BASEBALL NEXT WEEK.

MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY.

Raeford vs. Louisville—The First Series Promises Good Ball—Former Players—Let Everybody Attend

The first series of games this season will be played between Raeford and Louisville at Williamson park beginning on Monday and will continue through Wednesday. Among the players for Raeford we notice "Rube" Poole, Captain, and the McKeithans, and for Louisville Jim and Sam Turner and Smith, of Wake Forest. "Billiken" and "Runt" are already with us and will play.

Let everybody go out and see these games as they will be worth going to see.

Putting in Sewer.

The Town Commissioners are having a sewer pipe put in from the crossing of Church and Cross streets up Cross street to Elm street, where it will be turned and carried up Elm street.

More Pavement.

W. J. Grantham, of Raleigh, is putting down a concrete sidewalk on Main street side of the Clifton building. This will add greatly to the appearance of this property and we hope to see the old steps built of concrete and the sidewalk on Court street paved in the near future.

Elected Director.

Mr. R. Y. McAden, Cashier of the Farmers & Merchants Bank, was elected a Director of the State Bankers Association which met at Hendersonville, N. C., last week. This is a recognition of honor and it is well bestowed.

Purchases Mules.

The Committee appointed by the Township Road Trustees to purchase mules for the road work, returned from Richmond Wednesday where they bought twenty-eight, fine mules. This practically insures the early beginning of the road building.

Meeting at Methodist Church.

The meeting now in progress at the Methodist church is arousing much interest among the people of Louisville and will no doubt prove of much good. Rev. Raymond Browning, who is assisting Rev. R. W. Bailey, the pastor, is preaching some strong and telling sermons which are greatly appreciated by the many people who attend. The meeting will probably close next Sunday.

Dorsett-Terrell.

At the country home of the brides sister, Mrs. E. A. Kemp, on Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock Miss Florence Terrell was wedded to Mr. J. K. Dorsett.

The room was prettily decorated with ferns and palms and was lighted by candles. At the appointed hour to the notes of the wedding march played by Miss Alba Allen the bridal party entered. First came the groom accompanied by Mr. E. C. Sasser, his best man, then came Miss Annie Allen the maid of honor, wearing white lingerie gown and picture hat and carrying a bouquet of pink sweet peas. She was followed by the bride on the arm of her brother, Mr. T. T. Terrell.

The bride wore a green cloth going away gown and carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas. The impressive ring ceremony was spoken by Rev. L. W. Swopes and after congratulations and good wishes Mr. and Mrs. Dorsett left by automobiles for Franklinton and then to Spencer, their future home. Miss Terrell has many friends here who will wish her happiness in her wedded life. The groom is cashier of a bank at Spencer and is a young man of sterling character.

The marriage was attended only by immediate relatives of the bride.

Received Appointment.

Mr. J. R. Perry, of Mapleville, left yesterday for Washington City to take up the duties of Capital Policeman to which he was recently appointed by Hons. F. M. Simmons and E. W. Pou. Mr. Perry will make a good officer and we congratulate him upon being so fortunate as to receive the appointment.

What the Public Schools Must Do for the Negro.

We publish the following article written by Ephraim Dent, principal of the colored graded school of this place, with the hope that it may prove a benefit to the colored people.

"Much can be said for the private, but more for the public school. In the face of the facts the private school can never do what the public school must do to have useful citizens. The most successful people of the world are those who have been educated to high citizenship and Christianity. The negro had citizenship thrust upon him about forty-six years ago. At the ballot box, which in a few years proved to be a curse to him, he began to barter his rights and the rights of others. It would have been better for the race had the public school been set up in every section and prepared the Southern negro for citizenship among his true friends. The ballot and little education did him in many instances great harm. He got the idea in some way that he could make this journey of life without physical labor. This same idea carried with it the tendency to pilfer and loaf, and this pilfering and loafing has brought deep sorrow to many a home and crime and expense to the State. The negro must be trained to work and to work with his own hands. I don't know just how this comes about but nevertheless it is a fact, that fifty per cent of all the negroes show a disposition to the other negro that he is above work, matters how little education he has. It can be seen how this idea will run through a section or State like wild fire. I want to be a minister, doctor, lawyer or teacher, when these professions carry with them the wrong idea of life, what great harm is done to the poor ignorant negro. The true and faithful negro sees this in his profession and is trying to bring about a change of things. I want to say, positively in my judgment, that there is no probability that the humble negro will ever find a better place for this kind of training than in the public school and institutions that are properly looked after by the white citizenship of the State. The white man is cultured and refined, and he can help us to help ourselves, and when we have learned good citizenship from the training that may be given our children in the schools where the persons who are put in to teach are persons of industry, virtue sobriety and integrity, then will the public schools be turning from their moulds a secondary citizenship that will cease to migrate. E. N. DENT.

A Talk With Boys.

"Remember, my son," says Robert J. Burdette, "you have to work. Whether you handle a pick or pen, a wheelbarrow or a set of books, digging ditches or editing a paper, ringing an auction bell or writing funny things, you must work. If you look around you, you will see the men who are most able to live the rest of their lives without work are the men who work the hardest. Don't be afraid of killing yourself with overwork. It is beyond your power to do that on the sunnyside of thirty. They die sometimes, but it is because they quit work at 6 p. m. and don't get home till 2 a. m. It is the interval that kills, my son. The work gives you an appetite for your meals; it lends solidity to your slumbers; it gives you a perfect and grateful appreciation of a holiday.

"There are young men who do not work, but the world is not proud of them. It does not even know their names; it simply speaks of them as 'old So and so's boy's. Nobody likes them. The great busy world does not know that they are there. So find out what you want to be and do, and take off your coat and do it. The busier you are, the less harm you will be apt to get into, the sweeter will be your sleep, the brighter and happier your holidays, and the better satisfied will all the world be with you"—EX.

Death to Flies.

Dr. J. E. Malone, Superintendent of Health, gives us the following prescription which he says will kill every fly that gets in reach of it. The prescription follows:

Tablespoonful Formalin
Tablespoonful Milk
Tablespoonful Water
Mix and place in saucer. Lay a piece of bread across the saucer for the flies to light upon. Put this in your front and back porch. It must be remembered that this would be dangerous to a person to take internally.

Bingham's School.

In Col. Binkham's new catalogue he offers:

I. A free round trip ticket from anywhere within 1500 miles of Asheville to any parent who, after a careful inspection, is not convinced that, except for mere show, the Bingham $80,000.00 plant is the best and safest such parent ever saw.

II. He notes that the courses offered at Bingham aggregate 2.5 more "units" and average 9.5 more "units" than in any other school in the State, according to the Jan. "Bulletin" by Prof. Walker of the University.

First Cotton Bloom.

The first cotton bloom of this season was sent us by Horace Rodwell, of Sandy Creek township, on Monday. He says it was pulled Saturday.

Jeff Parish, colored, who lives at the old Phil Catlett place, brought in the second bloom on Tuesday morning.

Mr. Frank Glasgow, of Cedar Rock township sent in a fine cotton bloom on Tuesday morning of this week.

J. M. Sykes, of Cypress Creek township, brought us a fine red blossom on Wednesday morning.

J. B. Land, of Dunns township, sent us a white bloom Wednesday. Smith Bros., of Katesville, sent in two pretty white blooms on Wednesday afternoon.

R. F. Bunn, of Cypress Creek, township, brought in a cotton bloom Wednesday.

John Edwards, living at Dr. Floyd's in Harris township, brought in a nice cotton bloom on Wednesday.

Gray Davis, colored, of Cedar Rock township, sent in one on Wednesday morning.

W. S. Tharrington, of Dunn's township, brought in a fine full grown bloom Wednesday morning. George Shearlin, of Louisville township, was among the first to bring a cotton bloom to this office, coming in on Wednesday morning with a red one.

Caller—Well, Margie, how are you getting along in arithmetic at school?

Little Margie—Fine, I'm almost up to dismal fractions.

A Noble Woman Dead.

Many friends and loved ones are very much grieved in the loss of Mrs. Bill Winston. She was born in Wake county on March the 6th, 1831. She joined the Baptist church at Rolesville when she was about twelve or fourteen years of age, and was baptized into the church by Rev. James Parefoy. In a few years she moved her membership to Flat Rock Baptist church in Franklin county, where she remained a faithful member until her death, which came in June 1911. Mrs. Winston was married to Mr. Bill Winston on March the 8th, 1851, and was one of the best companions and most lovable mothers that ever lived. For sixty long years her married life was full of the very best traits of character, in her family and community. All who knew her could not help having a high regard for her noble and independent spirit. No woman ever made a better wife, mother and neighbor. To know her was to love and respect her in the highest terms of honor.

Go with me to the home of sister Winston and see that busy, bent form but ever faithful as wife and mother, and you will get a true conception of a Noble woman's business. When young to get the children off to school and to hunt up things when they are lost and to see that dinner is ready, and to go through all the annoyances and vexations of housekeeping. No woman was ever more faithful in all these noble home duties than sister Winston.

Now the sun of the new sweet home. But oh, how changed the old form will be! Her cheek smoothed into the flesh of a little child. Her stooped posture lifted into immortal symmetry. Her foot here so feeble, there with the sprightliness of a bounding roe.

Both pastor and members of Flat Rock church bow in the greatest sympathy for Bro. Winston in the loss of his dear companion. Also with children and grand children in the loss of a mother and grand mother.

Youngsville Items.

D. W. Spivey spent last Sunday afternoon and evening in Louisville.

Jno. F. Mitchell spent last Monday in Raleigh on business.

Miss Noi Daniels, of Zebulon, is visiting Miss Hattie Perkinson this week.

Frank Timberlake spent Sunday in Rolesville.

M. Z. Pearce, of near Rolesville, was in town last Monday on business.

B. G. Mitchell spent last Monday in the capital city on business.

Messrs. Herman and Genadus Winston came home last Saturday from Roanoke Rapids where they have been for sometime exhibiting their excellent skill in baseball.

The Mead Cycle Company has been doing good business in Youngsville this season placing their bicycles.

On last Friday night Miss Armanda Winston gave one of the most delightful entertainments given in Youngsville in sometime. It was given in honor of Miss Eugenia Braswell, of Castalia, who has been visiting Youngsville for sometime. About 10:30 the guests were invited to the dining room that was very elaborately decorated with ferns and flowers, where the most delicious refreshments were served. At a late hour the guests departed proclaiming Miss Armanda a most charming hostess.

Earl Underwood spent last Saturday and Sunday nights in Franklinton.

Miss Virginia Jones, of near Louisville is visiting relatives here this week.

J. W. Woodlief, our delegate to the State Convention of the Retail Merchants Association, returned last Friday reporting a very pleasant trip and everything in Hendersonville booming.

Dr. R. E. Timberlake returned last Saturday from Charlotte after attending the State Medical Convention.

J. E. Thomas, of Louisville, was with us last Monday.

Mrs. R. E. Timberlake and little Henry Thomas are visiting Mrs. C. E. Reitzel in High Point this week.

Mrs. F. A. Cheatham and Mrs. C. C. Cheatham are visiting in Salisbury this week.

Chief J. E. Winston says he is getting very tired of keeping house alone. His wife is visiting relatives in Bann.

On last Monday night at her beautiful country home, Miss Gertrude Winston charmingly entertained, in honor of Miss Eugenia Braswell, of Castalia, who is the guest of Miss Armanda Winston.

The house was beautifully decorated with ferns and other potted plants. About 10:30 the guests repaired to the dining room where delicious ices were served. At a late hour the guests departed declaring Miss Winston a most charming hostess.

C. C. Winston spent last Wednesday in Raleigh on business.

Miss Lillian Winston returned home last Monday after several days visiting in Franklinton.

Mrs. Henry Avent and daughters Misses Estelle and Lou Spencer, of Rocky Mount, are visiting Mrs. M. V. Cooke this week.

R. C. Underwood has been very busy at his "Hendiary" for the past week.

J. W. Winston says he doesn't know which affects his "top story" the worst; the hot weather or the flies.

F. M. M.

Castalia Items.

A pretty and impressive home marriage was solemnized Tuesday afternoon over in Franklin, Rev. Mr. Lee of Rocky Mount, officiating. The contracting parties were Mr. D. C. Fisher, of Nash, and Miss Mary, the charming and popular daughter of Mr. D. T. Hollingsworth, a thrifty and successful planter of the Redbud section. This is a prominent young couple and the writer wishes them a long life full of joy.

Three automobiles bringing a dozen business men representing the Chamber of Commerce of Henderson came down last week. They are interested in building a railroad from Henderson to this place. The necessary sum has been agreed upon, a charter will soon be granted, and it is expected that permanent organization and work will begin inside of sixty days. The Henderson and Castalia railroad will be its name and this place will be its terminus.

The required number of boxes has been secured and it is expected that the Postoffice Department will soon establish another rural free delivery starting from here. This will be route No. 2 and will serve many people who have practically been without mail facilities for some time.

We regret to note the poor health of Mr. Rufus May, who is spending sometime with his brother, Rev. G. W. May. We trust he may soon be restored.

Our road committee purchased two fine mules from Leonard Bros., yesterday. They will be used on our roads and soon Castalia will have as fine thoroughfares as can be found anywhere.

Miss Annie Sickle returned from Halifax yesterday accompanied by Miss Blanche Jones, who will spend sometime with friends here.

W. J. Lancaster is perhaps the best farmer in this section. He is a Franklin county boy, is matrimonially inclined and has already sold several tons of home raised hay. This system of farming is the only road to success and plenty.

PLAIN TOM.

Ingleside Items.

The crops in this section are looking fine.

We are getting some nice showers now.

W. C. Robinson sends us a cotton bloom which was pulled on the 28th.

Rev. G. W. Starling filled his regular appointment at Trinity church Sunday. Rev. Mr. Hall, presiding Elder of this district, preached a rattling good sermon.

With best wishes. R. C. W.
