Read How You Can Share in Distribution of Over Two Thousand Dollars in Handsome and Valuable Prizes—Only Small Portion of Your Time Needed To Win—Get In the Game at the Start and Be a Winner—To Be One of the Biggest Circulation Campaigns Ever Launched in this Section

With a stupendous prize list the like of which has never been offered before in this vicinity, THE FRANKLIN TIMES makes formal announcement today of its "SALESMANSHIP CLUB" in which a veritable wealth of prizes consisting of automobiles, radio sets, cash prizes and commissions will be given away absolutely free.

A full page announcement in today's issue gives the details of this gigantic enterprise. The automobiles are of the latest models and the list contains some of the most alluring and attractive prizes imaginable.

$995.00 Durant Touring Car
The prize list is headed with a brand new latest model Durant touring car. Next in line is the well known Ford Coupe, two radio sets followed with cash prizes and commissions. All these prizes will be awarded successful workers free of cost of one penny to them. All will be rewarded for the part they take in helping THE FRANKLIN TIMES increase its already highly creditable circulation. In as much as those who do not win one of the regular prizes will be paid a cash commission on all money they turn in provided they abide by the rules of the campaign.

Spare Time
All one is expected to do to earn one of these splendid rewards is to devote their spare time to the business of securing subscriptions from those who are not now taking THE FRANKLIN TIMES and to collect re-newsals from those who are already subscribing. Easy isn't it?

The word automobile is at the present time the biggest word in the American vocabulary and just how to make it possible to own a good one has perhaps long been the desire uppermost in the minds of many folks. Those who have automobiles are now contemplating the ownership of bigger and better ones. Those who at the present time do not possess a good automobile are more than likely laying their plans for one in the near future. Here is the opportunity to own a good one, a really good automobile—the cream of the American market today—and without the expenditure of anything save a little effort during your spare time—the time that would be otherwise wasted.

A Business Proposition
In offering such valuable rewards to those taking an active interest, THE FRANKLIN TIMES is not playing the role of philanthropist—it is a business proposition pure and simple. The splendid list of prizes will be given in exchange for well directed efforts on the part of the "Salesmanship Club" members, and the basis upon which they may be secured and the awards themselves, assure each and everyone taking part that their efforts will bear fruit to the fullest extent.

Early Start Is Best
In every persons life there is one big moment when they make the decision that robs them of success—or leads them on to fortune. The world is full of those who yearn for better things that seem to never come. The action is missing. But let them see and grasp the big opportunity and there will be an amazing transformation in their fortunes. The moment they decide for or against that opportunity—whether they will seize it or let it pass—they decide the whole future course of their lives.

The main thing in this campaign is to get an early start in the race. It means everything to those who have ambition and desire to succeed, so the first thing and the main thing to do is to enroll your name as a worker in the "Salesmanship Club" and get out among your friends and acquaintances and tell them that you want their subscription to THE FRANKLIN TIMES. Look up the full page advertisement in this issue and acquaint yourself with the good things offered and while it is fresh in your mind reach for the shears and clip out the nomination coupon, fill it in with your name, and bring or send it to THE FRANKLIN TIMES office. If you cannot call at the office personally use the telephone and full information will be forthcoming. Call around to THE FRANKLIN TIMES office and meet the "Salesmanship Club" manager. You will be accorded a hearty welcome and all information relative to this big prize campaign will be gladly furnished. Don't delay. Do it now.

GOV. MORRISON SPEAKS

TO BIG CROWD IN COURT HOUSE MONDAY

Gives Port Terminal Question Big Boost In A Most Interesting and Entertaining Address—Business Generally Suspended During the Hour

Governor Cameron Morrison was greeted by a court house full of Franklin County people on Monday afternoon to hear his exposition of the port terminals question that is to be voted on in the general election next Tuesday. Business generally was suspended for the occasion. Although the Governor stated that his speech would deal with plain business facts, a cold dry argument, he was at his best and entertained his hearers as well as furnished them much information upon which to make their choice in the coming election. He said the question involves North Carolina's opportunity. He said the idea was nothing new as it had been done by every state in the union having a coast, and stated that North Carolina has lost millions by not having provided these terminals before. He quoted the platforms of the three national parties to show that each of them stood for the issue. In referring to the government and in all projects of this kind he cited that it had spent thirteen and a half millions of dollars to dig a canal in Texas and that North Carolina had paid ten times as much of this amount as did Texas, because North Carolina pays ten times as much revenue.

He said that by the failure to provide public terminals open to all upon equal terms has caused Congress to withhold assistance, and estimated that North Carolina had paid twelve to fifteen million dollars more to carry the commerce of this State than other states for moving the same volume. Referring to the costs he said that a ton could be carried four miles on water for the same cost as for one mile on rail. The railroad rates in North Carolina are monopolistic, he said, while in Virginia they are highly competitive. He said it would pay Franklin county people to have heavy shipments stopped in Virginia and haul them home under the present order of things. The ship feature, he said, is only a precautionary measure in order to enforce the use of the terminals after they are built. The question he said, is a contest between North Carolina and Virginia and other states, a contest between the people and the railroads.

His speech was a strong argument for the establishment of the port terminals and made many votes, and was greatly enjoyed by all.

The Governor was introduced in a beautiful impromptu speech by Mr. W. H. Yarborough.

The following petition, sponsored by the Louisburg Kiwanis Club, and engineered by President Arthur Mohn, for the closing of the stores was presented.

In view of the fact that the Hon. Cameron Morrison, Governor of North Carolina will speak in the court house this afternoon from 2:30 to 3:30 we the undersigned do hereby agree to close our respective places of business during this hour in order that we, our employees and the patronizing public may have the privilege of attending said meeting. We further agree to do all in our power to secure a large attendance at this meeting in order that our city may be placed on record as giving proper and due recognition to the Governor of our State.

HON. E. W. POU SPEAKS

HON DAN GARRETT ENTERTAINS GOOD SIZED AUDIENCE

Each Tell of the Short-Comings of the Republican Administration and of the Beneficial Legislation Enacted By the Democrats

Quite a good number of Louisburg and Franklin county voters were highly entertained in the Winner Theatre in Thursday night of last week, when Hon. Edward W. Pou, member of Congress from this District, and Hon. Dan Garrett, member of Congress from Texas, made strong speeches for Democracy.

Hon. E. W. Pou, after having been presented by Mr. E. H. Malone, chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Franklin County, in his usual strong and forceful manner told of the achievements of the Democratic administration and of the misdoings of the Republicans. He stated that more beneficial legislation was passed under the Wilson administration than in any decade before. And as a contrast he pointed to the scandals that have been unearthed during the present administration. He pointed out that Coolidge economy was embraced in the veto of the soldiers bonus postmans salary and other important bills, but that there was no veto of any bill fostered by Wall Street.

He paid a high tribute to John W. Davis, the Democratic candidate for President, and told of his activities in behalf of the legislation sought by labor. Concluding his remarks, he made a beautiful introduction of the speaker of the evening, referring to the Hon. Dan Garrett as one of the solid statesmen of the nation.

The speaker announced that he would indulge in comparisons and before he was through he had drawn some striking contrasts. He showed how the Republicans stood for privilege and class and the Democrats for the common people in his striking illustrations of how the high tariff operates. Telling of the hardships of the panic of 1907 he showed how the Democratic Reserve Act had made panics impossible. He said the Democrats believe in starting prosperity with the farmers and laboring classes while the Republicans believe in starting it with millionaires. He wanted to see the man who was happy because he was busted. His was a forceful and entertaining speech telling in the strongest terms of the misuse in Washington and added that the only hope for a return of the government to the people was by the election of John W. Davis.

The speeches were greatly enjoyed throughout.

HISTORY MAKERS

When Ezra Meeker, who blazed the Oregon Trail seventy-two years ago, rode with a United States army air service pilot from his home to the international air races in Dayton, Ohio, transportation history was being written.

It was a marvelous story of achievement—from the ox team days to the period of conquering the air. It calls to mind the daring trip that Meeker made through the wilderness, the thrilling experiences with marauding Indians and the cholera scourge which he endured.

The Meeker movers were joined by others who turned their faces toward the new land and no story of the wild west has more incidents of comedy and tragedy than the now famous journey into the unexplored northwest.

Where this pioneer battled with mud, Indians and plagues, automobiles now travel with ease, motorists finding paved roads and conveniences on every hand, that civilization in its sweep through the west has brought along. The old National Trail which Meeker traveled in that early day appeared as a white thread as he flew in the air conveyance.

The astounding developments that this bare three quarters of a century has brought makes the blood tingle in the veins of an American citizen and sets his brain in a whirl when he tries to imagine what the future holds in store.
