Champ Clark's Letter

(Special Washington Letter.)
Last week's letter mentioned was made of the idiotic jabber about Vermont's vote being a "barometer" by which to measure the result of the presidential contest.

Washington Post and Chicago Chronicle
The Washington Post contains the following vigorous editorial:

The Chicago Chronicle, having transferred its political designation from "Democratic" to "Republican" without having undergone any material change in other respects, continues to manifest the same adherence to the status quo as its distinguishing characteristic when, in "Democratic" guise, it joyed in indicting chastisement on the Democratic party in the country.

Mr. Taggart and his associates cannot plot such an organization to victory. There are not enough fools, knaves and criminals—not enough fossilized "Democrats," Socialists and secret revolutionaries—to overcome the elements which stand for honesty, decency and good government.

It is not the custom of any political organization to demand proof of good moral character as a condition of membership. Each of the leading parties contains men of whom its respectable members are ashamed. But the party that held responsible for Adickes and his method of campaigning makes itself ridiculous when it puts forth as its superior morality.

Mr. Speaker Cannon lost his grip not long since—not his grip on his seat in congress or his speaker's gavel, but the grip consisting his campaign statistics. Whether the world would have been any worse off if the foreword grip with its statistics had never been found this depends on the rate.

What the Maine Election Figures Indicate
Chinese Cough Labor
A Republican Editor Tells the Truth

As good luck would have it, the grip, with its precious contents, was at last discovered, and the speaker went on the way rejoicing.

By those who take interest in such matters it will be remembered that when the late Chinese exclusion bill was before the house I secured the adoption of several amendments making the bill more thoroughly exclusive of every species of Chinese labor to prevent their competition with American labor.

The Pacific Mail steamer Siberia recently brought to San Francisco coolies to be used in manning the new steamer Manchuria. These coolies were brought from Hongkong under contract. They are now on the Manchuria, which engaged in making her first trip to Asia.

The Chicago Tribune's Testimony
That times are getting dull every sensible man knows; that thousands of laborers are without employment is also true. Nevertheless Republican spellbinders and editors go on asserting that times are so prosperous that every man who wants work can get it.

Clearly Meno Henry Watterson is not greatly impressed by Colonel Roosevelt. In his New York speech on "The Issue and the Outlook" the brilliant Kentucky speaker has stated freely as to the president, his deeds, words, ambitions, etc.

The negro with any degree of aspirations has a certain degree of pride and likes a comfortable home and pleasant surroundings. With such a home and atmosphere for the place will be formed that will go a long way toward settling the negro.

When a country is entering on a good times era, when consumption outruns production, when manufacturers are working their plants up to the limit and are competing so warmly for labor that they are idle, as was the case in the United States three or four years ago, a strike often is economic wisdom.

It is impossible to say how many abandoned men of the world there are in large. They come from Italy, which are closed and from Ireland, which are cutting down their force.

Mr. Speaker Cannon lost his grip not long since—not his grip on his seat in congress or his speaker's gavel, but the grip consisting his campaign statistics. Whether the world would have been any worse off if the foreword grip with its statistics had never been found this depends on the rate.

THE FARM LABOR PROBLEM
In my opinion no one thing has contributed more to the demoralization of present day labor than the present system of tenanted farms.

Among the essentials in successful farming are: large, good and fertile, rich soil; good water; good drainage; good seed; good machinery; good labor; good management.
