President Will Head Delegation to the Peace Conference.

Washington, Nov. 2.—President Wilson will head the American representation at the Peace Conference. This was announced officially tonight at the White House.

The other members of the delegation will be:

Robert Lansing, Secretary of State.

Col. E. M. House.

Henry White, former Ambassador to France and Italy.

General Tasker H. Bliss, and now Chief of Staff of the Army, and former American military representative on the Supreme War Council at Versailles.

Formal Announcement.

The White House announcement follows:

"It was announced at the executive offices tonight that the representatives of the United States at the Peace Conference would be:

The President himself, the Secretary of State, the Honorable Henry White, (recently Ambassador to France), Mr. Edward M. House and General Tasker H. Bliss.

It was explained that it had not been possible to announce these appointments before because the number of representatives to send, the chief negotiators to be sent, had until a day or two ago, been under discussion.

In the absence of any official explanation it was assumed that the President goes as Secretary of the United States and that Secretary Lansing, Mr. White and Col. House and possibly also General Bliss will be delegates with ambassadorial rank.

It was recalled that the President's announcement that he would go to France for the purpose of taking part in the discussion and settlement of the main features of the treaty of peace," said that it was not likely that he could remain throughout the session of the peace conference and that he would be accompanied by delegates who will sit as the representatives of the United States throughout the conference."
