

MR. BOSS MAKES A MORNING CALL AND---GETS LICKED!

WORLD COLOR PUBLISHED BY ST. LOUIS, MO.

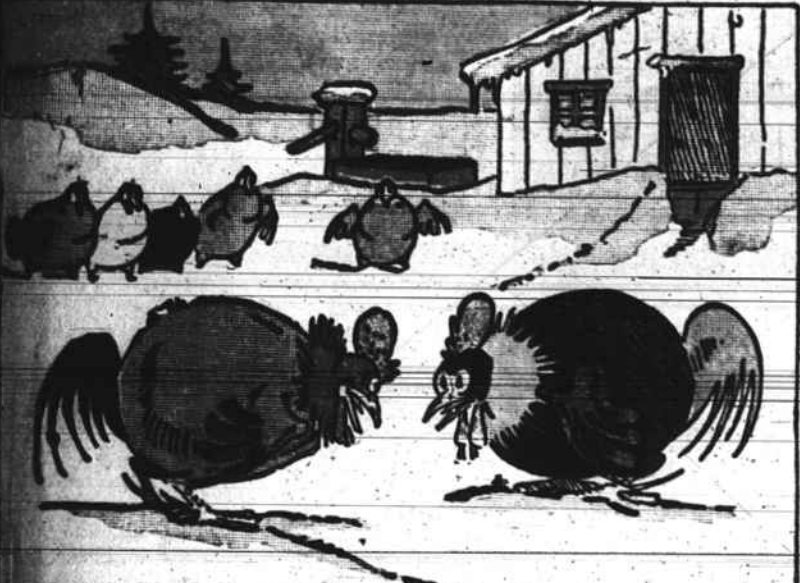

"I THINK I'LL GO OVER AND CALL ON THOSE CHICKENS ACROSS THE ROAD!"

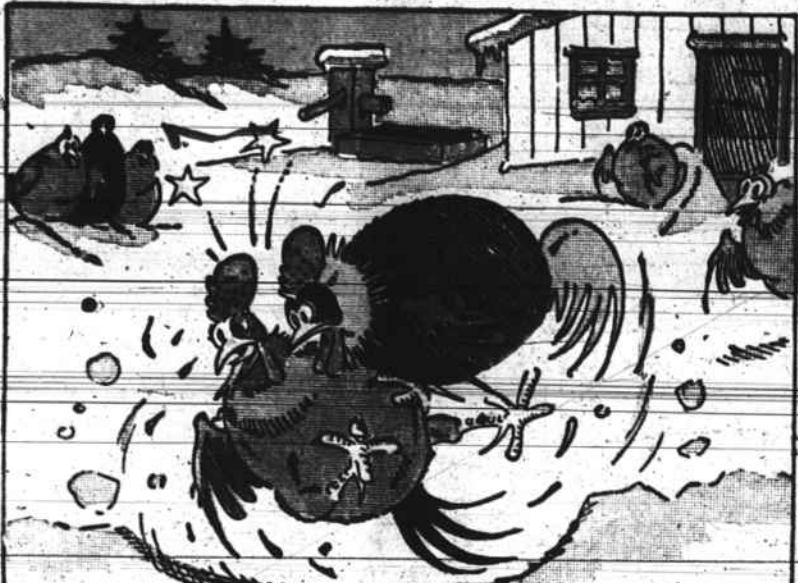

"HELLO, GIRLS! NICE LARGE MORNING ISN'T IT?"

"BEAT IT, STRANGER! HERE COMES BLACKIE THE BOSS OF OUR BARNYARD!"

"HAAAAA!!"

"ZOWIE! 'OUCH!'"

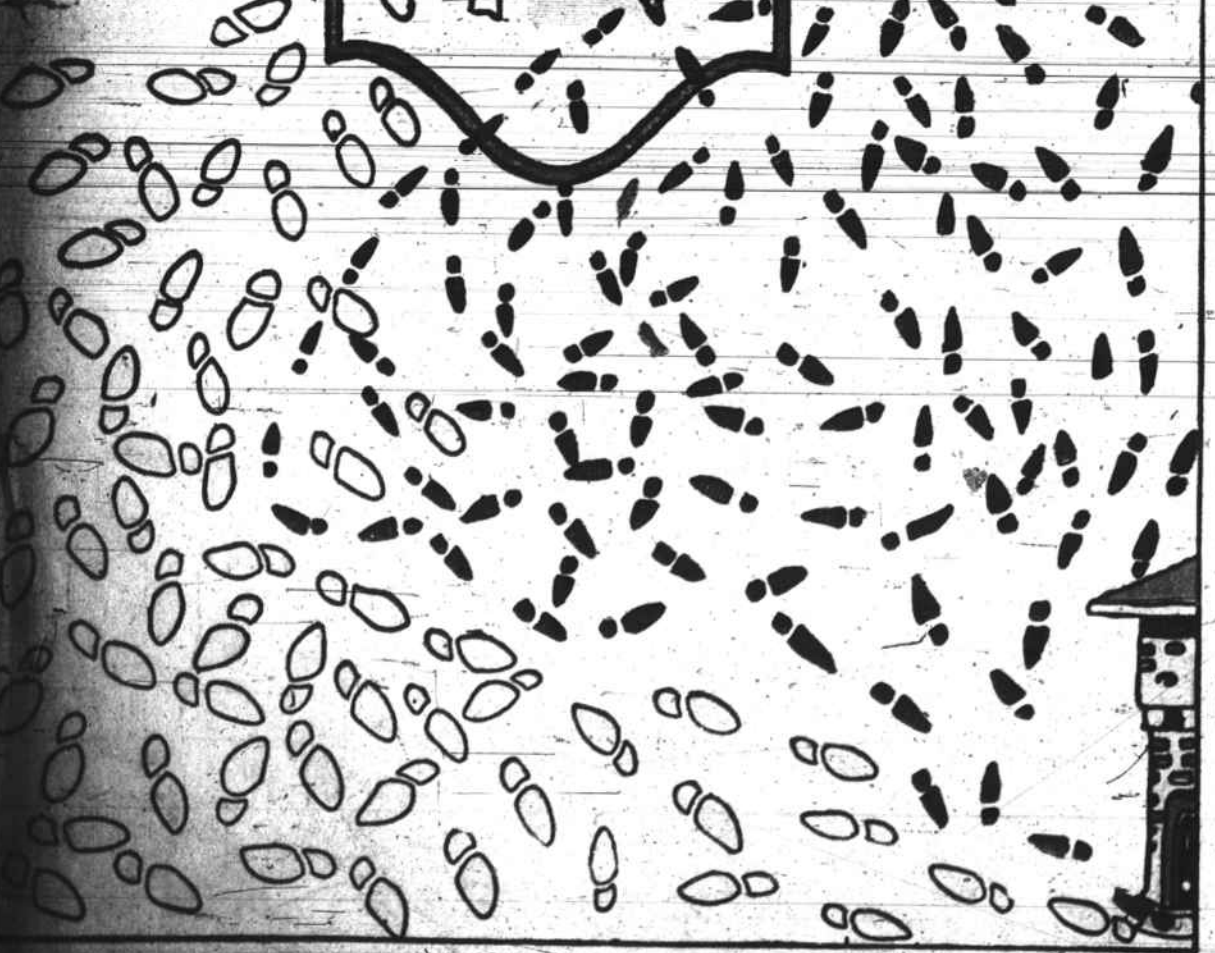

"NICE WAY TO TREAT A CALLER TO JUMP ON HIM WITH STEEL SPURS!"

Here's a dandy puzzle for you to solve. Miss Ethel Engle had long insisted that her brother take her busting with him. One day he consented and they started out but after waiting for some time and finding no signs they decided to start for home. However, they found this wasn't such an easy task as the snow had covered up their tracks. After much wandering they finally got home again. Take a pencil and follow the tracks from the foot of each and see if you can see the way they got home. Remember you must not follow the tracks that point toward the house, as they are the ones they made during their wandering. It's easy.

CAN THEY FIND THE WAY HOME?

ANNA BELLE AND PAPA GO TO THE THEATER

Dear Friends—Say, I saw the funniest show the other night. Papa took me to the vaudeville show for a reward for making 100 in department and we had the best time. I enjoyed every one of the different acts, but I think the funniest show was a young lady dressed like a princess wore the best. The lady sang some very pretty songs and we cheered her each time. Did you ever go to the theater with your mother or father? Anna Belle Sewing Society yet? Please write and tell me how you are getting along with it and I'll be glad to give you any suggestions I can. Next time I have another dandy surprise for you—no, don't ask me what it is now, for it wouldn't be a surprise then, would it? Don't forget to write and tell me about your dress me over this paper. Lovingly,
Anna Belle
