

RHEUMATISM IS SLOW POISONING

Because the entire system becomes permeated with injurious acids.

To relieve rheumatism Scott's Emulsion is a double help; it is rich in blood-food; it imparts strength to the functions and supplies the very oil-food that rheumatic conditions always need.

Scott's Emulsion has helped countless thousands when other remedies failed.

No Alcohol - No Narcotics.

If you can't pay as you go, you had better not start.

Notice.

This is to give notice that my son Bennie Williamson, eighteen years of age, has left my home without cause and without my consent and I hereby forbid anyone hiring or otherwise laboring him, under penalty of the law. This January 12th, 1915.

PARIS STILL CLINGS TO FULL LONG TUNIC

Colors and Fabrics Show the Influence of the Military Boots For Walking Costumes.

New York, February 8th. Full skirts have undoubtedly come to stay for a while, at least. For all that, there is no reason why the woman with several long tunic skirts in her wardrobe should be discouraged, for they have not been discarded by any manner of means. A number of the large French dressmakers are using them this year with great success and in such a way that the ingenious woman may follow their examples with her old skirts.

For instance, the new tunic skirts are very long, much longer than those of last year, showing scarcely more than one or two inches of the lower skirt beneath; but to offset this, which looks rather difficult when your last season's long tunic showed at least six inches of a lower skirt, yokes are very much the rage, and by attaching a tunic to a yoke it will be long enough to suit this season's requirements.

A Conservative Frock Developed in Belgian Blue Rep.

If the dress you wish to remodel is of silk, or a summer fabric, a very simple way of modernizing it is to add a lower section of two or more ruffles, according to the width of the ruffles and the depth of the lower skirt which shows. I saw a very pretty taffeta dress the other day which had been made with a flaring tunic and a very tight lower skirt. The owner of the dress made the lower skirt wide by inserting a triangular piece of the material into the back seam. Two ruffles she made of the same taffeta, with narrow hems machine hemstitched. These were placed on to the foundation skirt, and, of course the pieces were hidden, and joined below the long tunic. The dress was very smart and looked as though it might have been designed this season instead of last.

With a little forethought and a careful studying of new designs to be seen in the fashion magazines or fashion sections of the newspapers many an old dress whose style is hopeless can be made into an up-to-date garment which will give a great deal of pleasure.

In my first illustration I have shown a dress whose lines are simple enough to suit the most conservative of tastes and yet are so smart that whenever the gown is seen the wearer would pass as a well-dressed member of society. The model is developed in Belgian blue ribbed material, light of weight and suited to the skirt whose wide tucks give an effect of deep hems in a founced skirt.

News from Paris says that gabardine continues to be very smart. It has the qualities which should endear it to the American mind, for it is serviceable and practical and comes in all the known shades, from navy blue black, white, to all the shades of tan and gray.

Checks large and checks small are being shown for the spring suits. In my illustration I have shown a trig little suit with a diagonal black-and-white check. The coat is made somewhat on Norfolk lines, with a six-pored skirt cut to the ankle length, to which length all skirts should be cut to have the proper style this year. Instead of shoes, to be distinctly up to Paris styles, boots should be worn with walking dress of this character. Russian boots they are called, they button or lace up the sides and wrinkle in a mousquetaire fashion.

Empire lines are shown in everything. Suits are made short waisted, with full papiams hanging from the belt. Tailored frocks are made short waisted, with a wide or narrow belt, which is attached on its upper line only and hangs free on its lower edge, giving a boxed effect. The evening dresses are made distinctly after the gown of Empress Josephine's period, the waist just coming below the bust, and the skirt's longer and fuller than those of her time, but clinging gracefully to the figure.

Striped taffeta skirts have jackets of satin matching some color in the stripe. Voile is used extensively, and usually trimmed with braids of taffeta. Sand-colored voile skirts have brown taffeta jackets.

Lunette is an American-made fabric which takes the place of the Georgette crepe, which is made abroad and has become very scarce since the war. Whole dresses are made of it, especially for evening wear, and it is most attractive and more durable than chiffon. There is an indestructible voile which is very much like chiffon that is also used a great deal. It comes in all the beautiful old-fashioned designs, in Dolly Varden and Dresden designs, as well as in the large figured effects.

Plaid fabrics are having a renewed vogue in Paris, although they are considered a novelty rather than a staple fabric. Black is naturally very stylish, as would be expected, when one thinks that all France is in mourning. After black comes white. White evening coats are considered very fashionable; also coats of white serge and gabardine for the separate coat. Black and white combined is also very good and largely featured, and in its train purple and gray—in fact, all the mourning and semi-mourning colors—are having a vogue which they will probably not have until another war.

New uniforms have been made for the French soldiers of a new shade of blue; naturally that means it is immediately copied for costumes for women. This color, together with the khaki-colored field cloth, are used extensively for tailored costumes, especially if they follow ever so slightly the tendency toward the military.

Red, also a military color, but in a new brick shade, is being used a great deal, while the national colors of Belgium—red, yellow and black—are being combined again and again into trucks and suits. Small hats are the vogue in Paris. They are loved too well by the Parisians to be quickly discarded. Trig little hats of cloth to match cuffs and belt are worn extensively with tailored suits. The small hats entirely covered with flowers are used for more elaborate occasions. Tailored hats are being trimmed with ribbons of large plaid, as well as in black and white faille ribbons and give them a distinctly new look.

Large hats are slowly creeping into view, and will no doubt hold the people for summer, especially the old-time shape trimmed with flowers and velvet ribbon streamers.

Children Hate Oil Calomel and Pills.

"California Syrup of Figs" best for tender stomach, liver bowels.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children revolt in well-founded indignation. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicate "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Come on! Our pocket is yawning for that dollar.

How To Give Quinine To Children.

FERRILINE is the trade-mark name given to an improved Quinine. It is a pleasant syrup, pleasant to take and does not disturb the stomach. Children take it and never know it is Quinine. Also especially adapted to adults who cannot take ordinary Quinine. Does not nauseate nor cause nervousness or ringing in the head. Try it the next time you need Quinine for any purpose. Ask for 2-ounce original package. The name FERRILINE is blown in bottle. 25 cents.
