MINISTER DISCUSSES HIS WIFE'S TROUBLES

Rev. A. H. Sykes, former pastor of the Watkins Park Presbyterian church Nashville, Tenn., says: "After seeing what Tanlac has accomplished in my wife's case, I am convinced that it is a medicine of great power and extraordinary merit. I do not think I have ever seen anything give such prompt results. Mrs. Sykes had been in delicate health for ten months, suffering from stomach trouble and nervous breakdown. "I frequently sought medical advice but Tanlac is the only thing that gave her any relief. After taking the medicine only a short time, she was able to sit up and help with the household duties. I think it only a short time until her health will be fully restored." "Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere."—Adv.

Home Demonstration Department

The program for the Farm Women's Convention will include at its separate sections a talk and a demonstration on household furnishings with special stress laid on proper color combinations in walls, ceilings, floors, hangings, upholstery, etc. Points will be given on the doing over of old furniture, the use of simple and inexpensive material for hangings, and something about home dyeing, and about the question of the arrangement of furniture. The planning of a room to give that satisfactory feeling which comes from proper arrangement and color combination means balance and harmony. This talk and demonstration will be given Tuesday afternoon. On Wednesday morning Miss Helen Louise Johnson will make a talk on suitable dress, giving the women an idea of how to select, how to make, and how to wear becoming clothes which shall be simple both in material and in construction, but satisfactory in results. Miss Johnson was at one time head of the Home Economics Department at the University of Illinois, and has since served as assistant editor for Good Housekeeping, and on the Editorial Staff of Harper's Bazaar. Thursday morning will be given over to the meeting of the federation of Home Demonstration clubs for reports of work done during the year and for the proposed work for the coming year. These clubs have organized themselves into a state home bureau, and the organization has given a big impetus to county work. Regularly appointed delegates from the different counties will bring the county's report and the election of officers for the ensuing year will take place. Mrs. Grace Bradford McDowell, President, will preside at this meeting. At the joint sessions for men and women Mr. Chas. Gillette, Landscape Designer, of Richmond, Va., will discuss plans for beautifying the farm premises, the removal or screening of unsightly objects, making the best of good landscape features, and base plantings which shall connect the house with the ground. He will also tell something of the use of native trees, shrubs and plants and what can be done about the lawn. At the joint session also Miss Johnson will give a talk on the cooperation of the family in making the home a comfortable place in which to live. The address of the President of the Farm Women's Convention will be delivered Tuesday morning. On Wednesday night the Division of Home Demonstration Work will take charge of the entertainment to be given. The Raleigh Home Talent has kindly consented to present a short play entitled "The Mouse Trap," or some other equally good play, and the Song Leaders Division has agreed to conduct community singing for that night. It is hoped that every rural woman who can make her arrangements to come to the Convention will do so. The college will room free of charge any woman who can attend. Meals will cost 50 cents apiece, which will make the trip very inexpensive. Those attending should not forget to bring bed linen, towels and a blanket.

THERE is no reason why there should be one standard for tires and another standard for tubes.
