TAR DROPS

F. A. Roth & Co. is building a new front to their store on Nash Street.

The road force did good work this week in scraping the snow from the roads with the scrapers.

The Knickerbocker Theatre in Washington City collapsed Saturday killing more than a hundred people and injuring many more.

The many friends of Mrs. W. H. Allen, who was operated on for appendicitis at St. Luke's hospital, Richmond, Va. last week will be glad to learn that she is getting along nicely.

Louisburg has installed a new fire siren on the top of the Opera House. It is quite a nice machine and gives an effective alarm. Supt. Hill has issued the following signals in case of fire: One long alarm means north side of river, one long with repeated short alarms means south side of river.

Miss Florence Egerton has returned from a stay of two weeks in Oxford, where she substituted for one of the teachers of the Oxford Orphanage who was ill.

Mrs. W. D. Egerton has returned from Washington City. Only the mere chance of friends dropping in for a game of bridge prevented Mrs. Egerton from being one of the audience in the ill-fated Knickerbocker Theater Saturday night.

ANNA CASE HAS OVER 500 SONGS IN REPERTOIRE

The Distinguished Soprano at the Raleigh Auditorium February 13.

It is estimated that Anna Case the distinguished American soprano, who will give one of her justly famous recitals here at the Auditorium February 12, has in her repertoire over 500 songs, exclusive of operatic arias, which would give an idea of the enormous work required of a musician of her standing. Miss Case has always been noted for her varied programs and is indefatigable in searching out new material.

One of her principal reasons for going to Europe during the past summer aside from her successful debut recital at Queen's Hall, London, was to secure personally new manuscript material for use on the programs of her extensive tours this season. Miss Case sings in English, French, Italian German and Scandinavian, being noted for the clarity of her diction in all these tongues. In arranging a program she rarely groups songs in chron-logical order or according to the nationality of the songs. She always tried rather to build a musical mood to bring out what might be called the harmonious contrast with light and shade in each group. In speaking of programs Miss Case said in a recent interview: "The hardest task of a singer is to find really good songs and enough of them to make a program of interest and variety with at once an appeal to the public and a high musical standard. Songs must not only suit one's voice, but one's temperament, for unless I can feel myself into the atmosphere of a song, I simply cannot sing it. Plaintive songs, dramatic ones and ones with a note of melancholy are not rare it is the bright songs which throw these others in contrast that are not so easily to be found. And then you have to avoid as much as possible, what other singers use. The further problem of appearing before the same public for a second, third and fourth time complicates matters still more. By the hardest sort of work I have discovered a number of new songs in Europe this summer, which I hope my public will like. The seat sale for Miss Case's recital will open on February 1, at the Times building.—Raleigh Times.

FRANKLIN COUNTY SCHOOL COLUMN

Items of Interest to Teachers, School Committees, Betterment Associations and People Interested in Public Schools of Franklin County.

Edward L. Best, Superintendent

1. For the next two weeks the people of the county will have the opportunity of seeing the North Carolina Historical Pageant Picture. This picture, giving a vivid and detailed account of our early settlers was made under the direction of the State Division of School Extension. The teachers are requested to review this part of our North Carolina History with their classes, do this in order that the facts may be fresh in the minds of the children when they see the picture. This is the psychological time to teach early North Carolina History; the picture will give not only a visual account of the history but will provide a fine motive for the study on the part of the children. The State Department has gone to much trouble and expense to get this picture ready for the screen and we should feel fortunate in Franklin County that we will have the privilege of seeing and enjoying it.

2. The General Assembly of North Carolina enacted a law whereby a day was to be set aside in each school year to be known as A Temperance and Law or Order Day, in which the children are to be given instruction in the truth concerning alcoholic drinks and to be trained to respect the laws of our land. The State Department of Education has set apart February the 10th for this day and has arranged a special program for that day. I mailed to each school a copy of this program Monday, January 30th. The program is intended to be helpful to the teacher in selecting material from which to prepare a program for this day. Teachers should select that which is best suited to the age and advancement of the pupils. The old idea was that children were not citizens that only adults were citizens. Today we recognize that even young children are citizens, just as much as adults and what is wanted is not training for citizenship but in citizenship.

3. Dr. W. F. Savage who is conducting a Dental Clinic in the county was at the Louisburg Graded School last Wednesday and Thursday. The teeth of over a hundred children were treated. Many of our physical and therefore mental defects among children are directly the result of bad teeth. I hope the children in the county will take advantage of this opportunity to have some of these defects remedied. The following facts concerning this work should be remembered:

- a. There is no expense attached to this work, this is taken care of entirely by the state.
- b. All children between the ages of 6 and 12 inclusive are eligible for treatment.
- c. It is not charity work but for all the children of all the people.
- 4. The following comes from Miss Nannie Pigg of the Franklinton Graded School. "Whenever a teacher enters a community it would be a fine thing if she could have that little poem before her which begins 'I shall pass this way but once.' Possibly it would make her realize what a vast opportunity just for this once is beckoning to her. Just the form of the extra curricula she will do will be determined by her desire to help. I say desire guardedly, because if a person wants to help badly enough along any particular line she can get it done. Every teacher should decide definitely on some line of activity for her community. It may be to secure some kind of community organization through which any phase of community life might be improved. It may be to teach a Sunday school class. It may be to arouse a desire on the part of the people for more efficient schools. A very fine thing is for the superintendent and his teachers to decide together what the school needs and make plans for securing these. At the end of the school year let them check up and see what has been accomplished. Miss Annie Cherry, supervisor for Halifax County, carried this idea out very successfully. At the end of the school year she had community center group meetings at Four Group Centers. Then the teachers from each school read the list of extra curricula. The school that was judged to have the best report was awarded a handsome prize. Besides getting a great deal of equipment in the way of pianos, athletic kits, libraries, a great many advantages such as public lectures, community plays and etc. were secured. The life of any teacher in almost any particular community is unusually short. But she can erect to herself a permanent monument if she will throw her whole soul into whatever her hands find to do. As one of our great men has said, 'The greatest blessing of life is to spend and be spent.'

Dr. J. E. Malone, Health Officer.

CONSUMPTION OR TUBERCULOSIS.

In the last four issues of The Times we have been telling people about the above disease. What it is, how to catch it, how to cure it and what its ravages are. Now in this issue we want to tell them how to keep from catching it. In the first place, the most frequent way to catch it is by inhaling the breath or small visible and invisible particles of spray from the voice, breathing and coughing of one who knows he has the disease or from one who has it and doesn't know that he has it, the latter as often as the first—for many people have the disease and do not know it and these are the cases that are most dangerous, because for not knowing that they have it they are not careful themselves in trying not to spread it and people who come in contact with them not being suspicious, they are not careful. The spray from a Tubercular throat is just as destructive to life as the contents of a machine gun. If one does not catch the disease when they come in contact with (direct) the one who has it. This spray thrown out from a Tubercular throat will dry and after being ground into dust very fine wind or breeze will scatter it broadcast to be inhaled by all who come near it. A good rule to observe is not to hold your face too close to any one's mouth while talking or in conversation. Don't sleep with people of whom you are the least suspicious. Don't eat after them or drink after them, just here is where the individual eating, drinking and sleeping arrangements come in with their good results. Here are other good rules to observe. Avoid breathing dusty air. Avoid careless coughers and spitters. Avoid close foul air at all times. Avoid Flies. Above all avoid getting "run down." Sleep well, healthy and stout. When we are tired, overworked and run down, is the easiest time to take or catch diseases of any kind of the breathing system. Eat simple nourishing food, chew it well and eat slowly. Regulate your exercise and diet, so that your bowels will move freely once a day and drink plenty of pure water. About eating more people are killed by overeating than by drinking whiskey or by war. There is no good reason why man should not live to be a hundred years old. The simple thing of eating too much, too fast and not chewing your food, is the cause of the short lives of people, there isn't a particle of doubt about this.
