Lesson VII.-First Quarter, For Feb. 14, 1915.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, I Sam. iii, 1-13, 19, 20-Memory Verses, 8, 9-Golden Text, I Sam. iii, 9-Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

What a specially great lesson this is for boys, with something for every one, young and old. In all Scripture there is a message from the heart of God to each individual heart that reads. It is true always, as in the last verse of our lesson chapter, that the Lord reveals Himself by His word. The Scriptures are the revelation of God to man, and the Lord Jesus Christ is the Living Word, in whom we see the Father, even as He said, "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father" (John xiv, 9). Our lesson opens with Samuel ministering unto the Lord. See also chapter ii, 11, 18. This is not the word which is translated to "minister in the priest's office," but the word to serve or minister, as when Joshua ministered to Moses (Ex. xxxiii, 11; Josh. 1, 1).

Even a child can serve Him who came not to be ministered unto, but to minister (Matt. xx 28). May we always be able to say from the heart, Whose I am and whom I serve," and count it our highest privilege to minis-ter unto Him (Acts xxvii, 23; Luke viii, g: Dan. vi, 16). In the revised version the words "precious" and "open" are in the margin "rare" and "frequent," and the meaning probably is that any special message from the Lord was of rare occurrence or it had been some time since He had spoken. The book of Judges ended with every man doing right in his own eyes (xxi, 25), and now Ell, the priest of the tabernacle, which was then at Shiloh (i. 3; Josh. rvili, 1, 10), was somewhat out of fel-lewship, for he mistook broken hearted, praying Hannah for a drunken wo-man and did not control his own sons. honoring them above God, so that a man of God had to come to him with a reproof and a warning 6, 12-16; ii,

Before we consider the call of Samuel in our lesson let us look at the circum stances of his birth. His father. El kanah, seems to have been a devout man, going up from year to year to worship and to sacrifice unto the Lord of bosts in Shiloh (i, 3). But he had two wives, which was contrary to original arrangement and always brought trouble. Hannah, who no children, was continually taunted by the other, her adversary. provoked sore and made to fret and grieve (1. 4-8). Her refuge was prayer unto the Lord, and He heard her and her this son Samuel (i, 10-20). She called him Samuel because she asked God for him (i, 20, margin). and when she had weened him she took him to Shiloh to serve the Lord in the tabernacle with Eli, visiting him from year to year when she went up to worship and taking him a little coat (1, 24-28; 11. 18, 19).

The Lord abundantly rewarded her for the gift of her firstborn, for He gave her five others, three sons and two daughters (ii, 20, 21). So Samuel grew before the Lord and was in favor both with the Lord and also with men, and the Lord was with him, and all Israel knew that he was established to be a prophet of the Lord (il. 21, 20). How beautifully the Lord did bless the boy who was dedicated to Him even before his birth, and how grandly He did reward his mother and cause her to forget her misery and sing for joy! Her song in chapter ii, 1-10, which is also called a prayer, is one of the most beautiful on record.

Returning to our lesson story, we read that one night, or perhaps toward the dawn (verses 2, 3, 15), Samuel heard some one call him, and, supposing it to be Ell, he ran to him, but, on being assured that Eli had not called him, he lay down again. The second time he heard his name and went again to Eli, but was assured as be-Not until he heard his name the third time and for the third time went to Eli with the words "Here am I" did Eli perceive that the Lord was calling the child. Then he said to him, "If you are called again say, 'Speak, Lord, for thy servant heareth.'" For the for thy servant heareth." For the fourth time the Lord called him and this time mentioned his name twice-"Samuel, Samuel." I have found only seven people in the Bible who were thus addressed. and there must be some significance whether we can see it or not. Look them up and ponder the circumstances prayerfully. On hearing this fourth call Samuel replied as Elitaught him, and then the Lord gave to Samuel the solemn message for Ell. which he faithfully repeated to him in the morning, telling him every whit and hiding nothing from him. It is doubtful if either of them slept again that night. Samuel had his first measage directly from the Lord, and Ell was no doubt wondering what it could be. They each had enough to think turned in case you wish it after tryabout. Samuel from this time onward ing this wonderful remedy. about. Samuel from this time onward is seems to have bad always in ear for God. Note the peculiar language of I Sam. ix. 15. and may we all have similarly anointed ears to hear His voice. Ell saw the justice of it all. remembering no doubt the words of the man of God in chapter ii. 27. and he submissively said: "It is the Lord. Let Him do what seemeth Him good" (verse 18). Compare Job I, 21: ii, 10; Pa. xxxix, 9: Isa. xxxviii, 15; xxxix, 3.

The Trading Stamp Evil
If there is one practice in vogue in its country that ought to be "canned"

it is the trading stamp evil.

It is one of the biggest fakes since the days of Barnum, yet people will nibble and bite at it continually and when a merchant must resort to the questionable practice of giving premiums in order to sell his goods it is quite time for the buyer to ask himself if those goods are worth the price demanded for them.

If they are worth the price, the mer-chant will not need to offer "some-thing for nothing" in order to effect a sale. The goods will sell on their merits.

But if they are not worth the price and a "bait" is dangled before the prospective customer—it is time to go to some merchant who will give a dollar's worth of goods in return for every dollar he gets.

The trading stamp habit is resorted to by the merchant in cities, who use them as an "inducement" to pull trade from country people. And it is a safe bet that the merchant gets the full value of his goods, and likewise the value of his goods, and likewise the full value of the trading stamps he "gives" to his customers.

If wheat is selling at a dollar a bushel and a city chap went out into the country and told a farmer he would take a load provided the farmer threw in a hog or a cow as a premium, what would the farmer do? Kick him off the place of coverse for tending off the place, of course, for insulting his intelligence.

When a fellow offers to bribe you to trade with him by giving you trad-ing stamps, or "something for noth-ing," isn't he handing you just about the same brand of courtesy? Is it a compliment to your intelligence? If a dealer can afford to give you

If a dealer can afford to give you trading stamps, can't he just as well afford to reduce the cost of his goods to the extent of the value of his stamps? And if he is charging too much for his goods, is that the place for you to trade?

Inferior goods sold by the aid of "premiums" are expensive in the end—for we, never get anything in this world that we do not pay for, not even a premium, or a trading stamp.

The local dealer who gives you a dollar's worth of goods in exchange for your dollar is the man to tie to. He is the man who will stick by you when others have failed.—Exchange.
