MALARIA PREVALENT.
IS THE DISEASE DUE TO THE MOSQUITO?
Bulletin from the State Board of Health Giving Helpful Suggestions.

One of the most prevalent diseases in North Carolina is malarial fever in one form or another. It is by no means confined to the low-lying, unsubstantiated in many localities in the hill country, having been reported even from Cherokee.

The method of the introduction of the malarial poison, the plasmodium, certainly the chief method, has been demonstrated beyond all question to be the sting of a certain variety of mosquito known as anopheles, the common mosquito, which, while more abundant, is innocent as a carrier of disease, being known as Culex. The latter species will breed in still water of any kind, no matter how pure, but the former, our enemy, will only breed in stagnant pools in which there is a certain amount of vegetable matter, especially if there are no fish, such as top minnows or sun-perch, which feed upon the larvae or wiggle-tails. This explains the fact that malaria is much more abundant after freshets, in the course of which the stream, getting out of its banks, washes holes in the ground, and, speedily filling, leaves these stagnant pools with few or no fish in them. Mosquitoes are very much more abundant years of freshets than usual. It also explains the danger of brick holes.

The larvae, or wiggle-tails, as we generally call them, are the young mosquitoes. Although they live in the water from the time they are hatched from the eggs which were laid on the surface until they reach maturity, they cannot live without air; they must breathe. Contrary to the general rule, they breathe "wrong end foremost" through a long breathing tube which springs from the body near the tail and which they stick out of the top of the water when they want air. The bearing of this arrangement on their destruction will appear later.

There is a popular misapprehension in regard to the movement of mosquitoes. The general impression is that they are carried by the wind, and people at the seaside say that a land breeze brings mosquitoes. It is a fact that they are more abundant when the breeze is from the land or in a calm, but according to those who know best the fact probably is not that they are blown from the swamps to landward, but that they simply come out again from the trees and shrubbery and the less side of houses where they had taken refuge from the strong sea breeze which was too rough for their fragile bodies. With rare exceptions they travel, it is said, seldom more than a mile, and generally not so far. When one is troubled with mosquitoes a careful search will almost always reveal stagnant water in the near vicinity.

The destruction of mosquitoes and the consequent prevention of malaria is accomplished in two ways: First and best, by the thorough drainage of all stagnant pools of water, and second, by keeping the surface of such pools covered with petroleum, which is known as light fuel oil, or even the crude petroleum, being better and cheaper than ordinary kerosene. The film of oil prevents the larvae from breathing and smothers them. The quantity necessary is one ounce or two table-spoonfuls to every fifteen square feet of surface, repeated every two weeks. This oil method was employed with great success last year by the town of Winchester, Va., and our own town of Tarboro has recently shown a most commendable spirit of enterprise in adopting it. Some care and a little expense in securing protection against mosquitoes and in providing a supply of pure drinking water will practically insure against malaria.

To those interested in this subject I cordially commend a very interesting and valuable book on mosquitoes written in popular and entertaining style by Dr. L. O. Howard, the Chief Entomologist of the United States, and published by McClure, Phillips & Co., New York, at a cost of $1.64, postpaid.

Each one in turn felt the hands of the policeman laid gently on their shoulders, but they saw nothing of their protectors or their surroundings. They were the indigent blind of the city come to receive their stipends.

And these people, who saw nothing of the sunshine or the morgue or the charities building, did not seem sad. The prospects of receiving money had gladdened their poor hearts, and on the faces of the majority there were smiles, while not a few tongues were loosened, and there were passages of wit, such as are seldom heard in the gloomiest of city blocks.

At least 100 more of the city's blind pensioners are expected at the office tomorrow, when the total sum set aside for this charity—$35,270—will have been distributed.—New York Globe.

Some Seasonable Advice.
It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that no one should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. It is for sale by all druggists.

LABOR IN THE SOUTH.
CONDITIONS UNSATISFACTORY ON THE FARM.
How to Meet the Difficulties of the Situation Discussed by Southern Cultivator.

Go where you will in the South, and you will hear the farmers discussing the two phases of the labor question, first the scarcity of it, and the unsatisfactory quality of it. Now discussion will not settle the vexing problem and it will take many years of united, well directed effort to settle it in anything like a satisfactory manner, if it can ever be accomplished with our present class of labor.

1.—We should have a clearly defined written contract between landlord and tenant.

2.—The insisting upon more careful preservation and thorough cultivation of the soil.

3.—The insisting upon a three-year rotation of crops, generally speaking, 1-3 in wheat and oats; 1-3 in corn and 1-3 in cotton.

A Judicious Inquiry.
A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade says he has often heard druggists inquire of customers who asked for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, the reason for this is that they were wanted for a child or an adult, and if for a child they almost invariably recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it, and for coughs, colds and croup it is unsurpassed. For sale by all druggists.

AN IMPORTANT CASE.
There is another case in the courts in which the Supreme Court will be called upon to construe the franchise amendment to the state constitution. This is a friendly suit brought in Iredell county and its decision turns upon the construction of the permanent registration clause in that amendment. The suit is based on the following state of facts:

Last August an election was held in the town of Statesville on the question of voting a bond issue of thirty thousand dollars. There was a new registration for this election. Many voters who are registered on the permanent roll under the grandfather clause did not register for this election. If their names are not counted in determining the number of registered voters then the bond issue was carried; but if they are counted the number of voters cast for the bonds does not equal a majority of the "registered" voters and the proposition is defeated.

The court will have two questions to decide if it goes fully into construing this section of the constitution—whether a man who puts his name on the permanent roll, which is filed with the clerk of the court of the county has to register in his precinct just as do all other whose names are not on the permanent roll, and whether in an election which requires a majority of the registered voters to carry the proposition the number of names on the permanent roll must be added to that of those on the regular registration book in order to determine whether enough votes have been cast for the proposition.

Consumption of Tobacco.
The people of the United States consume, according to an official report, 440,000,000 pounds of tobacco, consumption per citizen being 6.40 pounds.

When women and children are excluded from the calculation, the rate per male adult is seen to be very large. As many men do not use tobacco in any form, the smokers and chewers average an astonishing amount of the weed. In Belgium, however, the average per citizen is still larger than in the United States, being 6.31 pounds. In Germany the average is 3.43 pounds; in France 2.16 pounds, while in the United Kingdom it is but 1.95 pounds.

When a man has money he generally has more friends than he needs.
Insomnia and Indigestion Cured.
"Last year I had a very severe attack of indigestion. I could not sleep at night and suffered most excruciating pains for three hours after each meal. I was troubled this way for about three months when I used Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and received immediate relief."—Mrs. John Brown, Tallmadge, Ontario, Canada. For sale by all druggists.

MAKES RUMELY WOMEN PRETTY.
No woman so slender, so regular her features may be called pretty if her complexion is bad. Oris Laxative Fruit Syrup does not merely cleanse the yellow blotched complexion by stimulating the liver and bowels. Oris Laxative Fruit Syrup does not merely cleanse or irritate the skin and produce a sallow complexion, but cleanses and restores the same. Oris and returns to accept any submission. G. L. Aycock.

One Cold and Another
The season's first cold may be slight—may yield to early treatment, but the next cold will hang on longer; it will be more troublesome, too. Unnecessary to take chances on that second one. Scott's Emulsion is a preventive as well as a cure. Take when colds abound and you'll have no cold. Take it when the cold is contracted and it checks inflammation, heals the membranes of the throat and lungs and drives the cold out.

THE STORE OF DEPENDABLE VALUES.

"Truth is mighty; it bare's press bare; bears a burden fellers; forces itself out of the grave. The merchant who spends his money in newspaper advertising telling you what he can't make good is a fool." The above is copied and it expresses our thoughts concerning advertisements. The long continued success of our business is due to taking you into our confidence; in treating you honestly and openly in every transaction, every day in every year the same. This has always been our way, you like it, you have proven it by your continued patronage and by the many kind words spoken in our behalf by your friends. Our store, your store, is the business head of thousands of our best people. A traveling man who has visited all the largest stores in this country pronounced ours better arranged for the convenience of our customers than any department store in the South. Our advertisements must be scrupulously correct, always dependable, reliable. We open the season with
