Pleasant Evening Reveries.—A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide

CRUDE THOUGHTS FROM THE EDITORIAL PEN

Let young girls be thoroughly impressed with the fact that on themselves, in a large degree, depends the success of the men they marry. Let them know how to cook, giving them a thorough course in the kitchen. Let them begin where their mothers left off, and we shall have a generation of girls strong, hopeful, ambitious and self-reliant, that will elevate the men, and make a harder and more aggressive people, and thousands of firesides happier and better.

The first question a man asks when he sees a girl flirting is whether she is respectable or not; it raises a doubt at once. This being the case no modest girl can afford to indulge in the pastime. When the down is brushed from a peach its beauty is so marred that it can never be restored, and when a young girl throws lightly aside that sweet and modest reserve so becoming to a maiden, and which so elevates her and enables her to command the respect of all, she loses the great charm and becomes rather cheap and common, to use no rash terms.

There must be no drones in the home if it is to be the happy place and there must be no inordinate selfishness. An idle person and a selfish person will disturb the peace of the whole family. While there must be loyalty and unity, there must also be great freedom for the expression of personal tastes and respect for individual activity.

Few people realize how much the little attention of every day life mean to their associates in the home, the church, the business place. It is generally a lack of consideration which makes one forget the tiny pleasantries; but lack of consideration is really one form of selfishness, and selfishness is not considered a desirable quality. Remember that the little things of life either good or bad, count for more with those we love than we ever know, and we should be watchful of our actions and our words.

Many a girl without the slightest talent for music is running a piano who should be making bonnets or bread; and many a boy is studying for a learned profession whose proper sphere is the machine shop of the mill; many a man is splitting up churches who ought to be doing good service in some institution of learning, teaching or working on a farm, and many a woman is trying in vain to be a leader of society when she should be a model housewife in her own home.

Some men and women have easy times but that does not mean happy times. The easy men and women do not look as might be expected. They struggle under the load of ease. When they laugh they only make believe laugh. Having such an easy time they become lazy. Their bones become stiff; their heads become clogged up and their hearts become hard. If the inhabitants of "Easy street" had to scratch for a living the result would be that they would be less troubled with dyspepsia.

We like to sing the praises of the sisterhood who remain unmarried that they might administer to aged parents. The brutal world calls these self-sacrificing ones peculiar or singular, but if you had had as many annoyances as they had had, Xantippo would have been an angel compared with you. It is easier to take care of five rollicking, rumping children, than of one childish old man. Among the best women are those who allowed the bloom of life to pass away while they were caring for their parents. While other maidens were sound asleep they were soaking the old man's feet or tucking up the covers around the invalid mother. While other maidens were in the cotillion they were dancing attendance upon rheumatism, and spreading plasters for the lame back of the septuagenarian, and heating catnip tea for insomnia.

TRAIN THE GIRLS.

When a girl is ten years old she should be given household duties to perform, according to her size and strength, for which a sum of money should be paid her weekly. She needs a little pocket money and the knowledge how to spend it judiciously, which can so well be given by a mother to her little girl. She should be required to furnish a part of her wardrobe with this money. For instance, if she gets ten cents a week she should purchase all her stockings or all her gloves, as her mother may decide; and doing this under the mother's supervision, she will soon learn to trade with judgment and economy. Of course, the mother will see to it that the sum is sufficient to do this and yet leave a trifle for the child to spend as she pleases. This will supply a healthy stimulus; it will give her a proper ambition and pride in her labor and the ability to use money properly. As she grows older these household duties should be increased, with the proportionate increase of money paid for the performance of them. We know of a lady who divided the wages of a servant among her three daughters. There is a sympathetic arrangement of their labor, which is done with a thoroughness and alacrity rarely found, either with a hired girl or daughter who feels that she has to do it with nothing to encourage or stimulate her in the work.

Poverty is uncomfortable, but nine cases out of ten, the best thing that can happen to a man is to be tossed overboard and compelled to sink or swim for himself.
