OCCUPIES NEW COUNTY HOME

Building One of Best Arranged and Constructed In State

Supt. John Hedgepeth moved the inmates of the county home to the new home on the Louisburg to Franklinton Highway Saturday and has about gotten everything arranged. That new quarters are a great improvement over the old one. One large and commodious building properly arranged for comfort and economical attention to the inmates, equipped with electric lights, running water, and steam heat, giving the inmates an opportunity to enjoy the remaining days allotted to them.

The new building is a splendid piece of architecture and especially well. Supt. John Hedgepeth moved the

The new building is a splendid piece of architecture and especially well-built and stands as a great credit to the skill and ability of Mr. M. S. Davis, the skill and ability of Mr. M. S. Davis, architect, and the W. H. Allen Company, contractors. The work through out is especially well done, the best of material used. The mechanical end of the building was under the supervision of Mr. W. H. Edens.

Franklin County now stands in the first line in the proper care of its old and feeble charges with accommoda-tions equal to any, and it is pleasing to note it is entirely a Franklin county product, being devised and built by home people.

The work of properly arranging the grounds will now go forward and in a short time people can point with pride at our county home, something they could not do before.

LOUISBURG COLLEGE

Friday evening, December 17th, the Dramatic Club of Louisburg College presented a pleasing program in which all the participants showed power of varied interpretation from the sly plottings of the kind wedding in spits of the stingy groom and her hard hearted master, to the tender and graceful comedy of the dainty Sugihars San and her rival lovers. The last play was presented with a nice understanding of the line between tears and laughter so characteristic of the Pierrot production. The program was as follows:

"The Florist Shop," a one act comedy by Winifred Hawkrige.
Characters: Maude, Lillian Howell; Henry, Cornells Frissel; Slorsky, Lynsday Studdert; Miss Wells, Doris Hancock; Mr. Jackson, Eula Purnell.

"A Dear Little Wife," a Japanese comedy by Gerald Dunn.
Characters: Sugihars San, Betty, Mohn; Takijio, Martha B. Yelverton; Hagiyama, Miriam Egerton.

To Build Chicken House At New County Home; Draws Jury for January Term Franklin Superior Court

The Board of County Commission ers met in special session on Thursday of last week with all members present except Speed. The object of the meeting was to arrange for sheds, outbuildings and help at the new county home.

John Hedgepeth, Superintendent was authorized to employ a suitable cook, and to employ necessary labor to clean up and transfer the county home and inmates to the new building and site. Commissioner Leonard was instruct ed to have a chicken house built at the new county home.

The question of building cow sheds or stables were deferred to a later meeting in order for the commission-ers to have time to consider whether it will be cheaper for them to pur-
