ALL this talk of the Democrats nominating Roosevelt for President in 1908, is the merest 'tommy-rot.'

THE TIMES congratulates both the new Private Secretary and the Governor. In appointing Mr. Archibald H. Arrington, the Governor, in our opinion made a most excellent selection.

THE accidental shooting of a Chinese woman by Admiral Train, of the American Asiatic squadron, at Nanking, China, threatens to still further strain the relations between Uncle Sam and the Celestial empire.

AFTER reading President Roosevelt's speech delivered at Atlanta last week a gentleman made the following comment in hearing of the editor of the Times: "If I had been listening to this speech, and not knowing the speaker, I would have sworn that it was William Jennings Bryan."

Nothing strange about that. Although all great minds may run in the same channel, still the course of popular approval is very zig-zag and partial.

THANKSGIVING Day falls on Thursday, November 30th, this year, the last day of the month. The date has been a question for some time past, many being of the opinion that Thanksgiving came on the fourth Thursday, which would be November 23rd.

The big pieces of "pie" in the shape of revenue jobs will soon be doled out in this State, and while it seems certain that there is to be a "shake up" in the western district, we see that Tom Pence, the Washington correspondent of the Raleigh Post, predicts that Collector Duncan and Marshal Dockery will not be disturbed.

It is given out from Washington that the Interior Department is to be next investigated, and that grafting as flagrant as that recently brought to light in the Agricultural Department, through the efforts of the Southern Cotton Association, will be revealed.

THEIR ANIMUS. After Mr. Simmons' scalp? And why, pray? The senator has taken rank with the leading statesmen at our national capital, and has shown himself to be the man that his state needs to represent her.

Dear Sir: The handsome residence of Oliver Hillside on Main street, Port St. Charles, was painted in 1885 with Devco and set in 1901.

THE RUSSIAN SITUATION.

The surrender by Nicholas II, Czar of Russia, of his autocratic power, and the granting of representative government to his subjects, is a matter of world-wide importance.

The concession was evidently made as a last desperate effort to avoid bloodshed and anarchy, upon which Russia has long been verging.

The outcome cannot be forecasted. The populace, led by professional agitators is still turbulent. Great crowds parade the streets of the principal cities of the empire waving the red flag of anarchy.

The Tar Heel Publishing company last night closed a contract with the Harrison Printing company, of Greensboro, for issuing the first number of the Weekly Tar Heel November 9.

THE ACADEMY.

We take off our hat to the men who are standing between the free schools and the colleges, for they are the real makers of the men of the future so far as education can make them.

With best wishes for the "Times," I am still yours truly, J. A. Thomas.

THE FOX HUNT AT CHASE CITY.

The great sporting event of the season at the Mecklenburg, is now a historical fact. It came when there were many attractions in many cities, which attracted none from the glory and success of the Virginia-Carolina Fox Hunting Association Meet, which has been augmented in numbers, strengthened accordingly, and further perpetuated by a resolution passed to hold the next annual meeting here, Nov. 12, next.

The hunting party was met by a crowd of ladies and children and other guests from the hotel. The dancing every night to delightful music enticed beauty, grace and chivalry to the ball room. President W. T. Hughes and Master of Hounds, E. W. Overbey, and other officials, who so efficiently conducted affairs, have received the well-deserved great praise for their work and interest, and so delighted was every one that it is contemplated to have another great chase here during the Christmas holidays.

Death of a Faithful Old Colored Man.

At the request of his former owners, who in their childhood learned to respect and greatly admire "Uncle Brown," the Times gives space to the following tribute to his memory: Died on the 19th of October 1905, near Youngville, in Franklin county, N. C., on the plantation of W. G. Martin and sisters, "Uncle Brown Martin," an aged, honorable colored man, a faithful family servant, aged 87 years.

On his "beck," second prize went to "A" owned by J. E. Cornwell.

On his "beck," second prize went to "A" owned by J. E. Cornwell, South Carolina, third dog "Patrick" owned by Overbey & Sneed of Boydton. The two prizes consisted of an English bridle and a riding crop respectively.
