ANTI-STRIKE PROVISION WITHSTANDS ATTACKS

Senators Vote Down Motion To Eliminate It and Defeat Substitute Offered—Senate May Not Recess.

Washington, Dec. 18.—The senate held its fifth night session on the railroad bill tonight, with grave doubt in the minds of leaders that the measure could be passed in time to permit beginning of the holiday recess Saturday.

The labor clauses, including the anti-strike provision, of the Cummins measure, were under discussion during the day, culminating in the rejection by a vote of 25 to 46 of the proposal of Senator Stanley, Democrat, of Kentucky, to eliminate the whole section. Efforts toward a compromise ended.

During the debate an agreement was reached by senate and house majority leaders not to permit a holiday recess until the measure is through the senate and sent to conference. At their conference, however, Senator Lodge and Representative Mondell agreed to suspend house business Saturday to permit members of the lower body to go home for the holidays, even if the senate is held by delay on the railroad bill. Beginning Monday, house sessions will be perfunctory under a "gentlemen's agreement" to transact no business until January 5, but to adjourn from day to day until the senate recesses.

The anti-strike provisions were in turn attacked and defended today while conferences were held looking to a compromise by modifying the clause imposing criminal penalties for strikes and lockouts.

to strike out the entire labor section. Senator McCormick, Republican, of Illinois, offered a substitute plan, similar to the Canadian system, to prohibit strikes for 60 days after decisions of the adjustment board, and requiring decisions from the board within 90 days.

Senator Thomas, Democrat, of Colorado, supporting the Cummins labor proposal, declared railroad strikes to be intolerable in their effect upon the general public.

Opposing the anti-strike section, Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Massachusetts, said that criminal penalties for strikes would not accomplish their purpose. The Cummins plan, he characterized as "repressive, unfair and unjust."

"Strikes among certain classes of employees are unjustifiable and among these are railroad employees," declared Senator Walsh, "but we cannot chain them to their posts like galley slaves." Congress, the Massachusetts senator held, should remove the incentive and causes of strikes by enactment of arbitration legislation without banning what he declared to be the inherent right to strike.

On a tie vote of 21 to 21 the substitute of Senator McCormick, Republican of Illinois, for the anti-strike provision was rejected and Mr. McCormick gave notice that he would ask for another vote later.
