

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Theford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whitaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble."

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Theford's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught.

Theford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.

Your druggist sells and recommends Black-Draught. Price only 25c. Get a package to-day.

I Know Him.

I know a man who thinks that he could write a book or tame a bee; could run the earth in every way much better than it's run to-day; could sail a boat or ride a mule, or teach the teacher in the schools; could beat the band at every squeak were he to train about a week; could do all these were he to try. He doesn't though—I wonder why? I know him like a printed book as well as though I were his cook. I know he thinks that he could run the universe and call it fun; if he could only get a start, that he would play a wondrous part. But still he sits around and waits, and on his merits cogitates. Perform in every line? Great Scott! He knows he could—but he does not. Now, how can I such insight show, and say of him that this is so? The man's myself—I ought to know.

Prompt Action Will Stop Your Cough
When you first catch a cold (often indicate by a sneeze or cough), break it up at once. The idea that "it does not matter" often leads to serious complications. The remedy which immediately and easily penetrates the lining of the throat is the kind demanded. Dr. King's New Discovery soothes the irritation, loosens the phlegm. You feel better at once. "It seemed to reach the very spot of my Cough" is one of many honest testimonials. 50c. at your Druggist.

A belt worn by Napoleon Bonapart at the battle of Waterloo has just been presented to the National Military Museum of Paris. That's good, for even a belt may perpetuate the greatness of its wearer. And on second thought, we have an old belt or two we wore in bygone days which the museum may have for the asking.

Land Sale.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage executed by J. Henry Cooke, to A. S. C. Blackley land and containing 125 acres more or less. This the 12th day of February, 1915.

A FORECAST OF SPRING AND SUMMER FABRICS

Waists Are Made Severely Plain, While Skirts Are Full and Flaring--Belts and Peasant's Basques.

New York, February 23.—The Spring has a variety of styles which run the gamut of those we have had, only in a few forms, and these inspired by Russia, France, Belgium and Holland.

The full skirt, however, is without doubt, first in style, whether inspired by peasant skirts or Victorian crinoline. It may be cut circular, gored with as many gores as nine, straight pleated or gathered, the requirements being that it flares at the bottom.

The Dutch costumes are particularly suited to the young girl. They often have a broad strap over the shoulders, with a blouse buttoning straight down the center front. The skirt is full, with a slight bulging at the hips. Sometimes these dresses are topped with a short Dutch jacket. White or Deft blue are favored colors for this style of dress.

A Frock Severely Plain But Smartly Stylish.

Bolero effects are to be seen in waists as well as in jackets and will, no doubt, be particularly smart for summer dresses. Linen, pique and poplin being materials which will make up into stunning little suits with a coat on this style.

Severity seems to be the strong note for waists, but they must have particular style, which is, of course, hard to attain, although it lies greatly in the placing of the trimming. Buttons are all that is considered correct on many of them.

The illustration shows a dress with a plain but smartly cut waist buttoning up the front with cloth-covered buttons. The side pieces of the waist continue on to the skirt and from a side yoke. These complete costume has an unusual style of charm which is accentuated by tan prunella cloth in which it is made.

An extremely cunning little hat is worn with this dress, showing a sailor shape with a rather high crown narrowing slightly at the top. It is made in sand-colored taffeta and trimmed with a single band of chocolate-colored velvet ribbon, ending in short streamers in the back. It has very good style and in conservative good taste, a quality which American women demand before all others.

The second illustration shows a dress with the ever-fashionable surplice closing waist. The skirt is gored with the stylish flare at the lower edge and the waist is cut slightly short. The braiding on the waist and skirt is done with the round silk braid which is having vogue even stronger than the soutache braid.

The separate blouse is made on the same severe lines of the bodices of frocks. They are made of crepe de Chine and voile and chiffon cloth over a thin silk lining. Small cloth-covered buttons to match the material of the waist and the pockets, sometimes made with a fancy flap, are only trimming. They are often buttoned from the top of the light collar to the waist line, while others are made with the collars. Organdy is combined with button-colored lace. Honiton braid in this same color is used as an applique on white organdy and black mouseline de soie.

The wool fabrics for spring are largely plain fabrics. Serge, that wonderful standby, is one of the first sellers, together with gabardine. Cheviot is the novelty, and a very practical one. Checks in black and white are shown in a variety of materials, also dark blue and white. A very smart, it comes in many smooth fabrics, like prunella and novelty chiffon broadcloth or lady's cloth.

Of the heavier cotton fabrics, a cotton gabardine stands among the first sellers. This fabric has a high lustre and is very effective. Materials with a corded effect are used almost more than anything else for dresses of either heavy or sheer weight. The lighter weight first introduced by French and English manufacturers is called "filete". And, hence, any fabric with a corded weave, such as voile or crepe are said to have a filete finish. Voile is the most fashionable of the cotton fabrics, because of its softness and its durability. Dotted Swiss and marquisette are two other materials which rank very close in popularity to voile. Net in black over white satin or taffeta as well as white and colored nets are very smart for elaborate frocks. Pink and blue nets make delightful evening frocks and are trimmed with jet.

The styles of the summer dresses make it a certainty that embroidery and lace flouncing will be used a great deal in their development. The embroidery flouncing have a background of voile and crepe as well as very sheer lawn and batiste. Organdy, too is embroidered and makes a light and airy flouncing for summer dresses.

The Belgian lace centers are producing no lace and the French very little, so most of the imported lace comes from Plauen or St. Gall. Chantilly, Spanish and Lire lace are among the more expensive ones, while shadow lace may be had in a wide variety of designs and prices, and its light and delicate designs make exquisite frocks for evening wear.

Belts and girdles are forming an important feature on the gowns of to-day. Some of the plain, and of the fabric of the dress it is worn with, others are of contrasting materials and embroidered richly. Some of the girdles are extended in to what seems like peasant's basques, or wide girdles, lacing up the back or front, and pointing or rounding, made of constant silk or of voilet. Ribbons, especially of velvet, are having a strong vogue, as they seem to belong to the crinoline period from which so many spring dresses are designed.

The hats of the year continue to be mostly small, although a few large ones are to be seen, and very smart they are, too. This vogue for small hats has made the veils extremely popular, and they are showing in numerous styles. The wide floating veil which comes almost, if not quite to the shoulders, is very becoming and popular. These are in different meshes, plain and dotted and usually have either a bias fold on the edge or a narrow piece of ribbon stitched on.
