If you know of a crippled or deformed child tell them of the free clinic to be held in Louisburg next Thursday, March 18th. It may be the means of their being restored to health and happiness.

The fire Saturday night was the Ford automobile of Mr. W. L. House. We understand Mr. House struck a match to look at the gasoline and ignition took place. The damage was about $20 so we learn. The fire department answered promptly and the blaze was soon extinguished.

It was a source of much regret that we had to throw about a dozen lots of items or correspondence in the waste basket this week on account of the name of the writer not accompanying them. We are always glad to receive and publish all the items we can get from any section of the county, but we are forced, as a matter of protection to ourselves, to require the name of the writer to accompany the items. So if your items do not appear in print you can know you failed to send your name. If you want them published rewrite them, sign your name to them and send them in.

It's possible to be an expert without having first qualified by giving expert testimony in a criminal case.

The strenuous east people travel these days is said to be hard on the heart, and the pocketbook also suffers.

Not Afraid

When Mrs. E. M. Halbert received news of her favorite granddaughter's illness she chartered an aeroplane and flew from San Angelo, Texas, to the bedside of the sick child in Decatur, Ga. The trip was made dangerous by storms and darkness, but when asked about the flight she said she was "not afraid."
