STAMP OUT POLITICS

The assertion of Senator Stone that the Republican members of Congress are lining up against the Administraion, is untimely and unwise. Even if true-which few people believe-it would be most unwise on the part of the Administration to take note of it. President Wilson and his Cabinet have been entrusted, under the constitution. with the conduct of the war, and the great mass of the American people are satisfied with the progress they are making. That there have been mistakes made, none will deny. But these mistakes have not been of such a nature as to alienate the support of Republican members.

Naturally the elections of the com. ing summer and fall call for organization of all parties, this is going on, the Democrats as well as all others. This can be done, however, without in any measure taking from the loyal support of thewar program. We believe it will be done so

Senator Stone should remember that his own loyalty is of the forced brand At the head of the Senate Committee on Foregign Affairs, he opposed the United States entering the war, up to the very last, and only after the die was cast did he pledge his support to the Administration. He predicted all manner of calamities for the country, and there will not be wanting those who would accuse him of cherishing a desire to come back with an "I told

The Senator is practically alone in his fears for the country. The other party leaders seem satisfied with the splendid support accorded the Presidents war policy by his political apponents, and which support they have every reason to believe will be continu-

Billie and Jimmie Will Take Military Training

"I am mighty sorry, Uncle Dan, that this is your last night with us. Can't you stay longer? We boys are having a peach of a time," said Billie

"Well, if you get more out of it in the way of pleasure than I," said Uncle Dan, "you are going some."

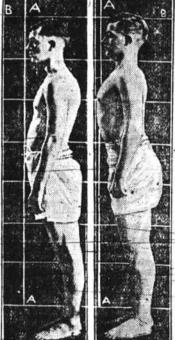

"Billie, I have been talking seriously with your father and mother about sending you to a military academy and they asked me to talk with you about

"Whoopee!" Billie screamed, like wild Indian

"Now, hold your horses," said Uncle Dan, "and listen to me. You know I sent my boy, Howard, to one of these schools for a year when he was about your age. He was narrow chested, stoop shouldered, rather loose jointed; he had the big head and needed discipline and physical development. was growing fast and I wanted him to be strong physically."
"Say, Uncle Dan," said Billie, "I be-

me pretty well, eh?"
"Well," said Uncle Dan, "to be frank I think it does; you need the same thing. Howard did not like it at first. I am told for a few weeks he had 'rough sledding.' but after he found that the only way was to obey orders, he caught the spirit of the institution and liked it. We did not see him for about six Photiths, then he came home for a few days. We were astonished at his ap-He had gained about 20 pounds in weight, his muscles were hard as nails, he stood as straight as an arrow, he was courteous, consider ate and manly. His awkwardness had disappeared. The change was wonder-ful and it was all to the good. Here is a photograph showing 'before and after taking,' and I am sure no patent medicine advertisement could beat it. "Well, mother and I were delighted.

That was ten years ago, and Howard says the year he spent at the military academy was the best year of his life.

"Now," said Uncle Dan, with great earnestness, "when such training does so much good, makes better citizens and at the same time fits a man to defend his country, why should not Uncle Sam ment's expense? The government has the right to call anyone to serve in case of war, and without training, a man is worth nothing as a soldier. Uncle Sam has splendfd new training camps that will soon be available for the purpose, therefore, here is double reason why the Chamberlain bill fo compulsory military training should be sically fit may have this training and not leave it for his parents to pay for. On account of the expense, not one boy in 50 can take the training now. I am glad that you can do so. These big crops and big prices, I find, make the farmers rather 'cocky,' and that the best is demanded by them."

Billie was up with the lark the next morning, more excited and enthusiastic than ever. He had a plan. He knew Jimmle owned a colt worth $100; that he world make almost another $100 on his potatoes if they turned out well. and that he had from his previous savings, bought a $100 Liberty bond. Billie's plan was to have Jimmle cash in and go with him. He was disappointed to find that Jimmie would still lack about $300 of having enough to e him through. His lip quivering, he said: "I'm mighty sorry to leave Jim-
