finds it impossible to save.

There would be some satisfaction for the wage worker if he knew that the money thus wrung out of his pocket went into the purse of his fellow laborers throughout the country, but he knows that labor does not get the benefit. He might even be complacent if the proprietor of the corner grocery profited by the high prices, but he knows that the merchant is selling on the smallest margin of profit. With neither the producer nor the Senator Hoar has made a statement to the effect that a tariff revision should take place immediately after presidential election and not just beore it, in order that congress may be working under fresh instructions from the people. The senator is evidently losing the power of memory. Republican congresses are not in the habit of following the instructions of the President Roosevelt has referred to the finding of the anthracite commission as authority settling legal principles precisely as if it were the decision of a regular gourt of last resort. In this connection the Springfield Republican makes a rather neat point with reference to the removal of Miss Todd as postmaster in a Delaware town. By a slight modification it makes the finding of the strike commission reades follows:

people. In 1874 congress was instructed overwhelmingly to take the soldlers out of the south. In 1876 the people elected Tilden president, but congress counted in Hayes, who was not elected president any more than he was elected abkoond of Swat. Republican congresses were instructed in 1882 and 890 to do certain things which they did not do. Remembering these things. nobody will believe that any Repub-lican congress will pay any attention to the people, and every one will be-lieve that Senator Hoar knew that til John reaches his destination. Rough on Odell and Root The Philadelphia Public Ledger contalus this article, which is not at all complimentary to Governor Odell and Mr. Secretary of War Ellhu Root:

Is there any document on earth, except the Bible, which those who are supposed to be familiar with know teas of than they do of the constitution of the United States?
