A HUSBAND'S DUTY

The following advice to husband's or intended husbands, was presented us the past week with request for its publication by a reader of the Times. There is so much suggestion of good value even to the best of husband's contained therein that we gladly give it space.

Very grave responsibility has the man assumed in his marriage.

Doting parents have confided to his care the welfare of a beloved daughter and a trusting woman has risked all her future happiness in his keeping.

Largely will it depend on him whether her pathway shall be strewn with thorns or roses.

Let your wife fully understand your business in nearly every case she will be found a most valuable adviser when she understands all your circumstances. If a dispute arises dismiss the subject with a kind word and do not seek to carry your point by discussion. It is a glorious achievement to master one's own temper.

You may discover that you are in error, and if your wife is wrong she will gladly in her cooler moments acknowledge the fault. Never neglect your wife for all the world besides. Never deceive; confidence once lost can never be wholly regained. Never give all pleasant words and smiles to strangers the kindest words and the sweetest smiles should be reserved for home—home should be your heaven.

Never fail to tell your wife the truth; if truthful you get the reward, you get your punishment if you deceive. Never fail to say a kind encouraging word to your wife; praise and encourage her. To keep her love, be kind and loving; always be a lover. And last above all, to keep your wife's love and respect, be a strictly temperate man. It would be difficult to love and honor a man to whom she is compelled to look down upon. Who would drag himself, wife and children down to poverty, shame and disgrace. One and all turn from the intoxicating cup—that alone makes more misery causes more unhappy homes and is the greatest curse on earth. God pity the poor wife with an intemperate man—her life's happiness will be completely destroyed by such a union. Better a thousand times be single free and an independent maiden than married to a man addicted to dissipated habits.

Don't go down town every night to see a man, and then expect your wife to be all smiles when you come home.

FOR CLERK OF COURT

To The Voters of Franklin County
I am a candidate for the office of Clerk of the Superior Court of Franklin county. I have never had the honor of holding an office in Franklin county by the vote of the people. I feel that our present clerk has held the office long enough and we are not in favor of any office holder holding office for such a long term. I feel that I can handle the work of the office to the satisfaction of the public and will appreciate the support of the voters at the Democratic primary to be held in the county soon.
