Uncle John

If we'd count the lady soloists of which we're jestly proud, there'd be a lot of people that's astonished at the crowd. Of course we learn statistics that we didn't usto know, when they come in bales and baskets on the family radio. the family radio.

My neighbor—right here by me—is inclined to make mistak-es, for he hates the high sopran-ner like St. Patrick hated snakes; He says it cracks his ear-drums when he listens at 'em squeal—which in regards to song-birds ain't the proper way to feel.

We hear some fiery language at the female opry-scores—why, my neighbor jerked his head-set off, an' throwed it out of doors! Sometimes I argy with doors! Sometimes I argy with him, that a thing which can't be cured, like the fierce sopranner solo, somehow has to be endur-ed. If anything can make me grab my sword and want to slay —it's to hear a blubberin' Baş-so strike "The Road to Manda-
