Alabastine

Millions of homes have had their interior walls decorated with it in the past thirty-seven years.

It produces artistic, peaceful, serene, cheerful and happy effects. It is far preferable as wall coating for harmonious colors especially where sanitation is a vital feature.

Schools use it in immense quantities. Artistically applied, students attain correct ideas of color harmonies through it.

It is extensively used for churches and public halls where there are great stretches of sheer color. Its soft, subdued colors and pastel tints most effectively suit the "spirit" of the edifice.

For use, cold or warm water is added in proportion of one five-pound package to two quarts of water; stir for one minute and it is ready to apply—destroying vermin and germ life—SIMPLE ENOUGH, ISN'T IT?

Don't confuse ALABASTINE with kalsomine. The word Alabastine specifies a definite uniform standard of quality. Kalsomine is a generic term applied to many materials with coined or fanciful names and having no definite quality.
