SOCIETY

MRS. O. Y. YARBORO ENTERTAINS.

Thursday afternoon, Feb. 2, Mrs. O. Y. Yarboro handsomely entertained the Edwin Fuller club and a large number of other invited guests.

When the guests had all arrived the club was called to order by the president, Mrs. G. A. Ricks. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and the subject for the afternoon announced to be Louisa May Alcott.

Mrs. K. K. Allon read an excellent paper on the life and works of this popular author of young-people's stories. Mrs. Ricks read a selection from the book which is usually considered Miss Alcott's masterpiece, Little Women.

Miss Ruth Allen was absent but sent her Current Topic which was read by the secretary.

After the program was completed the most delicious refreshments were served in three courses. The first course consisted of jellied chicken molded in artistic shapes served on blanched lettuce leaves and tastefully garnished with slices of green pickle and red pimento. This was served with mayonnaise and accompanied by celery, beaten biscuit, salines and pickle.

The second course was the most refreshing nougat cream with cake; and the last course was conventional after dinner coffee and cheese sandwiches. Club members were requested to remain after other guests had retired in order to transact some matters of business. Most important of these was the decision to continue for another year the study of the subject "Woman in History, Art, and Literature."

The question was brought up as to the desirability of longer papers or more of them next year. The majority declared themselves opposed to having to write, to read, or to listen to very lengthy papers.

Misses Annie Green and Lynn Hall were appointed to write to the Oteen soldier for whom the club is god-mother, between this meeting and the next. Club adjourned to meet next time with Mrs. E. H. Malone, Subject, The Old South and the Confederacy.

MRS. PLEASANTS ENTERTAINS MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The study circle of the Methodist Woman's Missionary Society met Monday afternoon with Mrs. M. C. Pleasants. Very attractive written invitations suggestive of the subject, Japan were issued. They were written in Japanese by Mrs. Aki Makamura, a Japanese student of Louisburg College; but, as the recipients were not likely to be able to read Japanese an English translation was written in vertical lines read from left to right in Japanese style as follows: "By this you are asked to my study circle, so bid your Jirikaha stop at my gate. On the reverse side of the card were written the time and place, Monday 3:30 p. m. Mrs. M. C. Pleasants.

The rooms with their beautiful decorations transported the imaginative branches of fruit trees in combination with rose-pink blossoms giving the effect of the Japanese cherry blossom were entwined artistically in and out of the stair railing, banked over the mantel and clustered around the electric, and large jars of chrysanthemums, which is the national flower of Japan were tastefully arranged at different places. Those two flowers mean so much to the beauty-loving people of Nippon that when the first cherry-blossoms open that day is made a national holiday and all work ceases while the nation celebrates the return of spring. The presence of numerous curios from Japan helped to carry the scheme still further.

"O Zion Haste" was sung as the opening hymn. The devotional exercises were conducted by Miss Sallie Betts. Mrs. D. E. McKinne lead in prayer. Mrs. Makamura, wearing the costume of her native land, sang as solos two Japanese hymns.

Mrs. Pleasants gave a map study of old Japan up to the time of Commodore Perry's memorable trip to that country. The next number on the program was a monologue, "Japan's burden." This was effectively given by Mrs. J. A. Hodges in the costume of Japan.

The monologue was followed by a report of the mission work in Japan given by Mrs. Ernest Furgurson, who very ably impersonated a Japanese missionary. An interesting discussion of the chapter "Christianity's Opportunity in Japan" was lead by Mrs. F. B. McKinne. Mrs. G. F. Smith gave an able talk on "Some Odd Customs of Japan," or rather what seem odd customs to us, for of course ours seem equally odd to them.

The program closed with hymn and prayer.

Messdaes Makahura and Hodges Misses Sutton and Logan, all wearing Japanese dresses served hot tea, margarites and stuffed dates. Each guest was presented with a dainty Japanese fan as a memento of this delightful meeting. The attendance was perhaps the largest of any meeting the study circle has ever held and many who were present declared it to be the most interest and attractive they had ever attended.

COLLIE-BISSETTE.

Invitations reading as follows have been received in Louisburg:

The bride is the attractive and accomplished daughter of Mr. George N. Bissette, one of Nashville's most prominent and successful merchants and is deservedly popular among a host of friends.

The groom is the oldest son of Mr. James R. Collie, former Superintendent of the States Prison and now Chief Clerk in the Revenue Commission's office in Raleigh. He is a young man of ability and a pleasing and attractive personality which has made many friends for him in his adopted home, being originally from Louisburg.

INDUSTRIAL REHABILITATION

As a part of the state program of Industrial Rehabilitation being conducted by the State Department of Education an industrial class for the adult blind of the state has recently been opened at the new Wilson County Home. Here blind men from any part of the state beyond the age at which they can enter the State School for the Blind will be taught such trades as mill dress making, chair caning and basketry, as well as reading by raised print, writing and typewriting.

The purpose is to rehabilitate those who have lost their sight after maturity, and make them independent citizens.

The class has no connection with the County Home. It is quartered there because of the excellent accommodations furnished to the blind people. The men live and are taught in a modern, steam heated brick building. The county is paid for the use of the room and the board of the men by the State Department.

The class is doing splendid work. The men who have already enrolled are very happy and contented and making excellent progress. As most of the instruction is necessarily individual, only a small number of men can be accommodated, however, there is still room for a few more men.

This is an exceptional opportunity for those unfortunate residents of our state who have lost their sight and because of their misfortune are unable to earn a livelihood. Those desiring further information regarding the school or wishing to enter should inform any County Superintendent of Public Welfare or Mr. H. L. Stanton, the State Superintendent of Industrial Rehabilitation at Raleigh.

Vocational training for the blind is but one phase of the State Rehabilitation work. Men, women and children of employable age, handicapped by various types of disabilities resulting from accident, disease, or of congenital nature, are being aided in their struggle to become independent, self supporting and self respecting citizens by this Department.

SEEK CONFERENCE IN ADVANCE

To save themselves time and trouble, and in many cases, unnecessary expenditures; taxpayers having business with the income tax unit of the Bureau of Internal Revenue at Washington and desiring conference with officials in connection therewith, are advised to ask for such conference in advance.

A number of taxpayers and their representatives appear at the income tax unit without appointment, and ask immediate hearings. Frequently the conference cannot be held at once for the reason that the papers and information relating to the said case must be assembled or the proper official may be otherwise engaged. The result is a delay of a day or two, and added cost to the taxpayer in the way of hotel bills, etc.

Requests for conference should be addressed to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington, D. C., together with a statement of all the facts in connection with the case, and the purpose for which it is desired. The taxpayer will be informed by letter or telegram of the date appointed for the conference.

BULL DOG DRUMMOND.

The four masked men came in, and carried out the two chairs.

"The intimidated rabbit, Henry, and the kindly gentleman you put to guard Miss Benton," he remarked as the door closed. "So now we may regard ourselves as being alone. Just you and I. And one of us, Lakington, you devil in human form—is going in to that bath."

But Still There Was No Mercy on the Soldier's Face, and He Felt Himself Being Forced Farther and Farther Over the Liquid.

"But the bath means death," shrieked Lakington—"death in agony."

"That will be unfortunate for the one who goes in," said Drummond, taking a step toward him.

"You would murder me?" half sobbed the terrified man.

"No, Lakington; I'm not going to murder you." A gleam of hope came into the other's eyes. "But I'm going to fight you in order to decide which of us two ceases to adorn the earth; that is, if your diagnosis of the contents of the bath is correct. What little gleam of pity I might have possessed for you has been completely extinguished by your present exhibition of nauseating cowardice. Fight, you worm, fight; or I'll throw you in!"

And Lakington fought. The sudden complete turning of the tables had for the moment destroyed his nerve; now, at Drummond's words, he recovered himself. There was no mercy on the soldier's face, and in his inmost heart Lakington knew that the end had come.

For strong and wiry though he was, he was no match for the other. Relentlessly he felt himself being forced toward the deadly liquid he had prepared for Drummond, and as the irony of the thing struck him, the sweat broke out on his forehead and he cursed aloud. At last he backed to the edge of the bath and his struggles redoubled. But still there was no mercy on the soldier's face, and he felt himself being forced farther and farther over the liquid until he was only held from falling into it by Drummond's grip on his throat.

Then, just before the grip relaxed and he went under, the soldier spoke once:

"Henry Lakington," he said, "the retribution is just."

Drummond sprang back, and the liquid closed over the wretched man's head. But only for a second. With a dreadful cry Lakington leaped out, and even Drummond felt a momentary qualm of pity. For the criminal's clothes were already burnt through to the skin, and his face—or what was left of it—was a shining copper color.

Mad with agony, he dashed to the door, and flung it open. The four men outside, aghast at the spectacle, recoiled and let him through. And the kindly mercy which Lakington had never shown to any one in his life was given to him at the last.

Blindly he groped his way up the stairs, and as Drummond got to the door the end came. Some one must have put in gear the machinery which worked on the fifth step, or perhaps it was automatic. For suddenly a heavy steel weight revolving on an arm whizzed out from the wall and struck Lakington behind the neck. Without a sound he fell forward, and the weight, unchecked, clanged suddenly down. And thus did the invention of which he was proudest break the inventor's own neck. Truly, the retribution was just.

"That only leaves Peterson," remarked the American, coming into the hall at that moment, and lighting a cigar.

"That only leaves Peterson," agreed Drummond. "And the girl," he added as an afterthought.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Information Concerning The Health of the People of Franklin County, Worth Your Attention.

Dr. J. E. Malone, Health Officer.

We want the people to read this article for it is of the greatest importance for them as well as myself to know the Public Health Laws. There are so many people who are not informed along these lines. The greatest difficulty I have had to contend with as Quarantine and Health officer is a want of information and knowledge of Health laws. The law does not excuse for ignorance for the State Health and County Health Boards hold that it is the duty of all to inform themselves. The law positively states that every contagious and infectious disease or a suspicion of it, must be reported. Every Doctor, Teacher, House holder and every one else must report to the Quarantine officer within twelve hours after knowledge or suspicion of any and every case, then the Quarantine officer, within the same period of time must fill out a card and transcribe every item on it to his record book and send the card to the State Board of Health at Raleigh. If any of the above named Doctors, Teachers, Householders or any one fails to do this, they are subject to a fine of $10.00 or imprisoned for 30 days in Jail.

There are certain diseases that the Law requires shall be reported, these are Measles, Whooping Cough, Diphtheria, Scarlet Fever, Chicken Pox, Typhoid Fever, Septic Sore Throat, Infantile Paralysis, Epidemic Meningitis, German Measles, Smallpox and Eye Disease. Now whenever you think you have any of these in the family, it is your duty to report it to your Quarantine officer at once. If these contagious diseases could be reported promptly, then we could stop it right there in that house and prevent its spreading all over the community. Save a lot of trouble, expense and death. Now people you have the law please help me to carry out our Health Laws and thereby help the largest number of people to live and be happy.

IN MEMORY OF MR. S. T. WEST.

The death angels visited the home of Mrs. S. T. West on Friday, Jan. 13th and took from her her devoted husband after a short illness of pneumonia in his fiftieth year of age. On Saturday afternoon the funeral service was conducted by his pastor, Rev. W. R. Wallace in the midst of a large gathering of friends and relatives. He was tenderly laid to rest in the cemetery at Hickory Rock. Mr. West leaves a wife and three brothers and three sisters, Mr. Luther and Mr. Saul West of White Level, Mr. Speece West, of Henderson, Mrs. J. L. Wester, of Hickory Rock, Mrs. Joe Collins and Mrs. Edd Moore of White Level, besides a host of friends who are greatly bereaved. But we feel that our loss is his gain. His last words were "I want every thing done right, the only way is the straight and narrow way."

Mr. West was a devoted husband and a friend to all whom he came in contact with. He always had a pleasant face and ready to greet his friends with a smile. We miss him here but we hope to meet him there. Where parting, pain and death is unknown and with Jesus where all is well and where pleasure never ceases.
