Young Woman's Missionary Society.

The Young Woman's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. L. C. Leach Wednesday evening, Feb. 19, 1919. The scripture lesson was taken from Act 12 chapter which was read by Miss Lonie Meadows, followed by a prayer by Miss Clara Young.

Our theme was, "Why Stand Ye Here Idle?"

Mrs. O. J. Hale read us the story of the Good Samaritan. Miss Rena Rowland then gave a poem, "Hark, the voice of Jesus Calling, who will go and work today?" The Missionary Dime and How it grew, was read by Mrs. F. D. Swindell. What more does a poor woman need? by Miss Sue Alston. In behalf of the society, I want to welcome our new member, Mrs. R. H. Jones. Those present were Mesdames O. J. Hale, L. C. Leach, F. D. Swindell, R. H. Jones, Misses Clara Young, Sue Alston, Lonie Meadows and Neva Rowland. The society adjourned at an early hour to meet with Mrs. F. D. Swindell, Feb. 26, 1919, in a study circle.

welfare is deeply touched by the staple that contributes so enormously to the wealth of the State.

The present cotton situation is distressing. The crop was made on a basis of 35c a pound and is now selling for 22c. The situation of the manufacturers is as precarious as that of the farmers. They have much high priced cotton and cotton goods on hand. They made their contracts and employed their labor on the basis of high prices, and today they can find no market for their goods.

All good men in every walk of life will desire to relieve these distressing conditions. Measures must be devised for holding the cotton we have, and for curtailing the acreage of the next crop. To this end a great Cotton Convention was held in Raleigh on the 11th day of February, at which the Governor was requested to appoint a committee of seven men to take charge of a campaign for holding the cotton we now have and for reducing the next crop one-third or more. I have appointed on [illegible] committee from Franklin [illegible]
