REVIVAL MEETING AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Evangelist W. L. Walker and Prof. E. L. Wolslagel Assisting Pastor.

FIRST SERVICE SUNDAY MORNING.

These Gentlemen are Great Workers and Have Done a Noble Work for the Cause They Represent in the State.

Great interest is felt in the approaching evangelistic meetings at the Louisville Baptist Church, which begins Sunday 11 a. m. and will continue indefinitely, at least for two weeks, and longer, if the interest in the meetings seem to justify it. Pastor Walter M. Gilmore was peculiarly fortunate in being able to secure Dr. W. L. Walker, of Charlotte, and Prof. E. L. Wolslagel, of Bellevue, Ohio, to assist him in these meetings. Dr. Walker is an evangelist of wide experience, thoroughly sane and safe in his methods. He is a Biblical scholar of pronounced ability, a very attractive speaker, and a man of winning personality.

Mr. Wolslagel is endowed with an unusually fine voice, and has achieved great success in training and directing chorus choirs for such meetings.

These gentlemen have been yoke-fellows in the evangelistic work for a number of years, and have held very successful meetings in many of the leading churches of the south. They have recently held fruitful meetings in the First Baptist churches, of Wilson, Mt. Airy and Hickory in this State.

All denominations and those not members of any church are cordially invited to attend the meetings and cooperate in every possible way.

Meetings daily at 8:30 a. m. and 8 p. m.

Supt. Joyner to County Boards.

To the members of the county boards of education, who will enter upon the duties of their office July 7, Dr. J. Y. Joyner, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, today directed a strong letter, urging them to observe in their selection of county superintendents only the public good. Dr. Joyner urges them to elect without fear, without prejudice, political or sectarian, and to choose the best man, whether he comes from the county in which the office is held or not.

For the first time in the history of the state women will serve as school committeemen, and Dr. Joyner urges the selection of men and women of intelligence and good business qualifications, who are known to be in favor of public education, as required by law, and will take an active interest in the schools and have the courage to discharge their duties, especially in the selecting of teachers, without fear or favor. No politics should enter into the selection of committees.

Dr. Joyner calls the attention of school boards to the fact that the compulsory attendance law is effective this year, and urges the boards to elect attendance officers who are interested in education, who are in sympathy with compulsory attendance and who will be active and tactful in the enforcement of the law. Attendance officers will be named for each township in a county.

The attendance officer will also be charged with taking an annual school census, and Dr. Joyner urges the census taken on or before September 1. Dr. Joyner's letter refers to the six month's school law, and the $400,000.00 appropriated to equalize the terms. He thinks this fund will assure a minimum term of five months the first year, the counties of course being required to make up for the balance.

A Romantic Wedding.

Monday morning at the residence of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Leonard, who reside near this place at Mr. Webb's saw mill, Miss Ruth Leonard and Mr. L. S. Clark were joined together in the bond of holy wedlock, Rev. Walter M. Gilmore, of the Louisville Baptist Church officiating. The wedding was to have taken place last Thursday in Raleigh, after which the young couple had planned to take an extended bridal tour. But two weeks ago Miss Leonard was stricken with a very serious case of appendicitis, which upset all plans, at least for the time being. But Mr. Clark was not to be thwarted easily, for too much was at stake. The time had come for him to return to his work. An indefinite postponement of an event which possibly meant untold felicity to both parties, did not look good. So the young lovers talked the matter over early in the morning and decided without consulting physician, parents or any body else, that they would be married at once at all hazards.

The marriage license and the minister were secured and in the house before the parents had any inkling of what was soon to take place. All parental objections were soon dissipated, and the ceremony proceeded with due solemnity.

Miss Clark is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard, is a graduate of Sunnyside College of Dinwiddie, Va., and highly accomplished. Mr. Clark is a rising young railroad man in the employ of the Atlantic Coast Line, with headquarters at Rock Mount.

Mr. Justice Gives Barbecue.

Mr. Frank W. Justice gave a most delightful barbecue to a number of his friends at his beautiful home near Louisville last Tuesday.

Mr. Justice left nothing undone that could add to the pleasure and comfort of his guests, and everyone present enjoyed the treat immensely.

Those present were Drs. R. F. Yarboro and C. H. Banks, Messrs. W. E. White, G. L. Crowell, K. P. Hill, R. O. Bissett, Wm. Freeman, Jim Mitchiner, Will Mitchiner, G. C. Mitchiner, Malcolm McKinne, M. S. Clifton, J. P. Timberlake.

Will Not Build.

Since our last issue the Planters Warehouse Company have perfected arrangements whereby they will occupy the Hart Warehouse on Main Street. With this change the company will withdraw their contracts that had already been let for the building of the large warehouse on the south side of the river. The company is getting things in readiness for the coming season. Read their advertisement in this issue.

Bunn 8, Justice 5.

Bunn, N. C., June 21. Bunn knocked Harris out of the box in the first inning of today's contest, and went in to win the game with a four run lead. Boothe relieved Harris and did good pitching until the eighth. Floyd for Bunn held the Justice team at his mercy throughout the contest. Arnold for Bunn featured with the stick and stallings for Justice.

Score by innings: R Justice 0 0 1 2 0 1 1 0—5 Bunn 4 0 0 1 0 0 3—8 Batteries: Bunn, Floyd and Hagwood; Justice, Harris, Boothe and Parrish. Struck out, by Floyd 9, by Boothe 9. Umpire, Alford.

Rev. R. L. Davis in Louisville.

At the Baptist church Sunday night Rev. R. L. Davis, of Raleigh, superintendent of the North Carolina Anti-Saloon League, spoke to the combined congregations of all the churches in town, showing the effects of the Webb Bill and the Search and Seizure Law on the enforcement of the present prohibition law in this state.

Mr. Davis asserted that, with the proper kind of officers, it is now easier to enforce the prohibition law than any other law on the Statute books, since the Webb bill and search and seizure law have become operative.

There is now no excuse for lax law enforcement. He was very sanguine in the prophecy that inside of fifteen years nation-wide prohibition would be written in the Federal constitution.

The prohibition forces are already lined up with that object in view. Mr. Davis preached at the Methodist church Sunday morning.

Wood-Jones.

Mr. B. F. Wood together with a large number of friends left here early Wednesday morning for Cedar Rock where he was happily married to Miss Lillian Jones in a beautiful and most impressive ceremony by Rev. G. M. Duke. As a descriptive article has been promised the TIMES for our next issue we will suffice it to say that this was one of the most beautiful events of its kind solemnized in the pretty little country Church at Cedar Rock in many years, and the extreme popularity of the contracting parties made it a most interesting occasion for a large number.

The bride is one of the county's most accomplished young ladies and is the daughter of Mr. S. A. Jones one of Cedar Rock's most substantial farmers. The groom is a very popular young man of this town and holds a responsible position with McKinne Bros. Co. They have hosts of friends who extend best wishes and congratulations.

The bride and groom left on the northbound train for an extended bridal trip, taking in many of the northern cities.

They will present several short plays, "Seeing the Elephant," a fine temperance play; "Stick to Your Word," a comedy full of fun; "Jumbo Jum," whose comicallities are very amusing; "Why we never married," one of the best of pieces. There are also two beautiful drills and thrilling music.

Buys Drug Co.

Mr. Henry G. Mitchell, who recently received license as a registered pharmacist, informs us that Mr. William B. Barrow, son of Franklin county's Clerk of the Superior Court, and himself have purchased the Star Drug Co. Inc., of Star, N. C. They expect to take hold within the next few days. These young men are deserving and painstaking and have many friends in Louisville and Franklin county who will learn with much interest their venture into the business world and wish for them much success.

Overlooked.

In our write up of the proceeding of the laying of the corner stone the edition inadvertently overlooked the name of Col. W. L. McGhee, who rode in line with Adjutant General Young and others. Col. McGhee has been and is now one of the strongest advocates of the erection of a confederate monument in Franklin county and we offer to him and his many friends, of which number the editor of the TIMES is glad to be numbered, our apologies for the omission.

Capture Moonshine Outfit.

Deputy Collector R. J. Lewis and Deputy Marshall C. G. Hamlet captured and destroyed a moonshine outfit near Pocomoke in Franklin county last Friday, which consisted of one 75-gallon copper still, cap and worm, sixteen fermenters, 2,000 gallons of beer, five sacks of meal, jugs, buckets and measures. The plant was a new one, and had probably been in operation only a short time. One man was found at the still, but he made good his escape after a wind-burning chase by the revenue officers.—News-Observer.

Heavy Wind and Rain.

During the past week heavy wind and rain storms have visited many sections of the county among which were Cedar Rock, Bunn, and Franklin. The roads and groves in the vicinity of Cedar Rock suffered heavy damage—the storms was said to be the worst that has ever visited that section in the recollection of its oldest citizens. At Franklin it is reported that the tops of some chimneys were blown away. Considerable blow over and washout was the experience at Bunn. However we have heard of no deaths or casualties to human or animal life.

There seems to have been more storms following in such close proximity to each other than can be recalled in many years, and where the damage to crops has not been general it has been exceedingly heavy in many sections.

The Cultivation Of Corn.

Successful corn culture depends as much upon the "know how" as does success in any other business. Of course, a deep, humus-filled soil is the first consideration, but much depends upon the cultivation given the corn after it is up. The farmer who understands and practices the best principles of corn growing, who knows the root system, the movements of soil moisture and the uses of soil mulches, will make a good corn crop in spite of adverse seasons of rainfall and drought. The one who does not understand these things attributes his failures to the wet weather, the dry weather, the hot weather, the cold weather, or something else the effects of which he should be able to obviate. "THE VALUE OF A WOMAN"

An Illustrated Lecture at Methodist Church by Rev. A. D. Wilcox.

A GREAT LESSON TAUGHT

Also We See Ourselves as Others See Us, and We Look Especially Good.

Last Tuesday night at the Methodist church was the time and the occasion looked forward to with much interest by the people of Louisville. It was the occasion of the illustrated lecture by Rev. A. D. Wilcox, upon the subject, "The Value of a Woman." To say it was fine don't express it. It was everything more. The depth of its teaching was clearly a problem, and presented lessons that should be long remembered by all whose privilege it is to see it. Besides being a wonderful plea for assistance in helping in the erection of the addition to Louisville Female College in particular and the education of our daughters in general it was about the strongest biblical lesson the writer ever witnessed, and the enthusiasm with which its first presentation here and its presentations elsewhere were received stamps the approval of success to the wonderful genius of the pastor in whose charge this work is placed and by whose efforts the lecture is being given, Rev. A. D. Wilcox. The church with all the Sunday School rooms thrown open was largely filled and the lecture was opened with prayer by Rev. W. M. Gilmore, of the Baptist Church. The lights having been adjusted a few general but pretty views were thrown upon the canvass while the pastor was making a few explanatory remarks to get the audience acclimated, and ready to receive the treat that was on its way. Mr. Wilcox announced that he had divided his lecture into five parts respectively. Women of ill fame, Christian Women, Women who had become great mothers, Women of work, and Women of today. He strongly contrasted the influence of the women of ill fame, showing how they had not only wicked nations, homes and individuals, but had been a barrier to all that was good, moral, or christlike and that which made life worth living, with the christian women whose influence could be easily traced to all things that pertained to the welfare of republics, people and moral christian conditions the world over. He presented scenes of foreign countries showing how the women toil and earn a livelihood by the sweat of their brow, and many scenes proving the value of a good christian mother in a home and the influence of such a mother on her children. All through the scenes he kept the interests of his hearers at the greatest tension with his interesting bits of history and explanations of each and every individual picture. The last division of his lecture dealt with scenes in Louisville and those in particular touching the interests of the College. This was the time we saw ourselves as others will and have seen us. With proper apologies for the vanity herein contained we could not believe we looked so good. The scenes were excellent, but in earnest did not exaggerate in the least the surroundings we enjoy. Those of the college and the history thereof were greatly enhanced by the presence of so many beautiful young ladies who came from far and near to be instructed in this old historic college, which has won an enviable reputation in the field of education. The picture of the late M. S. Davis, who for thirteen years so admirably filled the position of President of this noble institution, brought pleasant memories to many in the audience. During the presentation of the local scenes a view of the court square was shown and the spot pointed out where the first Confederate flag was raised which was followed by the picture of the designer of the flag, Mr. O. R. Smith, who only a short while ago passed to the great beyond, and then the picture of the flag itself.

We do not feel that it is necessary to offer an apology for this description of the lecture on Tuesday night as all those who witnessed it realized that real justice could not be done in several volumes—even if at all. It was a success in every application of the word, still it is impossible to imagine a limit to its educational possibilities. It was a forcible example of where you saw what you had heard. After completing the lecture an offering to assist in defraying the expenses of the lecture was taken which netted quite a neat sum. Rev. Mr. Wilcox and his assistant Mr. D. F. Smithwick left Wednesday morning to fill several engagements. In all dates have been made for a complete six weeks course.

A severe wind and hail storm struck the Bearpord section of the county Sunday afternoon and did considerable damage to the crops. Hail stones fell thick and the older people of that community say that it was the worst storm they ever saw.—Gold Leaf.
