Now Paint

Strike when the iron is hot and paint when the property needs it. They paint ships a dozen times a year yet some of them, every voyage. What for, do you think? To look nice and get business.

A livery keeps its carriages painted and varnished and washed, to look nice and get business.

A man with a house for sale or to let, does it up and Devoe is the paint.

There is more in paint than to keep out water. Paint for looks and you needn't think about water. A fresh coat of paint once a year is about as good for his credit as paying his debts. But the man whose fences and buildings new very likely has no debts.

Home Circle

IT IS HOME.

Many young men standing among the most tremendous realities, have their eyes half shut or entirely closed. A mighty defence for a young man is a good home. Some of our readers look back with tender satisfaction to their early home, it may have been rude rustic, hidden among the hills, and architect or upholsterer never planned or adorned it. But all the fresco on princely walls never looked so enticing to you as those rough-hewn rafters. You can think of no park or arbor of trees planted on a fashionable country seat so attractive as the plain brook that ran in front of the old farm house and sang under the weeping willows. No barred gateway adorned with statue of bronze, and swung open by obsequious porter in full dress, has half the glory of the old swing gate. Many of you have a second dwelling place, your adopted home, that also is sacred forever. There you built the first family altar. There your children were born. All those trees you planted. That room is sacred, because once in it, over the hot pillow, flapped the wing of death. Under that roof you expect, when your work is done, to lie down and die. You try with many words to tell the excellency of the place, but you fail. There is only one word in the English language that can describe your feeling. It is "home."

A REPLY.

Mr. Editor:—In starting out into life there is proffered to me two maxims that are said to lead to success: "Do your whole duty in whatever state of life you may be placed," and "There is the White House; get into it if you can." Which shall I choose? My young friend, to me these two maxims indicate contentment and ambition, and would reply: there is no need of both in this day and age to attain success. Aim to advance worldly position if possible the best road to success is devotion to your present duty. Aim to do your work with whole souled and contented thoroughness; this may lead you to higher spheres of life. The important question is not where you stand in the world, but what you really are; and this is determined not by the outside of circumstances of wealth or rank, but by the character within. Get riches and honor if you can, but do not seek them simply for their own sake; there are more precious things. The best prize in life can be won by the most humble citizen. A useful career and the love and esteem of those around you, are more than titles and millions; a noble character is a brighter crown than gold and jewels.

THE VALUE OF KIND WORDS.

Let the young who weekly read this column never lose an opportunity to say a kind word to their parents. Your parents have planned for your best interests all these years. They may sometimes (their nervous system all used up by the cares, and losses, the disappointments, the worries of life) be more irritable than they ought to be, and they probably have faults which have become oppressive as the years go by. But those eyes, long before they took on spectacles, were watching for your welfare, and their hands, not as smooth and more deeply lined than once, have done for you many a good days work. Life has been to them more of a struggle than you shall ever know about, and much of the struggle has been for you, and how much they are wrapped up in your welfare you will never appreciate.

Have you by word or gift or behavior, expressed your thanks? Or if you cannot quite get up to saying face to face have you written it some holiday salutation? The time will soon pass and they will be gone out of your sight and their ears will not hear, and their eyes will not see. If you owe them any kindness of deed or any word of appreciation, why do you not say so? How much we might all of us save ourselves in the matter of regrets if we did not delay until too late in expression of obligation that would have made the last years of earthly life more attractive. The grave is deaf, and epitaphs of cold marble cannot make reparation.

THE NEW WOMAN

If the new woman comes as the creator planned when he "created man of his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them," by all that is good and holy, by all that is peaceable pure and praiseworthy, et her come, and welcome. Let her voice be heard not only in the house but on the house top, let her place and power be recognized, carefully considered, and joyfully accepted and adopted, with a rising vote of the "party of the other part" unanimously expressed. If she comes possessed of the precious instincts of motherly affection, of sisterly devotion, homelike emotions and tendencies; of desire mutual help and protection to the wayfarers on the highway of human and earthly endeavor. God speed the day that places her in the front ranks of human effort and worldly progress. A womanly woman has a place which no man nor woman nor saint nor angel, can ever displace. Here is the seat of honor in the front ranks of the better elements of soul being, or religious sentiment, of purity, of saintliness, and of the home.

There was never a time when people appreciated the real merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy more than now. This is shown by the increase in sales and voluntary testimonials from persons who have been cured by it. If you or your children are troubled with a cough or a cold give it a trial and become acquainted with its good qualities. For sale by all dealers.

His Legacy

A prominent congressman decided to turn over a part of his law practice to his son. Shortly afterwards the young man entered the office and with his face beaming with pleasure exclaimed:

"Father you know that Wilbour case you'd been trying for the last ten years?"

The congressman admitted that he did.

"Well," said the young man triumphantly, "I have settled it!"

"Settled it!" reiterated his father "Settled it! Why, my boy, I gave you that case as an annuity!"

CORTRIGHT METAL SLATE

Roofs put on twenty-six years ago are as good as new to-day, and have never needed repairs. What is the result? Why practically every other shingle manufacturer is trying to imitate it, so be not deceived—look for the words "Cortright Reg. U. S. Pat. Off." embossed on the corrugation. It is put there for your protection. Accept no substitute.
