A TRIP TO RALEIGH

On December 1st, our teacher, Miss Chamblee, took the children in our room to Raleigh.
 We met at the school house about eight o'clock and went on three cars. Col. Fred A. Olds, who had promised to take us around in Raleigh joined us at the Hall of History. In this building we saw large guns and the dear flag that my grandfather, Mr. Jimmie Cheeves, carried in the Civil War for four long years. It was number 24 and shot full of holes.
 We then went through the State Hospital and it was interesting to see people caring for the insane ones that are helpless.
 From there we went to the Blind Institute and it was pitiful to see the dear little children walking around trying to see and could not. Yet some of them could read, write, and do many other things better than we who can see.
 It was time for dinner now so as it was too cold to eat out of doors we went to the Y. W. C. A. Building for dinner. After Col. Olds asked the blessing each of us enjoyed a nice dinner which we had brought with us. We packed the good things we had left in a large box and sent it to the Methodist Orphanage.
 The first place we visited after dinner was the Museum. This was the most interesting place of all to me. I enjoyed looking at the different kinds of animals and things, and wondered how they could fix things to look so much like real animals.
 We visited the Capital and in there I saw the most beautiful room I ever saw in my life.
 We went on the top of a building twelve stories high and looked down at the cattle and other things and they looked very small.
 The Penitentiary was the next place on program. The electric chair was a great thing and worth seeing. Col. Olds wanted us to see how our teacher looked in there, so he had the man to strap her in the chair.
 We then went to the 5 and 10 cent store to see the Christmas toys.
 I enjoyed the trip to Raleigh and it means a lot to me, because I saw many interesting things I had never seen before. It makes me appreciate what our State is doing for blind, insane, and other helpless people. I enjoyed it so much that I want to go again.

HOME DEMONSTRATION DEPT.

Contributed Weekly By Miss Daisy Caldwell, Agent

Next week, the week including Christmas, there will be no regular club meetings.
 The home agent will spend Christmas in Louisburg but will be out of the office for four days vacation.
 Hog Killings is the order of the day among the farmers. The women who are fortunate enough to have steam pressure cookers are canning fresh back bone, spare ribs, sausage, liver hash, head cheese, etc., to use through the year.
Wood Girl's Club.
 Several articles in sewing were ready for inspection at the Girls Club meeting at Wood Wednesday morning. A demonstration was given in cutting by pattern. Several of the girls are ready to begin work on their uniforms. The clothing work was done after a good program had been given by the girls.
Pilot
 As many of the Pilot women were busy with hog killing only 15 could be present at the women's club meeting Wednesday afternoon. Teachers and parents discussed together plans for the community Christmas tree to be given at the school.
 The home agent spoke on the food value of milk and gave a demonstration in making cottage cheese, as this demonstration was not given at Pilot when the other clubs were having it.
White Level
 Bright Christmas songs enlivened the program at the meeting of the White Level Club Thursday afternoon. Several girls had sewing work done. Mrs. A. B. Insoe gave an interesting demonstration in salad dressing, making three minute mayonnaise.

Moulton Hayes
 As Fathers night at Moulton Hayes had been postponed the regular club meeting was held Friday afternoon. It was voted that the club serve refreshments at the play to be given by the school as soon after the holidays as possible. This is for the benefit of the piano fund.
 Miss Stalling spoke on some matters of discipline in the school and asked for the cooperation of the parents.
 The club enjoyed the duet given by Miss Turnage and her pupil, Ida Fuller.
 Mrs. M. E. Watkins, of Bordeaux Club, was a visitor at the club and gave a demonstration in making mince which was greatly enjoyed—especially did the children enjoy disposing of the product.
