A BEAUTIFUL MARRIAGE.

THE CEREMONY PERFORMED AT TRINITY CHURCH.

The Contracting Parties Being Two of Inglesides's Most Popular Young People—A Very Large Attendance.

Trinity Methodist Church was the scene of a beautiful marriage, when Mr. William Lee Beasley and Miss Susie Lee Macon were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony, by the Rev. A. L. Ormond of Fayetteville on the 30th of December 1908.

Long before the appointed hour friends and relatives of the popular young couple gathered in the tastily decorated church to witness the ceremony and the people of Ingleside never witnessed a more lovely and impressive scene. As the soft light of many candles gleamed through the elaborate decorations of green and white, Miss Sallie Young Davis sang in her own inimitable style, "Oh Fair O Sweet and Holy." Then to the strains of Lohengrins wedding march played by Miss Alice James Costen of Suffolk Va., the bridal party entered as follows: Ushers, Messrs. Blount Egerton, George Macon, Werter Hayes and Dr. C. H. Banks, The groomsmen and bridesmaids were Mr. Everard Cooke of Ingleside and Miss Mamie Jones of Mebane, Mr. Ben Holden of Louisburg, and Miss Bessie B. Blacknall of Warrenton, Mr. Wyatt Freeman of Louisburg, and Miss Lucie Wiggins of Thomasville, Mr. W. F. Davis of Ingleside, with Miss Nellie Wilson of Ingleside, Mr. Willie Wilson of Ingleside with Miss Lily Hayes of Louisburg, Mr. Hugh Perry of Louisburg with Miss Janet Hayes, Mr. Ballard Egerton of Laurel with Miss Lucie Davis of Amityville, L. I. Mr. Johnnie Wilson of Ingleside with Miss Lucy Jones of Oxford. Then followed four little flower girls Lillian Beasley, Mary and Neppie Wilson and Lucile Mills. Little Edna Beasley the tiny sister of the groom looked the picture of a fairy, as she bore in her dainty hands a silver waiter with the wedding ring, while by her side Master Eugene Wilson, showing by his manly step, that he had in his keeping the most important document, the license.

The Maid of honor, Miss Brooksie Macon of Birmingham Ala, dressed in white crepe de chine carrying white carnations came in with the bride, a bride complete with youth, health and beauty, these enhanced by the handsome gown of white muslin silk elaborately trimmed in embroidery. Her veil caught with a spray of pearls, a gift from the

GOVERNOR WILLIAM W. KITCHIN.

THE INAUGURATION AT RALEIGH LAST TUESDAY

A Large Attendance—Beautiful Weather—An Able and Conservative Inaugural Address—Big Military Parade.

The inauguration of Hon. William W. Kitchin and other State officers which took place at Raleigh on Tuesday, was attended by a large crowd of people from all parts of the State. The weather was ideal, and this allowed the ladies and children to turn out and grace the occasion. A large number of the military companies of the State, among them both of the companies from Franklin were present, and the presence of the soldier boys in the parade, added much to the great occasion. Raleigh opened her doors to the visitors and there was generous hospitality extended the many visitors to the capital city. The inaugural address of the Governor was listened to by thousands, and when he had finished, he was loudly applauded, as he had delivered a very good, sound and conservative address. Nothing occurred to mar the ceremonies and throughout the day everybody seemed happy and pleased at the excellent manner in which the various committees had so successfully carried out the programme. Mr. Kitchin and his colleagues, who were elected with him on the ticket, started off their administration under most favorable auspices. Let us hope that it will end accordingly. This paper will always try to give the new Governor and the other State officers its hearty co-operation in all efforts on their part to make good for the "Old North State."

groom, was the only jewel worn save an old ivory pin, an heirloom two hundred years old. She carried a Bouquet of brides roses. As the manly groom stepped from the side of his best man, Mr. John Young Beasley, to the side of his bride with an air of protection and in firm tones repeated the words of the beautiful ring ceremony, old hearts grew young and reverted to other days and young eyes gleamed with a tender light as they looked on the impressive scene of the young couple. Miss Costen so sweetly played "Trammere!" during the ceremony.

To the strains of Mendelssohn's march the party left the church and repaired to the home of the bride's father, Mr. W. J. Macon, where an elegant reception was served in courses, the house was decorated exquisitely, the color scheme green and white, as at the church. Guests from a distance were Mrs. J. T. Mills of Manson, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Crocker of Middleburg, Miss Mary Cooke, of Nashville, Tenn., Mrs. Jennie Collins, of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. Allen and daughter, Sallie, of Louisburg, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Meadows, and children, of Louisburg, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Wilson, of near Mapleville.

The gifts were numerous and costly which testified to the popularity of the young couple, whose many friends are glad to know that Mr. Beasley is erecting a lovely house near his store at Ingleside, and hope that the sky which arches over their home nest will always be blue and bright with stars of hope and prosperity.

Franklin Superior Court.

The January term of Franklin Superior Court will convene on next Monday, with Judge C. M. Cooke on the bench, he having exchanged with Judge O. H. Allen. Clerk J. J. Barrow informs us that there will be about forty cases on the state docket to be disposed of, and about 125 on the civil and motion dockets.

Original Papers Secured.

Under the above head, the Charlotte Chronicle of January 7th says: "Mrs. Joe Person, or she is commercially known, 'Alice Person,' Proprietor and owner of 'Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy,' has just received, through her son, Mr. Rufus M. Person, from Washington, all the papers from the Patent Office there necessary to perpetuate her patent on a proprietary medicine known under that name or title. The original papers were taken out and approved August 20, 1878. They were issued for a period of 30 years. The 'Remedy' has been so marked that there has never been registered against it a single complaint for failure, all of which is most satisfactory and pleasing to the woman now advancing in years, who elected to make her home in Greater Charlotte, having removed here from eastern North Carolina."

The above will be read with interest by the friends of Mrs. Person in this section, where she is well and favorably known.

THE MOVING PEOPLE.

THEIR MOVEMENTS IN AND OUT OF TOWN.

Those Who Have Visited Louisburg the Past Week—Those Who Have Gone Elsewhere for Business or Pleasure.

Capt. Stargos, of Henderson, was a visitor here yesterday.

Mr. C. E. Kerton, of Wilson, is visiting his people here.

Mr. G. R. Church and family, of Norfolk, Va., are visiting friends and relatives in town.

Mrs. T. W. Bickett and Mrs. J. S. Lancaster attended the inauguration at Raleigh this week.

Dr. J. E. Malone and wife took their little son, James, to Norfolk this week for treatment.

Messrs. C. T. Stokes and A. A. Clifton left Monday to take the "personally conducted trip" to Cuba. Their friends wish them a pleasant trip.

Mr. J. S. Strickland, who has been working at his trade for some time in the printing office at Red Springs, has returned to Louisburg and taken a position in the Times office, where he first started as a printer. He says that he is glad to get back to Louisburg, as "there is no place like home."

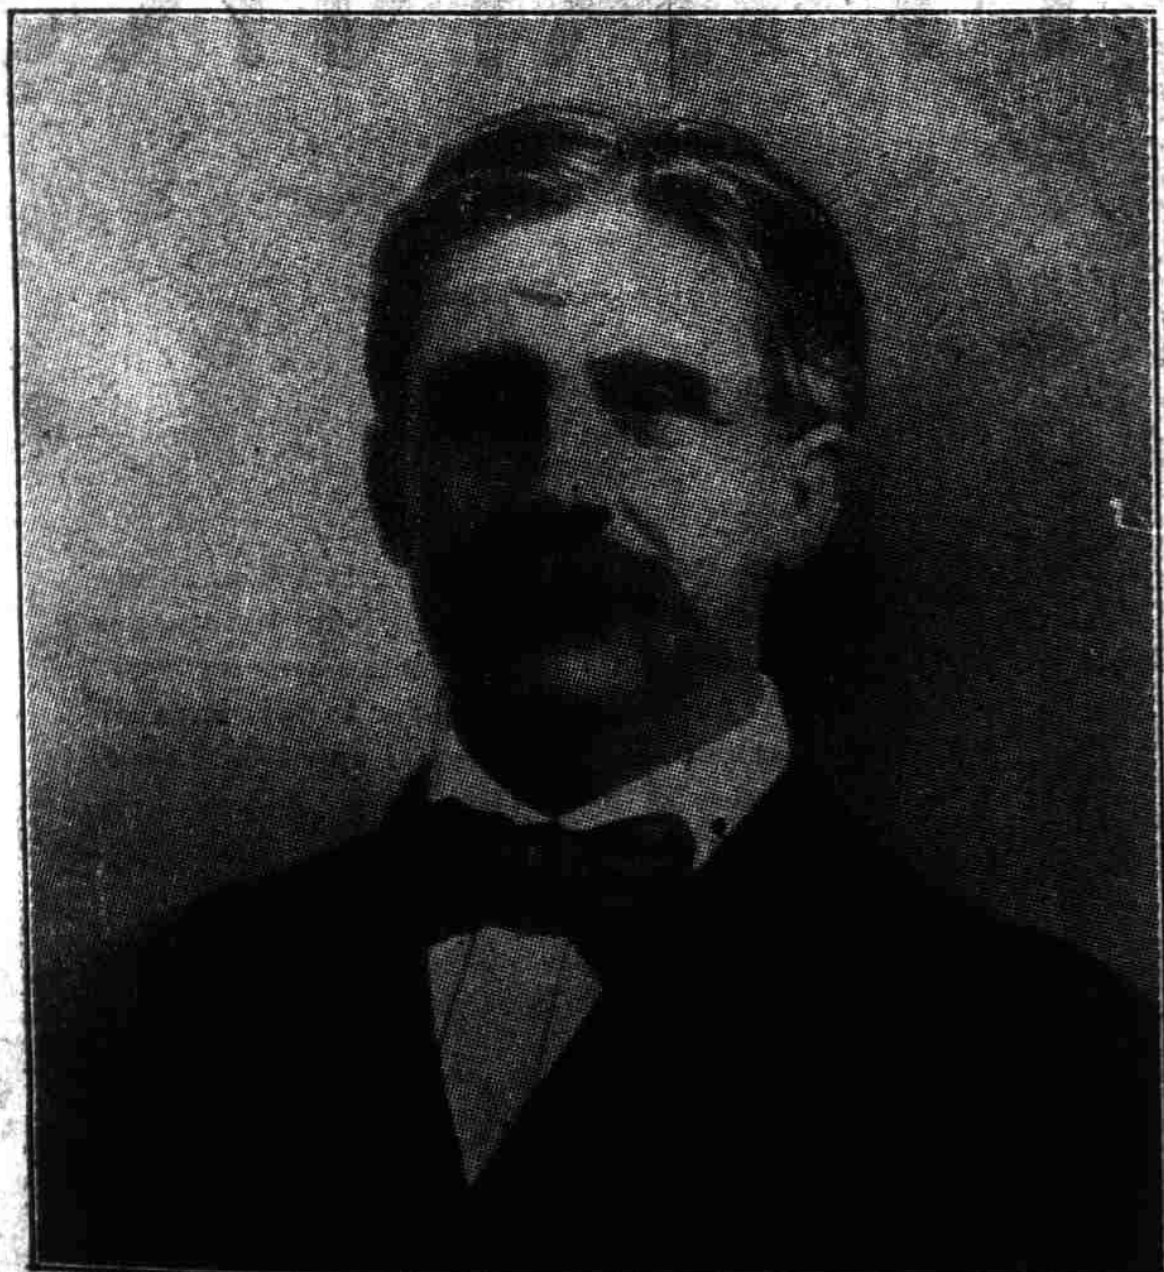

Mr. H. R. Merryman, of Baltimore, a machinist for the American Flyer Foundry Co., was in town yesterday overhauling our newspaper press. He is not only a fine machinist and a clever gentleman, but represents one of the best and most reliable concerns in the United States.

Quite a number of Masons from this section of the county attended the meeting of the Grand Lodge at Raleigh this week, among whom we noted the following: T. S. Collins, J. R. Collier, T. A. Hellingworth, C. E. Gupton, W. I. Stallings, T. P. Dean, W. J. Johnson, J. P. Davis, Zeb Davis, Morgan Gupton, W. M. Boone, S. P. Buddie, J. A. Thomas, Rev. G. M. Duke.

Box Party at Pilot.

On Wednesday night, January 20th, 1909, there will be a box party given by the ladies. Public cordially invited. The girls are requested to bring a box—the boys, of course, to buy. A pleasant evening is promised both "old and young." Object—our new church building fund.
