

IMPORTATIONS OF FLOUR IS TABOO

STATE FOOD ADMINISTRATOR HENRY A. PAGE CALLS UPON DEALERS TO REFRAIN FROM ORDERING FURTHER FLOUR FROM OUTSIDE MILLS—"NORTH CAROLINA HAS HER SHARE."

Raleigh.—Further importations of flour into North Carolina until the next harvest are in effect forbidden by State Food Administrator Henry A. Page. The practice of flour conservation in North Carolina has been so general, and the saving so great, that a large number of the small mills which have heretofore been able only to supply the immediate communities have accumulated considerable quantities of flour which is available for shipping to other markets. It is the purpose of Mr. Page to divert this flour to those markets in North Carolina which have heretofore imported flour from the larger mills outside the State, which, almost without exception, are in position to pack flour for export and supply the demands of the Army and Navy and our Allies.

The Food Administration will assist in bringing together those mills which have flour for sale and the dealers in other sections of the State who desire to purchase it. Mr. Page's statement inaugurating the new plan is as follows:

"Based on the total supply in the United States for home consumption, and considering the decreased consumption by our people, there is within the borders of North Carolina our share and more of flour. This being true, I am calling on the wholesale and retail merchants of North Carolina to refrain from sending further orders for flour to mills outside of North Carolina. The larger mills which have been accustomed to ship tremendous quantities of flour into North Carolina are most of them close to export points and all of them are in position to pack flour for export. Where merchants in some part of North Carolina could secure flour from outside mills cheaper than they can from North Carolina mills which have flour available, I am going to make them to take the home flour even at a higher price.

"I do not pretend to say that there is sufficient flour in North Carolina to supply anything like the normal demand. What I do mean to say is that if we are to supply our Allies with the quantity they must have, we have as much flour in North Carolina as we are entitled to and as much in proportion as the people of any other State or section—and we have no right to more."

Mr. Page's request to flour dealers to refrain from purchasing flour outside the State is not an order but it is very clearly indicated in the office of the Food Administration that all dealers will be expected to comply with the request and that any disregard of the request will be looked upon with extreme disfavor by the Food Administration.

Standing Back of the Government.

Next to dishonor, war is the greatest calamity that can befall a nation. We are now beginning to realize how far-reaching its effects are. It is not too much to affirm that the war affects to some degree the condition of life for every man, woman and child in the country. From the loss of life itself the sacrifice runs all the way down the scale to a slight deprivation of comfort or luxury.

But for every widespread disaster there is usually a small modicum of good to place in the other side of the balance. It may not apparently make a hair's weight of difference against the ill, but it is there and perceptible if we look for it. What have we of good to set against the evils of war?

Our answer would be, Greater national unity. A year ago we were for the most part a country of individuals, individual communities, individual states. Men were pursuing their own objects, communities were not looking beyond their own improvements, states were caring for their own people.

Now all horizons are broadened. When a man sees his son or his neighbor's son going forth to war, his thought involuntarily goes out to the environment of that boy, the conditions he will meet, and the government which provides or regulates them. He realizes that the government will have to provide these boys with the simple necessities, food, clothing and shelter. It will also have to provide them with training, transportation, weapons, artillery and aircraft for their protection, medical services and hospitals for their care, and a hundred other essentials. And the man also begins to realize that it is up to him in his individual capacity to stand back of the government, to take his part in providing these absolutely necessary things in his own rightful proportion, either from his abundance or from his bare sufficiency.

And we need only to see the banners of the Third Liberty Loan in the windows of homes throughout the land to understand how magnificently the individuals have risen to their duty and their opportunity. Everywhere, in the homes of the rich and the homes of the poor alike the banners signal proudly: "I have given as I can to the call of the nation. It is my nation and I am with it heart and soul in the hour of its need."

We cannot estimate the aggregate sacrifices which this splendid showing has required. In many cases it meant the giving up of comforts, perhaps of cherished plans. But each man who has subscribed for his bond or bonds feels that he is a component part of his country, that he stands or falls with it, and that it is a country worthy of his sacrifice. He is in harmony of feeling with his neighbor, his community, his state and his nation.

An Old Truth Revived.

Every day now the line is being more sharply drawn between the real self-sacrificing patriot, and the profiteer hiding under a cloak of blatant loyalty.

Nineteen hundred years ago the Mar of Gallilee quietly remarked to a company of friends and followers that "it is more blessed to give than to receive." At the time it made little impression upon his hearers, and in the centuries since that day men have grasped it merely as a theoretical truth, with no real thought of making it a life principle.

But the present world cataclysm has put people to thinking seriously of this statement of the great Teacher. People with no claims to religious convictions are waking up to the fact that underlying the statement is found the true secret of life. We are coming to see more clearly every day that the selfish life is the miserable life, stunting and dwarfing all the finer qualities of our nature that have elevated us as a race so immeasurably above the human brutes with whom we now do battle.

When the final history of this war is written, those whose names will go down at the head of the honor list will not be the profiteers who grasped millions from a suffering world; but those who gave, and gave, and gave, till they could give no more—who stripped themselves of earthly possessions to gain a crown that all earth and hell can never deprive them of. The proud consciousness that they have "done what they could" for humanity and the right.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

Calomel Today! Sick Tomorrow! I Guarantee Dodson's Liver Tone

Don't take nasty, dangerous calomel when bilious, constipated, headachy. Listen to me!

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It is harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it!
