THE GOVERNOR SPEAKS.

LARGE CROWD TO HEAR HIM AT INGLESIDE.

He makes a Powerful Speech, Giving Good Advice to Both Young and Old—People From Adjoining Counties.

Tuesday was a gala day for Ingleside Academy. It was the occasion of the closing exercises of Ingleside Academy, one of the most flourishing rural schools in the county. By special invitation North Carolina's able and popular Governor was present and delivered a most powerful and timely address to the large crowd who had assembled to hear him.

The Governor, in company with Mr. T. W. Bickett and the editor of the TIMES, arrived at Ingleside promptly at 11 o'clock, the hour announced for the speaking, and after shaking hands with a large number who were anxious to have this pleasure, the exercises were opened by a class of sweet little girls. Prayer was then offered by Rev. H. G. Stamey, of the Methodist Church, immediately after which Governor Glenn was introduced to the large audience, in a very neat and appropriate speech by Mr. T. W. Bickett.

The Governor received a hearty applause as he arose, and was paid the very closest attention all through his speech which consumed about one hour and forty minutes. To even attempt a synopsis of his speech by us would do the speaker an injustice. He made so many good points and hammered such large chunks of sound common sense into the heads of his hearers that some of the best might be overlooked were we to try to tell our readers in the limited space at our command, of the many good points in his speech. As quite a large number expressed it, "It was a powerful speech." And it was one that is calculated to make any true North Carolinian proud of his State, and feel better for having heard it.

The Governor speaks plain and explains every point as he goes along, and the good and sound advice to mothers, fathers, sons, daughters, brothers, sisters and sweethearts "is simply grand" as a lady expressed it.

After the Governor had finished he held a reception around the porch from which he had spoken and quite a large number of all sizes had the pleasure of shaking hands with our Chief Executive. After this dinner was announced, and everybody moved toward the heavily laden table about two hundred feet in length. Although the crowd numbered several hundred there was enough for all and to spare. The Governor stood at the head of the long table and looking down at the same, remarked "Did you ever see so many good things on a table before?"

About 3 o'clock the Governor returned to Louisburg in order to take the 5 o'clock train for Raleigh. While in Louisburg, (he having arrived on the Shoe Fly Monday evening,) the Governor was the guest of Mr. T. W. Bickett. A few friends were at tea with the Governor at Mr. Bickett's Monday evening. One of the pleasant features of the evening was a serenade by the young ladies of the college. It was a beautiful night and the sweet voices of the young ladies as they sang "Carolina," "Dixie," "Auld Lang Syne" and "Home Sweet Home," etc., were never so charming. The Governor made a short talk to the young ladies, in which he told them that he had a warm spot in his heart for Louisburg College, as he was indebted to one of the young ladies who was a pupil two years ago, for nominating him for Governor. He then went out in the yard and shook hands with all of the young ladies, over fifty in number.

This has been a prosperous session of the school, and we learn that it is the intention of the Trustees and the people of the entire Ingleside section to make the next session, which opens in September, one of its best. The grand concert took place Wednesday night.

Closing of Pine Ridge School.

The evening of April the twenty-sixth will long be remembered by the people and friends of Pine Ridge, as on this occasion occurred the closing exercises of their school. A more propitious time could not have been chosen for it was indeed ideal. From the illimitable blue space above the myriad stars whispered love messages from Heaven to earth. Here and there in the moonlight, tall trees stood sentinel-like through the branches of which tremulous gleams played merrily. Over all nature there reigned a calm which was soul inspiring.

Within the brightly lighted academy the eager expectancy on the faces of the people clearly showed to an observer that the things which he would presently see and hear would indeed be worth his while.

Surely there reigned somewhere near an artistic genius for the decorations displayed great taste and an ardent love for the beautiful.

The concert consisted chiefly of choruses, other musical selections, drills and plays. The deportment of the pupils was perfect. Their bright happy faces brought to us memories of other days, and down in the heart might have been heard an echo of the old song, "Backward, turn backward, O Time in your flight, make me a child again just for tonight."

The costumes were most appropriate and suggestive. The earnestness and enthusiasm with which each did his part was a stimulus to every one present. In the fulfillment of their parts, we could see not only the momentary drilling for that special occasion, but there was visible the daily training of conscientious teachers who made their pupils capable of having this concert so great a success. Every selection was good and the audience was highly entertained until the last.

Mr. Willis Boddie, editor of the Franklin Progress made the announcements, and, at the close of the exercises, delivered a short but most appropriate address. In this capacity Mr. Boddie is most pleasing and entertaining. The writer had the privilege of meeting one of the patrons of this school. In words of highest praise he attributed the success of the school to the efforts of their most excellent teachers, Miss Kate Furman, Principal, Miss Mary Malone, Assistant, and Miss Annie Dodd, Music Teacher.

The people of this little village record this term as the most successful in the history of their school. The library which was obtained some time ago, has proven quite an addition to the school. During the past term, very great improvements have been made in the building. The nicely kept yard and the recent painting add greatly to the external appearance of the academy.

The people of Pine Ridge should and we are sure, do feel blessed in having as their own so beneficial a school, so well trained pupils and so refined and efficient teachers. Should the present management continue, we see in this school, an institution embryo, from the doors of which will go forth men and women more fully prepared to serve faithfully their county, their state and their God.

The "long season in May" commenced early.

Mr. Arrington Dead.

Mr. W. H. Arrington familiarly known to his friends as Billy Lou died suddenly last Sunday of heart trouble at the residence of his daughter Mrs. Lee Battle in this place. Mr. Arrington had just left the bath room and remarked to the family that he was feeling better than in years past and took a seat with them. The family happened to be out of the room for a while, when his little grandson returned and seeing him with his head bowed on his breast called his mother. Mrs. Battle hastily ran to him and found that he was already dead. Mr. Arrington was in the 71st year of his age and was a most excellent citizen. He was a clever good man and had many friends all over this section who will mourn his death. He leaves five children four daughters and one son. The remains accompanied by a number of friends were taken to the old homestead in Nash County on Monday morning.

The True Editor's Business.

An irate citizen says that hereafter he wants the editors to mind their own business. Did he ever reflect, in his contemplative moments, when the moon is beaming, when the whippoorwill sings in the tree, when the hired man snores in the loft, the yellow dog asleep on the lean and the mosquito gets in his work—did he ever reflect in such times upon the idea that a paper containing only accounts of the editor's own private business would be apt to prove monotonous to the general public? They might stand it for a while, but in the end it would be a thorn in the side and a weariness to the flesh and all that sort of thing. No; the true editor's business is to make everybody's business his business. That's business. So there's no use in making the kick alluded to.

A New Law.

The reputable lawyers of the State are desirous of depriving of their licenses any and all unworthy members of their profession. Accordingly at the last annual meeting of the North Carolina Bar Association a resolution was adopted to ask the legislature to enact a law for the disbarment of unworthy attorneys. In compliance with this resolution the last Legislature enacted such a law.

This law provides for the disbarment or suspension of attorneys as follows for the following causes:

1. Upon his being convicted of a crime punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary.

2. When any judgment is rendered against him for money collected by him as an attorney, and retained by him without any bona fide claim thereon or to any part thereof.

3. Upon its being found by a jury that he has been guilty of any conduct in the practice of his profession involving moral delinquency or fraud.

4. That he has by himself or another solicited professional business.

Many persons may be surprised at the last named cause for disbarment, but it is approved by all reputable lawyers who have a respect and concern for the "integrity of the bar" and it is well to grade an honorable profession by personal solicitation of such and starting up "straw" as Chatham County.

Hundreds of people have had the pleasure of seeing the "White House" and it is well to grade an honorable profession by personal solicitation of such and starting up "straw" as Chatham County.

Ango had salmon is just the thing for unappreciated company. There is nothing better to serve from the sea. At all grocers.
