FACTS MISREPRESENTED

SPECULATORS ATTEMPT TO DECEIVE THE PUBLIC.

Harvie Jordan Writes of the Efforts of "Bear" Operators to Depress Cotton Market.

Never before in the history of the cotton trade has such a multitudinous amount of "Bear" dope and intentional misrepresentation of actual facts been given to the south through paid advertisements in the columns of the press and by the distribution of circular letters through the mails. Operators who are moving heaven and earth to depress future contracts and the prices of spot cotton are cudgeling their brains in the modern art of juggling figures and making new high records in distorting statistics in the supreme effort to make a small yield of American cotton take on the appearance of a plentiful supply. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been expended in the past two months in cables, telegrams, paid articles in newspapers, postage and market letters in an herculean undertaking to deceive the public, discourage the farmers and local spot holders into rushing the remnant of this crop on the market, unsettle public opinion in the south temporarily so as to break the market and induce liquidation. The spinners have threatened to withdraw from the market, which is an absurdity in the face of their enormous commitments of the entire output of their mills for the next six to eight months. Prominent "Bear" leaders take peculiar interest in daily publishing comparative estimates of this crop with years that have gone before. These tangled and much jangled statistics emanate from the offices of gentlemen who breathe the atmosphere of a climate one thousand miles from Southern cotton fields and whose eyes have not witnessed the actual condition of a single cotton field in the south this year. The statistics and daily reports which they put out in the stupendous effort for private gain are simply the night-mare of overcharged brains reflecting individual views in the forlorn hope changing at least temporarily the laws of supply and demand. The interest of the spot holder is not considered. The great desideratum is paper contracts and hot air. Thousands of people read this "Bearish Dope" scattered over the South daily and know it to be false, yet they tremble in doubt and surrender their honest conviction and Southern manhood before the edicts which emanate from the fine Italian hands of their enemies. This crop can no more be compared with past yields in the matter of picking, ginning and selling than could the enormous production of 1904. Let every man in the South stand pat on the actual conditions which confront him. Spurn these jangled statistics as you would an adder invading the holy precincts of your home and remain fixed and unalterable in your determination to secure higher prices for the balance of this crop, which will unquestionably prove to be one of the smallest grown in a number of years.

Yours truly,
HARVIE JORDAN,
President Southern Cotton Association.

ANOTHER ORPHANAGE NEEDED

EDITOR THE TIMES: Occasionally we read in THE TIMES and other papers editorials written by different people suggesting various things, and now I write something that has been upon my heart for a long time. It is no more nor less than "another orphanage needed." What do you think of it? I will tell you what I think. Notwithstanding we have nine orphanages already in operation and another near completion in North Carolina we stand in great need of another. But you say "ten orphanages in our State is enough." Why, you are sadly mistaken, many homeless children are turned from the doors of these institutions annually. Not because the superintendents of our orphanages would have it so, far from it, but because they actually don't have room. But you say, "make these institutions larger so as to accommodate all of the children in our border." While it is true some denominations could enlarge their orphanage, it is equally true that many of them are already large enough. What we need is not such large institutions for homeless boys and girls, but more of them, many children do not thrive so well together, and besides in these larger orphanages they do not take in infants. We have only one institution that takes in children as young as three years old. Pray tell us what is to happen to these smaller ones. A

HANDS INSURED FOR $50,000.

Kubelik, the violinist, has his hands insured for $50,000, says the Kansas City World.

They are marvelously skillful hands and are the tools by which he gives expression to the music in his soul. Should the hands lose their cunning the music would be mute. The other day Kubelik stood on the deck of a vessel in New York harbor and the little Bohemian had his hands thrust into a woman's fur muff. That was not because he is womanish or freakish. He was protecting his long, slender fingers from the cold and wind that might stiffen and roughen them. He is like the singer who must take extra care of his throat. His fingers are his fortune.

The Wisdom of Sock Rates.

"I have found a new way to a man's heart," said the girl who has had three proposals this early in the season. "It is through his socks. The stomach as a short cut to a man's affections is a regular continental railway route compared with the hosiery line of travel. The modern young man is excessively proud of his socks. There may be things that he is vainer of, but I have not discovered them. He exercises his best taste in buying them, and he likes to have that taste appreciated. He gives you every chance in the world to show your appreciation. Invariably he manages to leave a hiatus between his shoe tops and his trousers, and then, if you have designs on that young man, all you have to do is to cast sidelong but admiring glances at the revealed expanse of embroidered hosiery and murmur, "What a pretty pattern!" and the trick is accomplished. You don't need to go into particulars. He understands. These socks are the pride of his heart, and the minute that he finds you admire them, too, he is yours—for the summer season, at least."

OPPORTUNITY.

'Tis a long, weary road to the "bye and bye,"
And a "someday" that seldom arrives;
Why not take the pathway that leads thro' to-day,
Make each day the "now" of our lives?
Why wait and plan for next month or year?
The "will" and the "wish" bring the "how";
There is only one time to do each our best,
And that is just here, and just now.
—Overland Monthly.

IN MEMORIAM.

Miss Lizzie Wholes, Who Died Nov. 26, 1905. Aged 80 Years.

A loving friend from us has gone, Her voice we loved is still. A place is vacant in her home That never can be filled.
Yes, God has called her up above To that bright Heavenly home There to sing around His throne of love,
And to wait the "resurrection morn."
She has gone to that beautiful land of rest,
Where Jesus and the Angels abide. No more in trouble with the cares of life,
But crossed over death's chilly tide.
We hope she is now safely landed Where snowy white crowns she will wear,
And the gates of the city stand open To wait and welcome us there.
Her memory will be sweet. How sad to part From one we cherished so noble and kind.
But God will bless and comfort us all. Let us say "God's will be done," not mine.
And her dear parents, Heaven bless them,
Who'll to more her loving presence share,
But may they trust the Heavenly Father,
And prepare to meet her there.
She is now walking the golden streets With loved ones that have gone before.
Yes, there waiting us to come Just beyond the shining shore.
Not lost, dear friends, but we've laid her low,
And with loving thoughts stood around her grave.
Over her mound the green grass will grow
And the evergreens their stately branches will wave.
She was loved by all who knew her And by her kindness had lived a "metel life."
But now she is quietly sleeping 'neath the sod Free from the cares of toil and strife.
We now say adieu, but not forever If we trust in the word God has given.
When our trials here on earth are past,
We'll meet again in that home in Heaven.
A FRIEND.

Beneficial "Ifs."

If love fills our hearts, our hands will do for ourselves.
If we dwell in peace, contentment and joy is our portion.
If we guard our tongues, our thoughts will be of good only.
If we live in sunshine, our souls will be filled with the light of eternal things.
If we live in harmony, discord, strife and discouragement will vanish.
If we live in activity, success is a continuation.
If we are truthful, we are of God.
If we rest in the All Power, we are perfection.
If we want to know the truth of our being—stouement with God—we must rise from our slumbers and accept the "ifs" of the new.—Washington News Letter.

Babcock, of Agawa, Mich. writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case." Sold by G. L. Aycock.

Tar Heels Fare Well on Committee Jobs.

A Washington correspondent's penning of the new members of the National House of Representatives says: "The North Carolina delegation fared well in the distribution of committee assignments in the House. The State landed four new committees, namely: Territories, Insular Affairs, Invalid Pensions, and Indian Affairs. The committee of the North Carolinians line up as follows:
Small—Postoffice, Expenditures on Public Buildings.
Chambers—Indian Affairs, Claims, Elections.
Thomas—Library, Public Buildings.
Poe—District of Columbia, Reform in Civil Service.
William Kitchen—Naval Affairs, Manufactures.
Patterson—Merchant Marine Census.
Passmore—Insular Affairs, Expenditures in Interior Department.
Blackburn—District of Columbia.
Webb—Education, Patents, Territories.
Gaugler—Invalid Pensions, Alcoholic Liquor Traffic.
It will be observed that Representative Blackburn returns to the committee on District of Columbia, thus giving the State, with Mr. Poe, two members on that body. Mr. Small has left Merchant Marine and gone to Postoffice, Mr. Patterson landing the former assignment.

Cured His Mother of Rheumatism.

"My mother has been a sufferer for many years from rheumatism," says W. H. Howard, of Haverhill, Pennsylvania. "At times she was unable to move at all, while at all times walking was painful. I procured her with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications she declared it was the most wonderful pain reliever she had ever tried. In fact, she is never without it now and is at all times able to walk. An occasional application of Pain Balm has away the pain that she was formerly troubled with. For sale by all druggists.

Every Two Minutes

Physicians tell us that all the blood in a healthy human body passes through the heart once in every two minutes. If this action becomes irregular the whole body suffers. Poor health follows poor blood; Scott's Emulsion makes the blood pure. One reason why is such a great aid is because it passes so quickly into the blood. It is partly digested before it enters the stomach; a double advantage in this. Less work for the stomach; quicker and more direct benefits. To get the greatest amount of good with the least possible effort is the desire of everyone in poor health. Scott's Emulsion does just that. A change for the better takes place even before you expect it.

SCOTT'S EMULSION
