DONT BE SAND IN THE BEARINGS

The Successful man makes the impossible possible.
He is not discouraged by any combination or series of combinations which seem to be formed to obstruct his onward pathway.
He never shirks a duty or shifts responsibility, and in this way only success is achieved.
The successful man is never making excuses, and nine times out of ten you will find that the man who is an adept in making apologies lacks force enough to close a sale.
He makes up in excuses what he fails to achieve in efforts.
In the shuffle of life most men occupy just the place in business or society for which they are especially fitted and when each of us performs accurately and with essential skill the work which naturally befalls us, the day of the agitator and the meddler will be gone and the day of Paradise will have dawned with rosy promises of universal peace.

The incompetent insist that unusual luck is dealt out to the man who succeeds, for success comes by a fixed law, and not by luck or accident, but then the incompetents are always grouchily and fault-finding.
They are sand in the bearings, and because they, themselves, cannot accomplish what they desire they are sure that luck or some mysterious factor aids and assists the more successful man.
In other words, they are specially favored by fortune.
That may be, but the most successful men whom I know have not been speculative theorists.

During the past fifteen years I have built a business out of nothing with all the odds one could have against him. We have a strong assortment of Furniture, Pianos, Organs, Machines, Coffins and caskets and will promise to save you money if you will give us a call.

A Three Million Jack-Pot.
Anyone who knows Senator Gore will vouch for his honesty of purpose and his truthfulness. According to Senator Gore's testimony, one Hamon, the former Republican National Committeeman from Oklahoma, attempted to bribe him to prevent legislation that would virtually kill the McMurray contracts, for a $3,000,000 fee for the sale of the Indian coal and oil lands. Mr. Hamon denies it, but his denial will hardly convince sensible people that Senator Gore concocted the story. The evidence that corruption was afoot is strongly circumstantial, and in several respects is confirmed by the testimony of Senator Gore's Secretary and of his brother. Then, there is the entirely independent testimony of Representative Creager, that an attempt was made by Hamon to influence his vote by promises of a share in the "Jack-Pot." The committee of investigation must probe the matter to the bottom and not fail to take the testimony of the men "higher up," who are stated to be Vice-President Sherman and Representative Bird McGuire. Let no guilty man escape.
