OUR RALEIGH LETTER

By M. L. Shipman

Raleigh, July 26.—The collapse of the survey of women in industry, the trial of a doctor here on charges of immorality in operating a sanatorium, the trial of a minister at Statesville on similar charges were among a number of things which attracted interest in the Capital City this past week. However, the chief matter of interest to the greatest number of persons was the hot wave which swept the state and sent the thermometer to new high levels for the past 30 or 40 years. The end of the week saw the populace looking anxiously toward clouded skies in the hope that the rain would come and relieve alike the heat affecting the city dweller and the heat which is ruining crops in the country. Among other matters was the investigation into charges of vermin and dirt in quarters at State Hospital for Insane.

Governor McLean called off the survey of women in industry after the child welfare commission had been unable to agree on an executive director for the survey. Mrs. Kate Burr Johnson favored displacing E. F. Carter, the executive secretary of the Commission with some other person to make the survey while the other two members of the Commission argued for Mr. Carter. Mrs. Johnson then asked the Governor to relieve her of duties in the matter and the Governor responded by cancelling the survey and pointing out to Mrs. Johnson that when the first plans for the survey were made she had, he said, agreed to Mr. Carter. To this the women's organizations of the State have answered that Mrs. Johnson represented them and they always had opposed Mr. Carter. A number of statements have been issued on the subject since that time by the various organizations and individuals urging the survey and these have criticized the Governor. Mr. McLean however has kept silent and has added nothing to his suggestion in cancelling the survey that the General Assembly meets in five months and those desiring may present the matter to that body.

Dr. R. S. Carroll of Asheville lost his medical license here before the State Medical Board for immoral conduct involving women patients at a hospital he was operating in Asheville. This trial and that of Dr. Ashley Chappell of Asheville, a Methodist minister, attracted considerable attention in Raleigh. Alleged disorderly conduct was charged against Dr. Chappell but a jury of ministers acquitted him. He is a man of note in Methodist circles.

An investigation into charges made by Coroner Waring of Wake county that at State Hospital here a strong room for insane persons was poorly ventilated and vermin infected revealed that one of the rooms was in such a condition but otherwise gave the hospital a clean bill of health. Mr. Waring made his charge after investigating the suicide of a patient who was placed in this room on one of the hottest nights of the year.

The prisoners in the Raleigh city jail were released by Judge Harris on Thursday and Friday when the temperature mounted above and stayed above 100 degrees. It was stipulated that they report back to the jail after the heat wave had subsided. He was commended by many for his humane attitude in the matter for the city jail is a hot place. The auto license bureau reports that most of the trouble has been cared for and the rush for licensing is about over. A new system installed this year is blamed for the heavy congestion in the bureau, which delayed licenses to many for days and days.

The Eastern North Carolina Warehousing Corporation, one of the subsidiaries of the defunct Tri-State Tobacco Association has been ordered into receivership by Judge Meekins in Federal Court and W. G. Bramham has been appointed receiver. The action against this organization follows the receivership of the Tobacco Association. The warehousing concern is one of five subsidiary corporations and proceedings will be instituted against all of them in order to entirely close out the Co-op business.

A State Library Commission book tour, the second of its kind, will be launched early in the fall by Miss Annie F. Petty, assistant secretary, in the counties of Rockingham, Stokes and Surry. The library will consist of several hundred books to be carried on a specially prepared truck furnished by the Durham Public Library and the books will be distributed to all who may be interested.

The recent spread of infantile paralysis is causing some concern here, the State Board of Health having received reports which indicate an increase in the number of cases. More than thirty cases have been reported in the State during the present month, but no fatalities. Around 145 cases of typhoid have been reported for July from various sections of the State none of which have proven fatal, so far as known by State authorities.

The Federal Department of Commerce places North Carolina ahead of Massachusetts, until recently recognized leader in the textile industry in the number of active spindle hours during the month of June. North Carolina, 1,679,146,379; Massachusetts, 1,526,560. South Carolina led in the number of active spindle hours per spindle, with North Carolina a close second. In the actual number of spindles Massachusetts leads with 11,482,613 to 6,174,792 for North Carolina.

Rev. W. S. Shacklette, who was bounced from the position of chaplain at the State's Prison several months ago for "talking too much," says he has accepted a call to Trinity church in the diocese of Washington effective August 1st. It will be recalled that Mr. Shacklette handed his charges against pardon officials to Governor McLean in a sealed envelope with certain stipulations attached and that His Excellency returned the package unopened. Here the matter dropped.
