governor Crane, also of Massachusetts, is to be appoint-ed in his stead. Moody will not resign. Republicans hardly ever do.

Since Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles made his famous ninety mile dash in nine hours in Oklahoma nothing quite so strenuous has happened among those under the limelight as Gubernatorial Candidate Belknap of Kentucky in his great act of pumping a hand car. Really President Roosevelt had better look to his laurels or he will no longer head the procession of physical cult. All good citizens, without regard to race, color or previous condition and without reference to political affiliations, will heartily indorse President Roosevelt's practice and theory in refusing to accept any gift of considerable financial value. A president of the United States should be as Cæsar demanded his wife should be-above

Governor Alexander Monroe Dockery, who was once pronounced "the nost pulchritudinous member of the Missouri delegation in congress," is evidently fixing to snuggle up to the eastern Democrats, as he has removed his badge of Populism-his whiskers.

Pennsylvanians For Judge Gray. While it is not at all probable that Pennsylvania Democrats will be permitted to name a Democratic candidate for the presidency it may be of interest to note their actions looking toward that result. A press dispatch from Scranton, a center of the anthracite coal industry, runs as follows:

The Democrate of Lackawanna county, in convention here today, indorsed George Gray of Wilmington, Del., for president of the United States. The following resciution was adopted:

We the Democrate of Lackawanna We, the Democrats of Lackswanna dounty, in convention assembled, recognise with pleasure the masterly ability, sound judgment, strong sympathy with the masses and broad statesmanship of the Hon. Judge George Gray of Delaware, and we earnestly commend him to the next Democratic convention as a candi-date for president of the United States."

Judge Gray is a member of the United States circuit court, Third circuit, and was the chairman of the anthracite strike commission whose award settled the difficulties in the coal fields. He also sat an chairman of the arbitration board for the Birmingham (Ala.) soft coal fields. The Unspeakable Turk.

One thing the Christian powers of the world owe it to themselves and to humanity and civilization to do is to expel the unspeakable Turk from Europe. West of the Bosporus he is an anachronism. The Russians were in sight of the minarets of St. Sophia in 1877 when England intervened and said, "No farther shalt thou go." It's a great pity that England was not made to keep her hands off and let Russia have her way. Recently a Russian consul was murdered by Turks. More recently an attempt was made by them to assassinate an American consul. The United States should join Russia in an appeal to the other civilized nations of the earth to drive the Turks back to Asia, where they belong. They are a blot on the face of Europe. Their butchery of men, women and children indiscriminately in Macedonia causes the gorge of every decent man in America to rise. If Napoleon and Caar Alexander could have agreed on their Tilsit raft as to which should have Constantinople the Turks would have been expelled from Europe a century Great pity that they could not ago. agree. The Turk must go!

Most of the troubles with our fiscal and currency systems have the same cause-Bills are already preparing for introduction at the extra session of congress providing a way in which the banks can get a regular and larger share of the govern ment's surplus revenue-of course with-But why should there be a surplus revenue of $50,000,000 a year? Is there any better place for all the money not needed by the government than in the pockets of the men who earned it? Again, we hear of the movement to pass a service pension bill which would wipe out the surplus at one fell swoop. If not spent in pensions the excessive rev certain to be a temptation to grafters and grabbers of some other kind An "overflowing treasury" is a perpetual incitement to extravagance. Would any of the surplus lending or surplus spending schemes now in contemplation have the ghost of a chance if money to pay for them had to be raised by new taxes? Still again, our tariff protected mor lies, though the stocks of some of them have been badly squessed in Wall street, still working on full time to supply the home market with goods at from 10 50 per cent above their prices in foreign countries. It is the maintenance of these high duties which "shelter monopoly" that produces the redundant revenue, causing currency lockups and putting premium on congressional extravagance.

Rooted evils require radical remedies.
The first duty of congress is to reduce the taxes and return to a rigid economy in public expenditures. "Unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation," and unjust taxation is robbery. "Cheap Wheat John." If the Nebraska Republicana persist in pressing the "claims" of Hon. John L. Webster for the Republican nomination for vice president and should succeed in their endeavors they will furnish the Republicans with a heavy load to carry, for Hon. John L's sobriquet in Nebraska is "Cheap Wheat John," which would undoubtedly cause the farmers to whoop it up for him-in a horn.

Indefinitely Postponed. That Republican supremacy in Missouri is indefinitely postponed is demonstrated by the following editorial paragraph from the Missouri State Republican, written by its brilliant editor,

E. C. Brockmeyer: If Missouri Republicans can find men of intelligence and integrity and pienty of backbone to lead them, factionalism will cease. Then, and not until then, will Missouri go Republican. Brockmeyer also lets in a flood of light upon the much vaunted Republican Harmony, with a big, big H. when he says:

A deserving Republican cannot be found in Missouri who did not belong to one or the other of the party factions. If he did not openly fight the party boodlers that represented the Kerens faction and thus strive to maintain the supremacy of the party's integrity, he has no claims for party honors. He has failed to render his party a service when most needed.

Et Tu, lowal The St. Louis Globe-Democrat sets up an ear splitting howl because, as it alleges, Major Vardeman, the newly nominated Democratic candidate for governor, favors the repeal of the four-teenth and afteenth amendments. Wou-der if the G.-D. ever heard of the Scriptural injunction about removing the beam from one's own eye before making objection to the mote in the optic of somebody else? Why does not the G.-D. jump on those Iowans up at Waterloo for ordering all the colored people to leave town? What is sauce for the southern goose ought to be sauce for the northern gander. Why should Iowa Republicans be permitted to abuse Sambo and order him to move on? The Globe-Democrat's denunciation of Vardeman and its dense edicounted for only on the great principle will outlive many of the youngsters. enunciated by Josh Billings that "the

"What particular section of the timber do you think is most favored with candidates?" the writer asked in an effort to get nearer Mr. Kerens' choice. "Why, now, don't you know there is not a countr in the state but what could pro-duce a man if called upon?" he replied. "You are simply paying a compliment, then, to the rank and file in general," suggested the reporter.

"They are all good men," said Mr. Kerena, "and there are plenty of others am for the Missouri man. Just put that in your new paper and emphasize it with the old fashioned accept on the tast syl-Sane Talk.

The Washington Post, independent, recently contained this paragraph; So long as the secretary of the treasury can, by the exercise of his discretionary power, operate as a gigantic bull or bear on the stock market the imperative need of currency legislation will be glaringly apparent. That is a power which no secmain in the hands of that official. When stocks go up or down with a rush fortunes are lost and won, and when these tragic movements are caused by word or act of the head of the treasury, no mater how upright and able a man he may be he is sure to rees the dal. It is certainly possible to so amend dal. It is certainly possible to so amend business of the country and the fortunes of citizens will not, at any time or under any conditions, be at the mercy of any one man. It is discreditable to American statesmanship that this reform is yet to be accomplished.

All of that is admirable except one clause, "That is a power which no seeretary desires," which is not consistent with human nature and is not borne out by human experience. Loss of power is second only to loss of fame. if it is second to that. But the Post is eminently correct in deciaring that such power should not remain in the hands of that official."

Those who believe that Republican legislation is so perfect that we are now living in the millennium would do well to ponder the following editorial paragraph from that same Washington Post, which, whatever else it may be, is not Democratic:

When one reflects on the immensity this nation's wealth, on the splendld so ments in debt paying, on its incomparable growth in manufactures and commerce and on many other facts that are flattering to our national pride, it is humiliating ober that instead of a stable financial system, we have a medley currency laws under which one man to get as the regulator of our inances, not in compliance with statutory

In a Democratic paper or in a Democratic speech that paragraph would be cause for prosecution for less majesty. but as the gold standard and the protective tariff have no warmer or more onsistent advocate than the Post probably Hon. Beriah Wilkins, editor and proprietor, will escape this time. But very much of that sort of talk will reader him persona non grata to the administration.

Clark Howell For Gorman. The following dispatch needs no disgram to explain it: Atlanta, Ga., Sept. &-Clark Howell, ed itor of the Constitution and Georgia men-ber of the national Democratic committee favors Senator Gorman of Maryland, the Democratic presidential membres

Homer sometimes nods. Ditto Harper's Weekly. That "Journal of civilization," as it styles itself, in a recent issue makes the queer mistake of referring to General Edmund Winston Pettus as "lately United States senator from Alabama." Why, bless my stars, General Pettus began a brand new term March 4, this year, at the youthful age of eighty-one. Long may be wave!
