Gupton-Smith.

Dickens, March 7th.—Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, was the scene of one of the most beautiful marriages of the season, when Miss Elizabeth Catherine Smith the popular young daughter of Mr. W. D. Smith became the wife of Mr. Ralph Nerwood Gupton.

The altar was banked with palms and ferns and on either side of it a pyramid of candles shed a soft glow throughout the church.

The ceremony was performed under an arch of evergreens, by the pastor of the bride, Bro. George M. Duke, in his inimitable manner.

Before the bridal party entered Miss Chesnia Whales sweetly sang "O Promise me." The bridal party entered by the grand old strains of Mendelssohn and while the solemn words were being pronounced which made them man and wife, the sweet strains of "Constance" filled the remotest recesses of the dear old church. After the solemn words were pronounced, Miss Sledge in her same artistic style played Lohengrin as the party filed out.

The party entered in the following order: First came the ushers—Mr. F. G. Parrish, Mr. Charles Williams Alexander, of Nashville, Tenn., and Mr. G. B. West. Then the following attendants, Miss Mary Eleanor Hollingsworth, Dr. Norman Smith, Miss Dossie M. Lancaster, Mr. Samuel Griffin, Miss Annie Richardson Swanson, Mr. G. C. Parrish, Miss Joseph Ella Smith, Mr. J. H. Wood, and Miss Eugenia Braswell and Mr. William J. Lancaster. Next came two bright attractive little girls, Miss Myrtle Parrish, as ring bearer, carrying the ring on a silver waiter and Miss Lucile Insoce carrying the license on a basket of lilies of the valley and ferns. These little girls wore white lingerie frocks, with pink sashes and bows. Miss Pauline Smith, of Louisburg, a cousin of the bride was maid of honor. She wore a white embroidered princess and carried an arm bequest of pink carnations and ferns. The groom entered with his best man, Mr. James Kearney Smith, of Nashville, and the bride entered with her maid of honor.

She was a fair picture of a pretty young bride in a lovely hand-embroidered messaline. She carried a luxuriant bouquet of brides roses tied with a long white sash.

The bride is a typical Southern girl and is a young woman of lovely traits of character and admired by a large circle of friends.

The groom is a prosperous young merchant of Gupton. He is esteemed as a man for his high honor and integrity.

As an evidence of their popularity they were recipients of many handsome presents of silver, china, brass, linen and cut glass.

An old fashioned Southern dinner was given the bridal party, the day before the marriage by the father of the bride.

Mrs. S. N. Nelms, sister of the groom, entertained at a beautifully appointed dinner Sunday evening, in honor of the bride and groom. Covers were laid for thirty-six guests. A large rustic basket of jonquils and narcissi formed the centre piece. The color scheme throughout the dining-room and parlors was white and green.

Rev. G. M. Duke to Speak.

Rev. G. M. Duke will deliver an address at the closing of the Sandy Creek School at the school house on Friday morning, March 18th, at 11 o'clock. The public is especially invited to attend and hear his address.

The banquet was given at the Louisburg Hotel, where the dining room had been decorated with the colors and emblems of the degrees in a very pleasing scheme. The Love You Should Feel For Your Farm.

We would have every farmer love his work even as the artist loves his work, and in this spirit, too, every farmer should love his farm itself as he would love a favorite horse or dog. He should know every rod of the ground, should know just what each acre is best adapted to, should feel a joy and pride in having every hill and valley look its best, and should be as much ashamed to have a field scarred with gullies as he would be to have a beautiful colt marked with lesions; as much ashamed to have a piece of ground worn out from ill treatment as to have a horse gaunt and bony from neglect; as much hurt at seeing his acres sick from wretched management as he would be at seeing his cows half starving from the same cause.

Love your ground—that piece of God's creation which you hold in fee simple. Fatten its proper parts as carefully as you would nurture an ailing Collier. Heal the washed, torn places in the hillside as you would the barb-scars on your pony. Feed with legumes and soiling crops and fertilizers the galled and barren patch that needs special attention; nurse it back to life and beauty and fruitfulness. Make a meadow of the bottom that is inclined to wash; watch it and care for it until the kindly root-masses heal every wound, and in one unbroken surface the "tides of grass break into foam of flowers" upon the outer edges. Don't forget even the forest lands. See that every acre of woodland has trees enough on it to make it profitable: "a good stand" of the timber crop as well as of every other crop. Have an eye to the beautiful in laying off the cleared fields—a tree here and there, but no wretched beggar's coat mingling of little patches and little rents: rather broad fields fully tended and of an nearly uniform fertility as possible, making of your growing crops, as it were, such a beautiful garment, whole and unbroken, to clothe the fruitful acres which God has given you to keep and tend as He gave the first Garden into the keeping of our first parents—Raleigh (N. C.) Progressive Farmer and Gazette.
