BIG LAND SALE AT BUNN

MANY LOTS SOLD AT VERY GOOD PRICES.

Big Crowd of People from all Around — Penny Brothers Did Good Work — A Grand Success.

In answer to the many advertisements of the occasion there was gathered at Bunn on Tuesday one of the largest crowds that has gathered at any one village in many years to witness the sale of lots by the American Realty and Auction Company, of Greensboro, and the Suburban Realty and Auction Company, of Raleigh. From early morning the people began to come and continued to pour in until a good while after the sun came. This was due at first to the delay but owing to the unaccountable delay it was about an hour late. This was carrying three cars that were loaded with people and among whom were the celebrated auctioneers, the Penny Brothers who did the "screwing off" the lots and the Keeley Brass Band, who had been secured to furnish music for the occasion.

Very soon after the arrival of the people everything was put in readiness and the work began. The twin auctioneers selling the same lot in the same voice created much surprise and resulted in the lots bringing good prices. Some of the business lots brought as high as $325 and many lots sold for $250.

The selling continued for about two hours and the band furnished most good music in the intervals. The ladies served dinner, refreshments, etc., for the benefit of the school and many of the school girls were busy raising funds for the school library, all of which received their support and the day was a great success in every way.

There were many people present who had not visited Bunn in a long time and that were very favorably impressed with the progressiveness of the section and its people.

Dinner to Old Veterans.

On Tuesday there was gathered at Bunn here about one hundred old veterans for the purpose of partaking of a beautiful annual dinner given them by the Daughters of the Confederacy. These ladies had everything well arranged and deserve much credit for the excellent work they did. Dr. B. F. Dixon, of Raleigh, was present and delivered a very timely and touching address to the assembled present and was introduced with very appropriate remarks from Rev. G. M. Duke. The introduction of Rev. Mr. Duke as well as the speech of Dr. Dixon was highly appreciated by all present. The Old Veterans expressed themselves as being highly pleased with the entertainment of the day and said that on these occasions grow better and better each year. We are always glad to see these old "war horses," for whom our whole country holds the highest respect, gather together in our midst, and to mingle among them for it seems to make life more worth the living.

Bitten by Mad Dog.

Harry, the little two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hollingsworth, was bitten on the hand last Saturday morning by a mad dog. The dog was owned by Mr. Hollingsworth and was a pet of the family. He had shown signs of being sick but no one noticed anything about him that suggested hydrophobia. Immediately after the child was bitten the dog was killed and his head cut off and sent to Raleigh for examination by the state chemist who reported that it had a genuine case of rabies. The little child was taken to Raleigh Monday morning and undergo the Pasteur treatment.

and it is hoped by the many friends of the family that he may soon return fully recovered. It has been learned since the above occurrence that the dog that bit the child had bitten several other pet dogs in the neighborhood and the owners of such dogs will do well to put them up or kill them at once.

Mr. R. R. Harris Dead.

The death of Mr. R. R. Harris, Postmaster at Louisburg, which occurred at his residence about one mile from town on Tuesday morning at 5 o'clock, although not unexpected, was received with much regret by our entire community. Mr. Harris was 63 years old and had lived a life that had caused him to make many friends among the people with whom he came in contact. He was twice married and leaves one daughter, Mrs. J. A. Turner, by his first wife, and one daughter, Miss Ina and two sons, Russell and Joseph, by his second wife, who now survive him. Mr. Harris had been prominent in county politics, being at his death and for several years prior Chairman of the Republican County Executive Committee of this county, had served several years as Clerk of the Superior Court of this county and was at the time of his death Postmaster at Louisburg. He is survived by his second wife, who was before their union, Miss Ina Mann. The funeral services were conducted from his residence by Rev. F. A. Bishop, pastor of the Methodist church, and his remains were tenderly laid to rest Wednesday morning in the cemetery in the presence of a large number of friends who had gathered to pay their last tribute. The floral offering was indeed pretty and immense. The pallbearers were Thos. B. Wilder, G. W. Ford, J. M. Allen, E. L. Harris, E. S. Green, W. H. Yarborough, Jr. The bereaved family have our sympathy.

Death of Mrs. John Neal

On Tuesday morning of this week when the tidings of the death of Mrs. Fannie Neal spread throughout our town, there was felt universal and profound sadness. She was a woman deeply loved by her large circle of friends, and from those who knew her at all she had won a sincere admiration and esteem. Belonging to one of our oldest and most influential families, being a daughter of Mr. Richard Turner Yarborough, and sister of Capt. R. F. and Col. W. H. Yarborough. Her whole life had been lived in this, her native town. In early girlhood, being scarcely more than seventeen, she was happily married to Mr. John Neal. Not long did her sunshine remain unclouded, for in less than two years, the grim and inexorable hand of disease touched the young husband, and after a few months of lingering illness the earth closed over him, and the girl-wife was left wrapped in the gloom and dissolution of widowhood.

To her baby boy she gave all the love and tenderness in her stricken heart, and in him, as he became a man, she found the happiness of her maturer life, and the joy and comfort of her declining years. Her nature was loving and loyal, and her refined gentleness made her a character lovable in the extreme. For many years she had been a communicant of the Episcopal church, and to her church she gave a devotion so true-hearted and a service so faithful as was rarely beautiful. Her sympathies were keen and sensitive and she was ever ready to respond liberally to every deserving call for help. In her death, our chapter of U. D. C. has sustained a heavy loss, for she was a true daughter of our Southland, and gave to our cause her loyal and generous support. The death of her son, Mr. W. P. Neal, occurred only a few months ago, and while she met and bore her bereavement with a beautiful christian resignation, all who knew and loved her, felt that in this affliction, her gentle spirit received its death-blow. Her career on earth is ended but its influence will remain, and as we contemplate the life so peacefully closed, one thought, one feeling comes to all, "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God."

Her remains were tenderly laid to rest in the cemetery on Tuesday afternoon amid a large number of sorrowing friends, and the ties evidenced by the many beautiful flowers was indeed pretty. The pallbearers were Wm. Bailey, W. H. Ruffin, P. R. White, W. M. Person, C. K. Cooke, J. W. King.

From the Daughters

The U. D. C. wish to extend their sincere thanks to those who so kindly and generously contributed to the splendid dinner given the veterans on October 26.

These brave old soldiers look forward to this annual gathering and there is a pleasure and an inspiration attached to the planning and serving of these free dinners, and the happy faces and warm hand shakes of the soldiers give evidence of their appreciation. We realize when we see this noble gathering that they are our aged citizens, and some are feeble, and their bowed heads and measured steps are unmistakable signs of their long and useful lives while there are others, where age rests lightly upon them, but at best, they cannot be with us many years, and we cannot do too much for them. The few courtesies and pleasures that we can show them is, but poor compensation for the service they have done us, and the hardships they endured in war.

The placing of flowers and flags upon their graves will not suffice for the kind needs we might have shown them. So let us, each year make this occasion more glorious for them. Dr. Dixon's address was ably and well delivered, and we feel grateful to him and are satisfied that we could not have chosen a better speaker. Those who did not hear him missed a great deal. The veterans listened to him with tears in their eyes. He was the one they wanted to speak to them, for they suffered together.

There will be a regular meeting of the U. D. C. in the Masonic Hall, Wednesday, November 3rd. A full attendance is urgently requested, as there will be an election of officers for the coming year. We hope every member will be present and with renewed energy and interest for the monument is now in sight, and we need help.

Weddings Ten Years Hence.

Here is the way the papers will write up weddings ten years hence: "The bride looked very well in a traveling dress, but all eyes were centered upon the groom. He wore a dark suit that fitted his form perfectly and in his dainty gloved hands he carried a small rose. His curly hair was beautifully done, and a delicate odor of hair oil of the best quality floated down the aisle as he passed. The young people will miss him now that he is married. He is loved for his many accomplishments, his tender grace and his winning ways. The bride commands a good salary as a book-keeper and the groom will miss none of the luxuries to which he has been accustomed. A crowd of pretty men saw him off at the depot.—Ex.

The great trouble seems to be that the kind of women whose votes would help the ballot do not appear to be wanting to vote.

Took Her at Her Word.

A woman came into the general store with a jar of butter. She desired to exchange it for another jar of butter. In changing her butter she had discovered a mouse in the churn.

"It didn't injure the butter," she said to the storekeeper, "and to any one who did not know the circumstances, it would taste all right."

Taking the woman at her word, the merchant carried her jar into the back room, transferred her butter to another jar, and the gratified customer took back her mouse butter with a thousand thanks for the accommodation. There is a great deal of needless trouble in the world on account of squeamish sentiment.—Milwaukee Journal

A Large and Enthusiastic Meeting of the Alumnae and Former Students of Louisburg College.

In response to the call for a meeting of the Alumnae Association by the President, Mrs. J. S. Barrow, a large number of the former students gathered at the College on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 19th.

Mrs. Barrow stated that the purpose of the meeting was to consider the former students' part in the enlargement of the College. After some discussion of ways and means she suggested that a large number could contribute to the building fund through a bazaar who might not otherwise be able to make a donation. The proposition met with general approval and five fields were formed for the purpose of bringing about united action among present and former students as follows:

No. 1—The Caroline Patterson Guild—including all students prior to the year 1875. Mesdames J. S. Barrow, Charles M. Cooke, L. E. Ballard, F. N. Egerton, and M. S. Davis, committee.

No. 2—The Cecelia Lawrence

Guild—including students in College between 1875 and 1890. Mesdames I. P. Hicks, Ivey Allen, J. J. Barrow, and W. H. Allen, committee.

No. 3—The Mary Davis—including students in College between 1890 and 1900. Misses Cora Bagley, Matilda Foster, Mesdames J. L. Palmer, J. R. Collins, A. H. Fleming, and B. G. Hicks, committee.

No. 4—The Memorial—including students in College between 1900 and 1907. Misses May Jones, Blanche Egerton, and Mrs. P. R. White, committee.

No. 5—The C. Q. D.—including all students in College between 1907 and 1910. Misses Allison, Grant, Herrig, and Preston, committee.

The exact time and place for holding the bazaar has not yet been decided upon. We are informed that some suitable place down town will be secured and it will be opened not later than Dec. 1st.

Believing that the town and surrounding country are interested in the movement we are asking for the co-operation of everybody in the county and of all former students everywhere.

Fancy work of all kinds—counter pieces, table covers, embroidered waists and corset covers, valises, dresses, handkerchiefs, kamikos, bedroom slippers etc, just anything that Christmas shoppers can use, or any groceries, canned goods, flour, meats, vegetables, or fruits needed to complete a well stored larder.

The Caroline Patterson Guild perpetuates the memory of the first graduate of Louisburg College. Guild No. 2 is named in honor of Mrs. Lawrence whose presents and meals are perpetuated in the girls who were her pupils.

Send contributions to any of the above named ladies stating what Guild they belong to. The Guilds get a realized $111 from their annual bazaar. We are anxious to see you at the time. Those who cannot give a large sum of money may still contribute largely to the building fund.

Items From Peachtree.

As you have ever been anything from our part of the county I will send you a few items.

We are having some nice weather now and the farmers are very busy packing out their cotton.

We are going to commence building the new church at Peachtree soon, and want the help of every body so it may be completed by Christmas.

Messrs. Sade and Ludee Nykes, of Huan High School, spent a portion of last week with their parents near here.

Mrs. Carrie May is spending relatives at Centerville this week.

Messrs. George Montgomery and Charlie Debaum, were in attendance at our Sunday school last Sunday.

Miss Jesse Debridge, of Castalia High School, spent last Saturday with her people.

Several of the boys around here attended the Nash county organization of the Farmers Union at Nashville last Saturday.

Mr. W. E. House and wife went to Cedar Rock last Sunday.

Miss Mattie Debridge has accepted a position with B. W. Upchurch at Spring Hope. Miss Mattie will be greatly missed in our Sunday School.

Best wishes to the editor and the good old FRANKLIN TIMES.

BLUE BELLS.

—We call the attention of our readers to the change of ads of P. S. & K. K. Allen and W. E. White Furniture Company in this issue. They are both telling you of exceptional opportunities to buy anything in their lines at very reasonable prices.
