

High Quality And Best Facilities

Much of the success of our store is due to our efforts to give efficient delivery service. Our deliveries are made by schedule and you may always depend on your groceries arriving at a certain time.

The good housekeeper runs her home by schedule and we contend that a delivery service that encourages carelessness on the part of the housewife is really not a service but a detriment.

You will find our staple and fancy groceries always of the highest quality and the price most reasonable.

If we haven't what you want, we will get it or it can't be found

PERSONALLY

By Cole Savage

"There are two places in North Carolina where you can go without your coat, tie, and shoes and still keep your self respect. They are Nag's Head and Ocracoke," said Miss Pauline Smith in Washington, N. C., as we were waiting for the boat. We went to Ocracoke where we spent eight days on vacation last week.

The "we" was a party of five-Louisburg boys and myself. Bill Mills, John Mills, James Wheelless, Arthur Fleming and John Williamson were the boys. A live bunch they were, too. Something was doing every minute their eyes were open.

The trip from Washington to Ocracoke was enchanting. It was by boat, 75 miles of water on a sail boat, leaving Washington at 8 p. m. and arriving at Ocracoke 6:30 a. m. made it an all night trip. The stars and moon were never brighter and I did not sleep a wink.

Ocracoke is a island, almost as flat as the water which surrounds it, inhabited by fishermen. With a population of a little more than 600 they have a village all their own. Three churches, a school, a post office and several stores are there. In addition a lighthouse and a U. S. Coast Guard Station are there. They have Fords on the island and one other car they refer to as "that air Dorge." They have no highways but run on the sand. Their cars have no license plates on them. Gas retails for 28 cents. Cold drinks are seven cents each but watermelons can be had from 5 to 15 cents each. Fish is the cheapest thing there. They sell at the fishhouse for 3 cents per pound.

To show that the islanders are fishermen and fishermen only, a group of boys were examining my watchfob which is a miniature plow when one of them asked, "What is that?" When I answered "a plow" he asked, "Is a plow an animal?"

The inevitable search of youth for a mate explains why the boys were all over the island looking for girls. When they gathered in their rooms pairs would match each other in telling where they had been and how many girls they had seen or talked with. This they called "tricks."

Boys will be boys the world over. Bill Mills in Ocracoke was no exception. His questions were as free there as anywhere. Among others he asked, "Does a whale shoot oil through the top of its head?" "How big is a baby whale? as big as a horse?" "Does it rain salty water here?"

As we were returning Monday in choppy water in the sound and the boat was rocking profusely "Doc" Fleming said, "Just think! All this begins with Tar river."

One of the visitors on the island diagnosed my case as "professoritis." He said, "I thought you were a school teacher. The academic atmosphere which surrounds you seems to say that you are a teacher." I give up.

We did not go fishing and I have no fish stories to tell.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

On August 22, Mr. W. H. Perry, Cr's. children, grandchildren, nieces and nephews, with their families, about a hundred and fifty gave him a surprise on his seventy-sixth birthday. It had all been planned without him knowing it, the oldest niece came first and told Uncle Billie that she had come to help him celebrate his birthday. They began arriving about ten o'clock and continued through out the day, some couldn't come for the day but came for a few hours in the afternoon.

Each family brought a basket of good things, the near-by ones freasers of cream, almost by magic there arose a table some thirty feet in length under the gigantic oaks of the magnificent grove of the old Perry home.

The table which had for its centerpiece a very large cake iced in white with pink candles, one for each year.

On the table were all kinds of meats including the famous "old 'cue" to the latest in sandwiches, everyone helping himself to their own satisfaction, after which the cream was served in cafeteria style.

Those from a distance were Dr. and Mrs. Arch Perry, W. D. Fuller and E. J. Fuller and families of Wood, Mr. Joe Wheelless of Tenar, Miss Virginia Perry, Miss Eleanor Long and Mr. Ben Saunders and family of Rocky Mount Miss Annie Uzzell, of Greenville, Miss Helen Uzzell, of Greensboro, Mr. John Perry and family of Washington, D. C.

Late in the afternoon the guests left each wishing "Uncle Billie" to add many more candles to his cake and expressing their joy as the best ever and hoping to repeat it for years to come.
