A summer resort is a place where the mosquitoes go to work just when the flies quit.

What most women like is a strong man of steel whom they can bend at their will.

Some men aspire to wealth so that they can have several homes to play away from.

An optimist is a man who shakes last year's straw hat will last all summer.

It's not the least bit disturbing to listen to both sides of the question if you don't have to decide the question.
