

ROBBERS CAPTURED BREAKING INTO STORE

Chief of Police Detects Them Passing Out Silk Dresses Rapidly.

Franklinton, May 16.—Robbers entered the store of Irven Supman about 4 o'clock Saturday morning but were surprised by a quick attack by the night policeman before many goods were secured.

The police had been notified that a robbery was being planned and were on the watch being aided by a few interested citizens. The robbers came to Franklinton from Raleigh about one or two o'clock Saturday morning, but it was four o'clock before they decided to make a haul at Irven Supman's ready-to-wear store. They entered by breaking into the glass of the front door and one of the band of four negroes squeezed through the bars and began to hand out silk dresses as fast as possible. About that time Chief of Police I. J. Tunstall, opened up on him with a shot gun and he ran, making his escape. One of the others was caught at the store door and a third was caught in the store. The two making their escape were later located in Raleigh and brought back to Franklinton, they making full confession. They were all negroes and gave their names as Charles Parrish, Julius Jones, Henry Thomas and Arthur Johnson.

This is the third robbery Franklinton has suffered in the past few weeks and it is hoped that since some of them have been captured a clue to the other robberies has been uncovered that will lead to the leaders of the organization.

MISS ORA WINSTON HONORS BRIDE-ELECT

In honor of Miss Eleanor Winston, bride-elect, Miss Ora Winston gave a "Cinderella" announcement party at "Hilldrop," the country home of Mr. John C. Winston, their father, Thursday afternoon.

The color scheme, white and gold, was tastefully carried out in all the decorations of daisies and honeysuckle. The table was lovely with its silver candlesticks and yellow candles, center-piece, a "pumpkin coach," resting on a bed of ferns and daisies with little white mice peeping out, containing the tiny china gold slipper favors tied to each place card by narrow gold ribbon, white mints in the gold cups.

The first course, iced tea, chicken salad, olives and pickles, was followed by a "flower contest," which was worked out with much merriment. Then white cake with gold filling, fresh strawberries with whipped cream was served.

Just as each guest drew from the "coach" her favor, little Lucy Candance Winston, the youngest niece in the family and namesake of the bride-elect's mother, drew a card bearing a kodak picture of "Miss Eleanor Winston and Mr. Oliver Wilder, June 24," which she handed to Mrs. Mary Harris, who in her most charming manner read the date, passed the card to each guest in a few well chosen words proclaiming the Prince Charming. Amid congratulations the party returned to the parlor where Miss Melna Wilder presented the honoree with "The brides own book, in which the following guests registered:

Mesdames Mary K. Harris, Ivy White, Ruth B. Sawyer, Mary S. Winston; the Misses Melna Wilder, Mary Wilder, Rebecca Pearce, Janie Pearce, Lallie Blackley, Lizzie Whitfield, Marie Dent.—Franklinton News.
