"German Efficiency."

Occasionally we still hear reference to the much vaunted "German efficiency." These references come mostly from other positive pro-German sympathizers or from timorous souls who throw a fit whenever "this dreadful war" is mentioned. People of intelligence have long ago learned to estimate this efficiency at its true value, and have ceased to stand in awe of it.

The efficiency of Germany is purely an efficiency of constant application. Her present militant condition is the result of a lifetime of unremitting attention to every conceivable angle of the game of war. While the other nations of the earth were quietly pursuing the paths of peace, Germany was straining every nerve and devoting all her accumulations of men and means to the task of creating an army and armament before which the world would find it impossible to stand. During most of this time she was hypocritically participating in the Hague conferences and proposing the total disarmament of all nations, but in the light of recent developments we know that during all this discussion her war preparations were never slackened.

Even Germany's efficiency in the arts and sciences has been made to serve the dread Moloch of War. In extending her influence among the nations of the earth in these branches, she has been for years building "spheres of influence"—in other words, nests of spies and potential traitors against the day when their services should be needed by the fatherland.

Yes, Germany has efficiency—Efficiency in cold-blooded assassination, evidenced by the brutal destruction of vessels by her sea vipers, when even women and children attempting to escape in open boats have been shelled, mangled and sunk; evidenced by her wanton destruction of civilian life by her airplanes and Zeppelins; evidenced by the deliberate murder of prisoners of war who, by all the laws of nations, should have received honorable and humane treatment.

Efficiency in perfidy, as witnessed in her rape of Belgium, for no other reason than that she stood between a brutal tyrant and his intended victim; evidenced by her attempt to array other nations against our own country, at the same time her representatives to our capital was shedding crocodile tears over his forced departure and separation from his "dear friends in America"—doubtless he took with him for the perusal of his butcher master full proofs of his treachery while enjoying our hospitality and esteem.

The Germany of other days was noted for efficiency, but that efficiency has been prostituted to most ignoble ends.

God save us from such efficiency.

Invasion.
The last excuse of the pacifist has been brushed aside. The United States has been invaded—invaded by Germany.
If there yet remains a single American citizen who is not willing to throw his all upon the altar of his country, that man should be banished from the land he dishonors and disgraces.
Many people are asking the question, "How can German submarines operate so far from a base?" And they can find no answer to their question unless it be that the base may not be so far away as we suppose. Hun influence is almost supreme in a certain country on this continent, the people of which bear us no love, and a submarine base in that land would be no surprise.
The sooner we awake to the fact that freedom's enemies are in the saddle and riding hard, the sooner will we take steps to bring those riders to a disastrous fall.
While the Hun is looming large in our view, let us not forget that there is, and has been, treachery much nearer home.
If you want results, get the marines after the submarines.
