

RIVERSIDE

INDEPENDENT WAREHOUSE

Farmers from Missouri have been shown and are now convinced that the Riverside is the place to sell tobacco. Our purpose and determination throughout the entire season has been to give each and every farmer an honest deal, correct weights, courteous treatment and the highest prices the market could afford. As to whether or not we have done this you are the judges and your verdict has been evidenced by the liberal patronage we have received for which we are duly grateful. Wishing for each and everyone who has sold tobacco on the floor of the Big Riverside a Merry Christmas, a jolly good time during the Holidays and a prosperous New Year, and hoping that you will come back to see us next season for we are in the warehouse business to stay. We are yours to serve

Farmers Mutual Tobacco Co.

FORD & HARRIS, Managers

P. S. Those of you who have tobacco still unsold bring us a load and give us a trial and we feel confident that you will be our regular customer next season. Your protection and not our gain is what we are in the business for

BIRTH OF THE MOON.

When the Earth Was a Sphere of Lava. Molten and Flattened.

The earth revolves on its axis once in twenty-four hours. Millions of years ago the day was twenty-two hours; millions of years before it was twenty-one hours. As we look backward into time we find the earth revolving faster and faster. There was a time ages ago, long before geology begins, when the earth was rotating in a day of five or six hours in length. In the remotest past the earth revolved in a day of about five hours. It could revolve no faster than this and remain a single unbroken mass.

It was at this time that the moon was born, separated, broken off from the parent mass of the earth. The earth was then a molten, flattened sphere of lava. Its whole body was fluid. The tides, which now are small, superficial and, so to say, local, were then universal and immense. They occurred at short intervals. The whole surface of our globe was affected. And the corresponding lunar tides in the fluid, molten moon were indefinitely greater still.

Our day is now twenty-four hours. The distance of the moon is now 240,000 miles. When our day was about five hours long the moon was in contact with the earth's surface. It had just broken away from its parent mass. As the length of the terrestrial day increased, so did the distance of the moon. The two quantities are connected by inextinguishable equations. If one varies, so must the other. Whenever the rotation time of a planet is shorter than the period of revolution of its satellite the effect of their mutual action is to accelerate the motion of the satellite and to force it to move in a larger orbit, to increase its distance, therefore.

The day of the earth is now shorter than the month—the period of revolution of the moon. The moon is therefore slowly receding from us, and it has been receding for thousands of centuries. But the day of the earth is, as we have seen, slowly growing longer. The finger of the tides is always pressing upon the rim of our huge fly-wheel and slowly but surely lessening the speed of its rotation. So long as the terrestrial day is shorter than the lunar month the moon will continue to recede from us—Harper's.
