FACTS ABOUT COTTON.
World production of cotton outside of the United States for factory consumption has averaged 7,138,900 bales a year for the past 10 years according to U. S. Census figures.
Pink boll worm, the most deadly of all enemies of the cotton plant first made its appearance at Hearne, Texas, in 1917. Like boll weevil it came from Mexico.
Foreign grown cotton to the number of 682,911 bales was imported into the United States last year. It consisted mostly of Egyptians, and was the largest quantity ever imported.
The number of ginneries in the United States in 1919 was 22,413, of which 13,846 were active and ginned an average of 802 bales each.
Of the total of 13,815 active gins in the United States during 1919 all but 93 were saw-gins.
Roller gins are used principally in ginning sea-island cotton, and the long-staple cottons of Arizona and California.
There is now enough cotton in the world, unspun to last nearly two years.
The total capacity of gins in the United States indicates that a 12,000,000 bale crop could be ginned in a single month. The total engine horse power employed in ginneries of the United States in 1919 was 973,717.
Bolivar Co., Miss. was the only county which ginned more than 100,000 bales in 1919; seven reported more than 75,000, 25 more than 50,000 and 122 more than 25,000 bales.
The cotton crop of 1919 was ginned in 887 counties, of which 308 ginned less than 5,000 bales each.
From the year 1900 to the outbreak of the Great War in 1914 the number of cotton spindles has increased at the rate of about 3,000,000 every year. Since 1914 the number of cotton spindles in use has been reduced from a total of 154,000,000 to a total of 138,000,000 a decrease of 16,000,000 during the six years.
In the United States there are 68 counties which have more than 100,000 spindles each.
Bristol County, Mass., with 7,632,003 cotton spindles leads all other counties in the total number.
Rough Peruvian cotton is used to some extent for mixing with wool in the making of wool textiles, especially imitation woolsens.
Chinese and Indian cotton are used to a very limited extent for mixing with American upland cotton in the manufacture of the cheaper grades of goods.
Nearly all of the cotton consumed in the United States is domestic upland cotton.
The term "upland" is applied to all cotton produced in this country, except sea-island cotton, and includes the long staple upland varieties.

No Worms in a Healthy Child
All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a result there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S PASTELLES and TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or disperse the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

'LITTLE FADED FLOWERS.
O 'little faded flower,
"Turn" open your 'little eyes,
Is that the way folks do,
When they lie down and die?
O 'little faded flower,
I know that you are dead
Or else you'd open your eyes
And raise your drooping head.
I loved you 'little flower,
More'n words can tell,
And took the best of care
And tried to treat you well.
So 'little faded flower,
O why did you depart,
And leave a 'little wound
A 'little broken heart?
Poor 'little faded flower,
I know your secret too,
The cold North Wind froze
And no one ever knew.
O 'little faded flower,
With heart of molten gold,
In some far distant land,
I know your leaves 'll unfold.
For 'little faded flower,
When the birds begin to sing,
I'll look for you again
And know again 'tis Spring.
—MRS. HUGH H. PERRY.

The Nature of the Work.
I see one industry in Australia is raising kangaroos.
I should think to succeed in that business would keep a fellow on the jump.
All things wait for those who come after them.

And There Wasn't the Slightest Smell From Dead Rats.
Writes John Simpkins, farmer of Appendale, N. J.: "Rats were eating me hundreds yearly; tried dogs, ferrets, poison, could not get rid of them. Bought $1.25 box of RAT-SNAP (5 cakes.) Used half, not a live rat since. Dead ones plenty. I like RAT-SNAP because after killing rats it dries them up—leaves no smell." Three sizes: 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by Allen Bros. Co.
