Why not have a meeting of the chamber of commerce.

The chamber of commerce, can do a lot for Louisburg; if it will only get to work.

"Not dead, but sleepth" will easily apply to the Louisburg chamber of commerce.

The press reports say Huerta has made formal announcement of his intentions to resign.

There are still a few sections in the county that have not been blessed with the rains we have.

The battle cry in the fight against disease is cleanliness. Clean things are safe. Dirty things are dangerous.

In the fight against most, if not all, of the ills of life, it is prevention, rather than cure, that counts the most.

The illustrated lectures at the Methodist church, are of a high educative order and well worth the time to go to see.

If the money spent for whiskey could be devoted to public health work, our dreams of a non-disease land would soon be realized.

The Medical Depository report shows sale of $919.00 for the month on May, with a gross profit of $80.00 and the prices are above these charged at the dispensary.

What a difference it would make in the appearance of Louisburg, if the merchants would display their goods inside their stores, instead of on the sidewalks.

Now that the fiscal year has ended why not lets have an annual statement from the town. The officials have been promising these and we see no better time than now.

When the Medical Depository was first established it was a very strange occurrence for the sales to run over 200 per month. Now it runs around $1,000.00 quite a difference isn't it.

There was evidently a lot of sickness in the county during the month of April, if the report of the Medical depository, is a true indication. About 1000 prescriptions were filed during that month.

The service relative to health and sanitation is secured from Chicago, and are recognized the best made. The people of Louisburg should go out. The program for next week will be found in another column.

Supt. Beck informs us that from now on the light plant will give a twenty-four hour service, with the exception of during heavy electric storms, through which the service will be discontinued, until after the installation of the new plant.

Hon. H. E. Norris, was nominated to succeed himself as solicitor of this district on last week without opposition. He is a fine man and a splendid official, and our people are to be congratulated upon the selection.

The law and order league seems to be interested in the present amount of whiskey sales in Louisburg. It is nothing but right that some one should feel enough interest in the enforcement of laws to see that the law is complied with, not only in one but all instances.

The people of Dunn's township are to be congratulated upon the effort they are making to get a good roads system. This will do more towards the improvement of the township than anything else at present.

Supt. R. C. Beck informs us that the reason why the water was so muddy on Tuesday was due to a new man at the plant Monday night. He says that immediately after discovering the trouble he again washed out the standpipe, since which the water has been all right.

Hon. Edward W. Fox Nominated by Acclamation.

now was the time for all good men to stand together. When was that not time? He also said that there was poverty all over the county. When was that not true? Roosevelt had been president for seven years, with a republican congress, and he had never dared to do the things that Wilson had done. He himself had admitted that he had allowed the steel corporation to absorb its only competitor. If Wilson were to do such a thing as that there would be fifty men in congress who would demand his impeachment. Roosevelt was always preaching a square deal and Wilson was always practicing it.

On the subject of patronage, Mr. Pou said that no one had ever taught him how to make two apples out of one, but he always tried to respond to what he conceived to be the prevailing sentiment of the people.

He expressed himself as appreciative of the unanimous action of four of the counties of the district and the unanimous action of the convention.

Members of the executive committee were named as follows:

Wake, Chas. U. Harris, J. P. Bunn; Chatham, Spence Taylor; Franklin, J. R. Collier; Vance H. T. Powell; Johnston, N. A. Elgerton.

Save Clover Seed.

There is going to be a big demand for crimson clover seed in North Carolina this season. This may result in high prices. Whether it does or not, home-saved seed are the cheapest, surest and best, since the husk seems to hold moisture when planted, thereby reducing the danger of failure to get a stand. Moreover, when a farmer already has seed, he is more likely to plant them than he is to buy seed to plant.

An average acre of crimson clover is easily worth ten dollars whether turned under, grazed, or cut for hay. Then it prevents washing and leaching and in any case adds organic matter to the soil something which practically all our lands are greatly deficient in.

There are several practical methods of saving clover seed. One way is to attach a large sheet to the cutter bar and have a boy walk behind holding it until filled and then dumping the clover in piles. This prevents much shattering of seed. The piles are fralled out on sheets and the seed separated. Another way is to haul to a tight floored room, when well matured, and stack there until some rainy day or other convenient time, then by forking down and removing the clover, the seed will be found on the floor.

If the clover is very dry and is hauled in a tight wagon body, with some tramping much of the seed will shatter and may be recovered on the floor of the body. There are other ways of saving clover seed. These will suggest themselves to the thoughtful farmer who is interested in having cover crops and who wants the cheapest and best seed possible. All farmers who have clover should make an effort to save much seed from it.

Very truly yours,
C.R. Hudson.

Shoes for Dressy Wear

IN the matter of footwear there is a demand for fine finish, elaboration in design, and general elegance of appearance that is spreading like news of war or the dancing craze. It keeps the designers and manufacturers of shoes on the anxious seat, ever alert to keep up with it. Milady of leisure and milady of busy days are asking for a few little things in this particular article of apparel. Her shoes must be shapely, substantial, becoming, well-made, out-of-the-ordinary, exquisitely finished, elaborated with contrasting materials and ornaments, and, of all things, comfortable. For who could tang in an ill-fitting shoe?

Perhaps it is the craze for dancing that has brought about this fastidiousness; if so, there is one thing in its favor, at least.

No matter how plain the taste of any careful dresser, no matter how unobtrusive (not to mention unnoticeable) her gowns, just get a glimpse of her feet, and the chances are that you will wonder at the amount of style and beauty she has managed to accomplish in clothing them. Trim, silk-clad ankles, faultless shoes with elegant lines, and, very likely, brilliant buckles of rhinestone or cut steel or plain metal are there.

These buckles come twinkling along the streets in the broad daylight, on their way to the five-o'clock tea, or the

In the Pioneer grocery of L. P. Hicks there has recently been installed a handsome McCray Refrigerator, the dimensions are 7 ft. length 2-1-3 ft. depth by 6 ft. height. The McCray are used by the Pure-Food Laboratories at Washington and in the diet-kitchens of the leading hospitals. They are endorsed by the good housekeeping Institute and are recognized everywhere as the best. The restrictions recently placed on the use of unsanitary refrigerators by the Pure Food Commission, and the testimony of many eminent physicians is sufficient evidence of their serious danger to health. Therefore Mr. Hicks is to be commended and his many patrons congratulated on this progressive action for their protection.

—The top for the standpipe has been put in place, and hereafter the citizens of Louisburg, can feel free from having buzzards in the water.
