ON LOUISBURG TOBACCO MARKET

Sales Good the Past Week for the Season—All Growers Express Great Satisfaction at Prices Received.

The sales at the several warehouses on the Louisburg tobacco market have been very satisfactory the past week, both in quantity and price. A lot of the weed has been marketed and the prices have shown to be much higher than has been known here in many years. It has been an uncommon thing to hear the many growers who have visited the market express great satisfaction at the prices received. Tobacco has been bringing 12 and 15 cents a pound that we have seen sold time and again for 2 and 3 cents. The high prices are mostly on the common grades, although the prices paid for the better grades is much advanced. The buyers all seem anxious for the weed and bid lively on each pile offered.

Louisburg invites you to come and visit its market and try it with a load of the golden weed. The warehousemen, the merchants, and the citizens all will give you a hearty welcome. Come.

From Co. D.

Co. D, 3rd N. C. Inf., Camp Sevier, Greenville, S. C., Sept. 8, 1917.

Dear Mr. Johnson:

We are enclosing a list of calls observed daily which shows that we do not have time to write to all of our friends, so we are asking for a little space in your valued paper for a letter to the folks at home.

Our departure from our home town although sad was brightened by the presence of so many interested friends, who showed their interest and love to the last, by gathering at the station to bid us farewell.

Leaving home folks and friends naturally made us sad but we were greatly cheered by reaching Franklinton to find that the ladies of the Red Cross Society had prepared for us a bountiful spread of many good things, pleasing to a soldier's appetite. The good people of Franklinton will always be kindly remembered by the boys of Co. D. for such a rare treat and royal hospitality. Several weeks of hard thinking could not have planned a more acceptable repast. Not only did we appreciate the good things to eat but the spirit of patriotism which prevailed.

After an uneventful and pleasant trip we reached our destination, Camp Sevier, Greenville, S. C., August 31st. Our welcome was a shower of rain similar to the one we encountered upon our departure. After marching over a mile in the rain and South Carolina red mud to our Company street it was too late to pitch tents for the night. Then supper composed of sandwich of corned "wattle," we then spread our blankets on the floor of the mess hall and soon were lost in the restful sleep that only a tired soldier can enjoy.

The remainder of our time has been spent in cleaning up and otherwise making our camp presentable and as home-like as possible, for it is the only home we have the privilege of enjoying. The entire Company is in excellent spirits especially at meal time. Soup call also is welcomed by the entire Company. So far there has been no sickness among us. Our newlyweds have been a little lute, but letters from their "better halves" and a few smiles from Greenville's pretty girls are making life worth while. The old song "Ain't it hard to love a married man," does not seem to apply to the Greenville girls.

This city is situated at the foot hills of the Blue Ridge with a good supply of pure mountain water (which is the only beverage) we are permitted to drink. It is an extensive manufacturing center, having twelve cotton mills, three shirt factories, and numerous other large enterprises, running full time, giving employment to thousands of men and women.

As call to quarters has sounded we must break up this meeting and close this letter, for we have only a few minutes to pull off our shoes, the only article of clothing removed at night and get to our bunks by taps. Wishing you and the Franklin Times much success, we remain, Yours truly,

"The Big Four."

From Co. F.

About One Mile Northwest of Paris, September 10, 1917.

Dear Asher:

I am sure you are saying "He lied" if you have just read the heading of this letter, but I can assure you I am in dead earnest and have not lied. We are quartered one mile Northwest of Paris. I think I read before leaving home, in the papers, that the first American army to march through the streets of Paris was kissed by the French ladies, but when we marched through the streets of Paris, I did not see a lady, not even a "colored lady," so the girls need not get jealous. Now I have not said we marched through the streets of Paris, France. It was Paris, S. C., a little town about 4 miles west of Greenville. See the general sentiment here among the officers is that we will not be here three months at the longest, though notwithstanding that, I don't believe I have seen a jollier bunch of boys. Not a man has taken a drink since leaving home and every one seems perfectly contented.

Lieut. A. A. Harvey of Radford, Va. has been assigned as Second Lieutenant of the Company. He seems to be a nice fellow 23 years old and just out of training at Fort Myer, Va. Private H. H. Alley had "cold feet" and was discharged Wednesday. He left for home on that date.

John Morris says the ladies of Franklinton Red Cross "kidded" him when they put the tooth brush in his comfort bag. John has a mouth about the size of a hippopotamus and the brush looks like a toy near it. He says a "hair brush would suit him better" however he is not kidding.

Letters intended for us should be addressed to us "Sevier Branch, Co. F 3rd N. C. Inf., Greenville, S. C." Nothing less than this will bring them to us.

Our old Mess Sergeant D. B. Kearney visited us the latter part of the week. The boys were glad to see Durward.

We expect to get to drilling tomorrow as yet the new men I guess have imagined we use picks and shovels instead of rifles.

Sergeant Bullard left Tuesday to attend the burial of his father at Wake Forest. The camp will get electric lights in the Mess Hall and tents this week I guess. We are expecting the conscripts this week, then something will be doing. Will write next week if I get time.

Yours, etc.
E. W. Edwards

Red Cross Society.

The return of $180.41 of War Fund from Washington headquarters to the Red Cross Society here, for the purchase of war relief supplies is great aid to the society with its constant demand for material.

This amount is twenty-five per cent of the Louisburg war fund, $721.64, already collected and deposited to credit of War Fund at Washington.

As the remainder of the Pledge fund is collected, the privilege is ours now, to subtract 25 per cent of the amount for the benefit of Louisburg Red Cross Society War Relief Work.

On Thursday morning seven of our county draft boys left Louisburg for Camp Jackson, Columbia, S. C.

A committee from the Red Cross Society with other friends and relatives were at the station to tell them good-by.

Due to a misunderstanding comfort bags had not been provided for all, so they were parcel posted later. It is an important point to stress that all the drafted boys receive these bags before leaving our midst. A visiting army boy here from Columbia this week tells us that these comfort bags are the greatest pleasure and comfort to the boys.

Louisburg can't afford to give these bags to all the boys, but since the boys mobilize here and leave here in a body, we wish very much we could present them the comfort bags as they were presented to the Co. D boys. It is understood that Franklinton has given the bags to her boys. The ladies of the Red Cross Society of Louisburg are offering to make all the comfort bags for the other townships, fit them up and see them presented if each township will obligate itself to defray the expense of the comfort bags. The bags are made regulation size and we have secured all articles at cost.

This tribute of love and respect to our county boys we know is the desire of all.

The bags cost $2.00 each, fitted up. They contain a pair of scissors, a good knife, tooth brush, tooth paste, cake of soap, knitted wash rag, paper, envelopes, pencil, 2 postals, 2 handkerchiefs, comb, needle case with 3 packages of needles, safety pins, darning cotton, heavy black and white thread, button bag with buttons, bag of Velvet tobacco and cigarette papers. It was by general consent the tobacco was put in. The boys expressed great appreciation of it. A writer in "Medical Journal" says: "While the boys are necessarily under a hard, nervous strain, it is a poor time to begin a reform in the trenches by taking away tobacco."

To make this possible we must have the hearty cooperation of each and every patron. We want you to visit our school, see what we are doing and if it does not suit you tell us about it. We are always glad to know wherein we fall so that we may make ourselves better and more efficient teachers.

Strat your children the first day, Sept. 7, and let them continue to go to the end of the session. You can't expect your child to progress as rapidly as your neighbor's if you send him about one-fourth of the time.

Let all of us rally around our school and make it the best in Franklin Co. Ernestine Hayes, Principal.

Louisburg College Opens.

Louisburg College had the most auspicious opening Wednesday morning it has had in many years. Judging by the number of new pupils enrolled, no one would suspect that there was a world war in progress. At this time, the enrollment gives promise of surpassing that of any previous year in the long history of the college.

The new president, Dr. Frank Swendell Love, who has been hard at work all the summer, is elated over the prospect. Mrs. Ivey Allen, the former president, who will still be connected with the college as dean, will have charge of all the internal government of the college. In addition to president Love, the following new teachers are in the faculty: Miss Vera Keller, of Pensacola, Fla., Miss Lucile Womble, of Goldston, Miss Elba Henninger, of Statesville and Miss Eleanor Yarbrough, of Mapleville.

At the opening of the morning exercises, Mr. F. B. McKinne, secretary of the board of trustees, Rev. W. M. Gilmore, pastor of the Baptist church, and the President made welcoming addresses to the young ladies.

Dr. Love, who formerly was pastor of the Methodist church at Aberdeen, will deliver the inaugural sermon Sunday morning at the Methodist church the other congregations in the city will unite in this service. The new President has made a most favorable impression on the community.

Louisburg Baptist Church.

In view of the special inaugural sermon at the Methodist church Sunday morning by President Love, there will be no sermon at the Baptist church Sunday morning; but at night, 7:30, Dr. Jack Ellis, pastor of the First Baptist church of Dunn, will preach. Dr. Ellis is one of the most gifted young ministers in the State, and the people of Louisburg and surrounding country have a rare treat in store for them Sunday night.

Sunday school at 9:45 and the usual services during the week.

The Revival at Rock Spring Church.

So much interest has been manifested in the special evangelistic meetings now in progress at Rock Spring church that it has been decided to continue the meeting through Sunday. It will be determined then whether or not the meetings will continue another week. There will be a service Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, and one in the afternoon.

Dr. Jack Ellis, of Dunn, who is assisting the pastor, is preaching the gospel with great power, and the people in this community are being aroused as they have not been in years. A genuine revival is in progress.
