

In Memoriam.

On the 25th day of October, 1909, the Sentinel of the Great Beyond called the call for the spirit of our and brother Rufus R. Harris, "Pass over the River." He had passed his 63rd year and seemed vigorous and in good health. He was sick only a few days and his death was a shock to the community. He came to Louisburg early after the war and was associated with Mr. J. M. Minnie as a clerk in general mercantile business. He had formed business connections in Louisburg and his associates, loved and respected him. He was frank, candid and square in all his dealing with all man kind. He leaves surviving him, a daughter, Mrs. J. A. W. W. of this city, and a brother, W. K. W. D. Harris and a sister, Mary S. Harris. His widow, Ina Harris, Miss Ina, Russell Joseph also survive him. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, at Louisburg N. C., and the creed of the church was his creed. His was a quiet, modest unassuming life, always confining himself to dealing with his own affairs and never interfering with others. He was unobtrusive in his manner, courteous, and generous and loyal to his friends. Though he might differ in opinion with others he would speak with the best candor and frankness, but firm in his convictions. He was a thoughtful father and husband, a true and loyal friend. This world would command the high respect and regard in which he was held by those who knew him well, were I to write his social record could be this: He would be pure, for there are those who care; He would be strong for there is much to suffer; He would be brave, for there is much to dare. He would be friend of all, the foe, the friendless; He would be giving, and forget the gift; He would be humble, for I know my weakness; He would look up, and laugh, and love, and lift.

A FRIEND.

College Education Possible. Every boy and girl will not and may not get a college education, but it may be asked why a college education is necessary when knowledge has and may be obtained through reading, study and observation without the aid of the college. The first thousand dollars is the best to make and save, so the fundamental knowledge is difficult to get. In fact, with the help it will generally never be obtained. The college is the best and quickest means of getting the best education and in most instances gives that of value which is obtained elsewhere. If we are just to our boys and girls and do everything possible to give them a desire to acquire a college education. We do not even need to give them money to obtain this education if we can inspire them to desire for it. To do this we must ourselves appreciate and respect education. Any boy or girl with a sound body and mind desires it sufficiently can with financial help acquire a college education. Our duty, then, is by example and precept to inspire our boys and girls with such a desire, and we may do this with complete confidence that it will pay. It may apply to the boy or girl with "common sense" but it will enable a better education of that already possessed and to a broader, fuller and better education. Knowledge is power — the best power. — Progressive Farm.

Why Druggists Recommend Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. Frank C. Hanrahan, a prominent druggist of Portsmouth, Va., says: "For the past six years I have sold and recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is a great remedy and one of the best patent medicines on the market. I handle some others for the same purposes that pay me a larger profit, but this remedy is so sure to effect a cure, and my customer so certain to appreciate my recommending it to him, that I give it the preference." Feeding Farm Hands.

Every farmer's wife knows what tremendous appetites farm hands usually have; but while they eat well they work well, too. Here's a good suggestion about feeding farm hands. Give them plenty of Quaker Oats. A big dish of Quaker Oats porridge with sugar and cream or milk is the greatest breakfast in the world for a man who needs vigor and strength for a long day's work. The man that eats Quaker Oats plentifully and often is the man who does good work without excessive fatigue. There is a sustaining quality in Quaker Oats not found in other foods, and for economy it is at the head of the list. To meet needs of those in different climates Quaker Oats is packed in regular size packages and hermetically sealed tins; the latter for hot climates.
