THE REARING OF PARENTS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

THERE has been a great deal written in recent years on the proper rearing of children, but when it comes to the bringing up of parents, a problem that is quite as difficult and as harassing as the rearing of a child, the inexperienced youth is left without a pilot to steer his difficult and rock-infested course. There is a crying need for a full and reliable text on this subject. The work should include, also, helpful suggestions for the control and direction of obstreperous maiden aunts, or indulgent grandmothers, and should show how to inhibit persistently generous and soft-hearted bachelor uncles. The writer of such a text, if he has given the proper study to the subject, will have recognized at a glance the added difficulty which the child of a single parent encounters in properly rearing his charge, as compared with the youth who has under his control the normal number of progenitors. The child with but one parent to look after will find it next to impossible to develop in him the normal amount of selfishness and the proper backbone, and if he is also burdened with a couple of maiden aunts or a grandmother, the situation for the youth is all but hopeless.

My greatest source of trouble, as an executive officer, comes from the ever-indulgence and badly-brought-up parent or guardian. For example, take the case of Hay. He was looked upon as a selfish, irregular, purposeless student, when in point of fact he would have been a credit to himself if it had not been for his badly reared parents. His mother was so spoiled that she could not live without seeing him once a week or so. She was afraid he was ill fed, so she gave him dinners; she did not feel that he had the right amount of the right sort of social life, so she made him week-end parties; and the father sent him more money than any boy in college can safely spend.

There are all sorts of ill-trained and badly spoiled parents. Usually the worst trained parent of all is the self-made man. He is either like Everhart's father, stern, stubborn and determined that since he himself got where he is by rigid economy and sacrifice, without education and without help from any source, his son must travel the same road. So Everhart fires furnaces and washes dishes for his board and flunks in his studies, while his father increases an already generous bank account, and prides himself that he is helping his son to be democratic and self-reliant. Or, perhaps, he is like Wiley's father, who got through college by the most menial sort of toll, who scarcely had enough to eat or to wear, and who now coddles his boy in college until he is one of the laziest and most selfish prigs I know. Both Everhart and Wiley have suffered from badly trained parents.

Fashion Indorses
the Ensemble Suit

Evidently the ensemble suit has come to stay for some time, and perhaps it will maintain a permanent place, along with mannish tailored suits, in the mode. Just now it fits in with the trend of fashion, which has set toward feminine styles and away from severity of line or somberness in color.

Here is an ensemble suit that is practical and adaptable. Made up of twills, kasha or flannel, and in one of the season's popular colors, the long coat will serve for wear with other frocks as well as with the companion piece. Printed silk and material like that in the coat are combined in the dress pictured, the colors in the dress, selected to harmonize with that chosen for the coat. Tan, navy, wood, sand, gray, light green and all the natural shades are recommended for the coat.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nausealess Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.

Lincoln County farmers are planning to ship spring chickens to the cities of the section again this year. Last spring they sold 8,000 fryers at a good profit and one farmer now has 300 ready, reports county agent Graham Morrison.

Spring cleaning is not over until the poultry house has been thoroughly cleaned, made free from lice and mites and put in shape for the coming of hot weather, say poultry experts of State College.

"We use Black-Draught in our family of six children and find it a good liver and bowel regulator," says Mrs. C. E. Nutt, of Mineral Springs, Ark.
