The signs of the times indicate that a new eruption of the Delaware Republican scandal is at hand. It smells to heaven and is the saddest commentary extant on "barrel" politics. There appears to be no way of stopping or squelching it. They say that President Roosevelt is threatening to do some thing truly awful to all of them by reason of this newest outbreak. He will deserve the thanks of all decent men if he does. But will he? Can he? Is the thing possible so long as the Addicks bank account holds out? It seems not.
