THIS WEEK'S CROSS WORD PUZZLE

Credit for this week's cross-word puzzle goes to Waldo E. Frohardt. It contains mostly very simple words—and the ones that aren't simple are words that you should know anyway—so if you don't know them, this is an excellent opportunity to learn them. You should be getting used to the larger cross-word puzzles by this time, so we are going to allow you only twenty-five minutes for working this one. Of course, we realize that the time we give you—and the time you take—are two different things.
