

Why...

Are the people of this town blessed with more than the average degree of intelligence?

Because

They eat meat, good meat, and plenty of it. Meat is a brain developer. We sell it to them.

CAROLINA LOSES TO VIRGINIA BY SCORE OF 20 TO 3.

Fifteen Thousand Spectators in Richmond See Tar Heel Football Squad go Down Before the Eighth Consecutive Defeat in as Many Years—Tar Heels Fight from First to Last, but Are Unable to Withstand Fierce Attack of Orange and Blue: Richmond, Nov. 26.—Although the boys from the Old North State played brilliant football during the entire contest, they were unable to withstand the attack of the Orange and Blue forces and had to content themselves with the small end of a 20 to 3 score.

It was the prolific toe of that youngster Tandy, who prevented the North Carolinians from suffering a shut-out defeat. With the score standing 7 to 0 in favor of the Virginians, this big boy made a beautiful drop kick from the 25 yard line, the oval soaring over the uprights, and giving the "Down Homers" their only three points of the contest.

Virginia's touchdowns three in number, were all made by Captain Mayer, who, besides this played stellar football throughout the contest. He, together with "Bobby" Gooch, circled the opposing ends on numerous occasions for long gains and it was largely due to their brilliant work that caused the Carolinians to sustain their eighth consecutive defeat at hands of the Orange and Blue forces.

Despite their defeat the Old North State boys deserved credit for their showing. They fought hard from the initial kickoff until the curtain was drawn on the evening's entertainment. At times they even outplayed their opponents. The Carolina backfield men made most of their gains on straight football, and on numerous occasions hit the Virginia line for from four to ten yards. Four Carolina players, Captain Tayloe, Homewood, Tandy and Parker, played in extraordinary form and to them belongs credit galore. Homewood and Tandy played a beautiful defensive game, while Captain Tayloe and Parker were the most consistent ground gainers for the Blue and White forces.

Governor Locke Craig and Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels witnessed the game and both of them delivered brief talks to the Carolina delegation between the halves. They were loud in their praise of the showing of the boys from the Tar Heel
